HITLER 'PAINT SQUADS' SMEAR GERMAN CHURCH

Gallows Daubed on Catholic Edifice.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 20.—The Nazi "paint squads," which have taken an active part in the terrorization of Jews during the last week, turned into a new path today. In Herzfelde-Strausberg, near Berlin, a picture of a gallows from which priests were dangling was smeared on a Catholic church by Hitlerites.

This increased fear in conservative circles that after the anti-Jewish campaign has abated the Catholics will be next. The fear was supported by the publication of an anti-Catholic pamphlet by the Nazi party which was praised by Der Angriff, the party's official newspaper.

Organize Manhunt.

Uniformed Storm Troopers and members of the Labor front, with side arms dangling from their belts, patroled the streets of Berlin's fashionable west end tonight in an organized manhunt for Jews.

At one corner a crowd collected in front of a small Jewish jewelry store which was smeared with red paint. Suddenly a man broke away and ran down the street. Others set out in pursuit and the fugitive, a Jew, was caught by a civilian who jerked him off his feet. As he fell the Jew began to scream. The crowd closed in. The screams soon changed to moans.

On Kurfuerstendamm, tall, blond pickets in civilian clothes, assisted by curious crowds, blocked entrances to a Jewish restaurant. They jeered customers and employés. Customers emerging from the restaurant were greeted with ironical comments, such as: "We hope you ate well." The restaurant closed later because nobody dared to enter.

Smash Store Windows.

Nazi "paint squads," meanwhile, moved to the poorer Neukoell and Coepenick regions where their followers smashed windows in Jewish stores.

A synagogue in Artilleriestrasse was boarded up after volleys of stones had smashed windows and the walls had been painted with anti-Jewish signs.

In the more elegant districts of Berlin most Jewish stores were permitted to remove anti-Jewish signs and slogans, but authorities warned them that the "paint squads" might resume their activities.

Only a few of the larger stores remained daubed with paint and were besieged by Jew baiters. Police occasionally attempted to disband the Nazi pickets in a halfhearted way. Despite the siege, a number of non-Aryan women entered the stores, their heads held high as they elbowed their way through the mob.

Main Streets Free of Signs.

The main shopping streets were kept free of signs, although the two largest Jewish concerns, which still are being besieged in Kurfuerstendamm, have stores in these streets.

In view of the decision not to allow Aryans to live in Jewish houses and vice versa, Nazi real estate dealers are preparing a law which will call for the exchange of Jewish-owned houses for Aryan-owned houses.

"If properly handled, this will help the segregation of Jews in cities—that is to say, the creation of ghettos," the Nazis said.

Ronald Panton, correspondent for the London Daily Express, was seized by the police yesterday because he took photographs of anti-Semitic actions. Panton later was released and his automobile and camera were returned to him after the British embassy made representations.

Ousted from Stock Exchange.

BERLIN, June 20.—(AP)—The economics ministry today issued an order expelling all Jews from stock and other exchanges throughout Germany and decreeing that brokers must engage non-Jewish agents henceforth for business on the exchanges. It was explained some Jews had been permitted to work in the exchange so business would not be hampered unduly in the process of "Aryanizing" German business.

Jews in suburban Weissensee discovered they were forbidden to buy food from Aryans. Large red placards were affixed to non-Jewish shop windows, apparently without the owners' knowledge, reading, "We Don't Sell to Jews."

36 BILLS GET ROOSEVELT O. K.; SEVEN VETOED

Refuses to Boost Vets' Pensions.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., June 20.—[Special.]—Reading through a great mass of legislation passed by the recent congress in the last days of the session, President Roosevelt today signed thirty-six bills, mostly minor, and vetoed seven measures.

The President plunged into the consideration of official business upon his return to his country estate on the Hudson river after a leisurely forty hours on the water in the yacht Potomac. He had cruised from Nahant, Mass., where he attended the wedding of his youngest son Saturday noon.

Spending Bill Delayed.

The five leaders of the government spending agencies in Washington were reported disappointed today because Mr. Roosevelt did not affix his signature to the spending and lending bill. The spending generals outlined on the radio last night their plans for the speedy distribution of the more than four billions of dollars provided for pump-priming by congress.

Among the bills vetoed by the President were two war pension measures. He tersely expressed the opinion that pensions for war veterans were liberal enough at present and that approval of new measures would lead to an increased demand for more money by organizations composed of those who saw service.

The first bill would have cost the government $5,182,000 annually. It would have increased from $30 to $40 a month the nonservice connected permanent and total disability rates for veterans.

Present Pay Liberal, He Says.

"The present standards are sufficiently liberal," Mr. Rosevelt wrote. "This bill contemplates a preferment to a type of case which has lesser merit and adds to the confusion of an already complex administrative problem.

"The increase constitutes a 33⅓ per cent increase to an average rate comparable with all classes of world war service—connected disability [now $40.10 a month]. The 75th congress already has added a 16 million dollar annual increase for war pensions."

The second pension bill vetoed would have granted travel pay of approximately 8 million dollars to several thousands of Spanish war veterans who were reënlisted for service in the Philippine islands after the ratification of the treaty of peace in April, 1899. These veterans claimed they were entitled to the travel pay as a bonus for reënlistment.

Signs River-Harbor Measure.

A rivers and harbors bill authorizing appropriations totaling $37,605,000 for waterway projects was approved by the President. Most of the other bills signed were so-called private bills authorizing payments to various persons for claims against the government.

Asked at a press conference today if he planned calling a special session—the fourth of the 75th congressional—to consider rail-aid legislation, the President remarked: "No comment."

Kennedy to Report on Europe.

The President said it was undecided whether Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, who landed at New York today from England, would visit him at Hyde Park or wait until the end of the week when Mr. Roosevelt will be back in Washington. Ambassador Kennedy is expected to report to the President on various European questions such as the proposed trade treaty with Great Britain and settlement of the war debts.

The President will return to the capital Thursday or Friday for a day or two there, departing next Monday for a speech at Wilmington, Del., at the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of a Swedish colony there. He said he hoped to be able to see the annual college rowing regatta at Poughkeepsie that same afternoon.

Taffeta Petticoats Barred Over Radio, Co-eds Told

Terre Haute, Ind., June 20.—(AP)—Don't wear taffeta petticoats, co-eds in a summer radio broadcasting course at Indiana State Teachers' college were told today. Why? Because the rustling and static electricity of the petticoats sounds like rainfall if picked up by a delicate microphone.

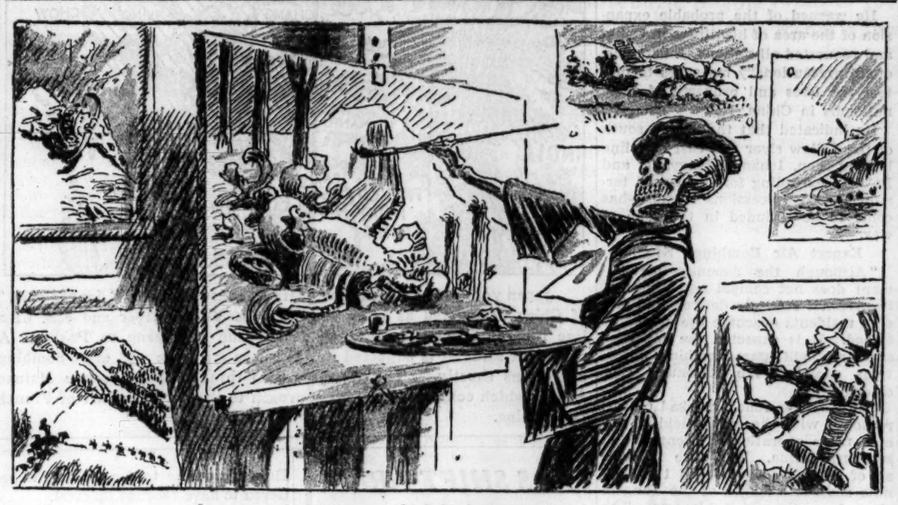
THE OLD MASTER



Just as we had begun to think he had gone hopelessly modern—

—he reverts to his old style.

This, It Seems, Is the Time to Get a Horse

It's beginning to look as though the skeptics who said the auto would never replace the horse may still be right. Because:

There are 14 million horses and mules in harness on American farms, with more being raised today than ever before in the country's history.

There are more than 8,500 race horses in training or competition and another 7,500 trotting horses racing or being trained.

Half Million to Ride.

Furthermore, there are more than half a million riding horses in the country, of which about 100,000 are kept exclusively for pleasure. The rest are used for traveling, or on farms and ranches.

These figures are supplied by Wayne Dinsmore, attending the 50th annual convention of the Saddlery Manufacturers association, meeting in the Palmer house. And Mr. Dinsmore should know. He is secretary of the association and secretary of the Horse and Mule Association of America.

"It's true that the saddlery business is off about 30 per cent compared with the same period for last year," Dinsmore said, "but this is because business conditions in general are down and because lower prices for farm produce cause the farmers to slow up on the purchase of harnesses and collars.

"There is more interest in riding today than ever before," he went on, "and all the manufacturers of riding saddles are working at capacity. The outlook is very good, even though we expect to do only about 11 million dollars' worth of business this year, compared with 16 or 17 million last."

A Saddle at $2,000.

The most expensive saddles made are fashioned of handworked lether and chased with silver, Dinsmore said. These sell for from $200 to $250, with a record price of $2,000 having been paid for one by a man in California. They are used mostly in western stock-horse parades, Dinsmore added.

Last year in the Chicago area there were 2,177 riding horses, against 2,200 in the Los Angeles district.

About seventy-five saddlery manufacturers from fifteen states are at the three day meeting, including sons and grandsons of many of the early saddlery men. W. A. Schwahn of Eau Claire, Wis., is president.

BREWERY OPERATED BY PREHISTORIC RACE FOUND IN TEXAS CAVE

Washington, D. C., June 20.—(AP)—The oldest brewery in the country—a plant which apparently turned out a flood of powerful drink centuries before Columbus discovered America—has been found by Smithsonian institution archæologists in the big bend country of western Texas.

Frank M. Setzler, Smithsonian official, came upon the plant in a cave 45 miles north of Dryden, Tex., recently while he was trying to trace the civilization of an old cave dwelling branch of the Indian race.

In the cave Setzler and his assistants found one large bowlder, the top of which had been ground out to the depth of a foot, and a large roller pestle near by. This was the apparatus for grinding the sotol plant and heating and fermenting its juice.

2 Boys Battle in Vain to Save Youth in Lake

Tragedy ended a gay sailing party of five young people yesterday when their small craft capsized on the artificial lake created by Orville S. Caesar, president of the Greyhound Management company, on his 200 acre estate south of Barrington.

Three of the young men and their girl companion, all good swimmers, managed to reach shore. But the fifth member of the party, Robert Heskett, 18 years old, a high school football star of Davenport, Ia., was drowned despite the heroic efforts of two of the boys to save him.

Heskett often spent his summers in Barrington where he played on the high school football team a year ago. Yesterday he dropped in on a surprise visit and went directly to the home of his close friend, Edward Mitchell Jr., 19, of 402 East Main street.

Sail on Sea Scout Boat.

Mitchell, a member of the Barrington Sea Scouts, suggested a sail in the fourteen foot boat Caesar allowed the Sea Scouts to use on his lake, which covers eighty acres. Their party was joined by Harold Welty, 17, of 121 West Lake street, Barrington, and Leroy and Lenore Berlik, 16, twin children of Leonard J. Berlik, 5805 Wilson avenue, who are spending the summer at the Biltmore Country club in Barrington.

Near the middle of the lake Mitchell, who was at the tiller, attempted to come about in the wind. A squall struck the sail, overturning the shallow boat before Mitchell had a chance to maneuver.

Knowing that Heskett was a poor swimmer Welty and Miss Berlik struck out for the shore, while the Berlik boy and Mitchell stayed to help Heskett. They were about 600 feet from land.

Effort to Reach Shore Vain.

Supporting Heskett as much as possible the three boys started their swim. It soon became apparent that Heskett could not make it and they returned to the boat.

But every time they tried to rest on it the small craft would submerge. Desperate, they again headed for the shore. Half way there Heskett slipped from their grasp and disappeared. The other boys dived for his body in twelve feet of water until nearly exhausted, then, barely able to keep afloat, they reached land.

At 10 o'clock last night Heskett's uncle, J. D. Wilkerson of Barrington, learned of the tragedy when he returned from Elgin. He did not know his nephew had come to visit him.

John Schumaker, 17, of Belmont, Ill., a summer student at St. Procopius college, near Lisle, drowned yesterday afternoon when seized with a heart attack while swimming in a slough in the rear of the campus.

Find 30 Bodies in Rail Wreck; Toll Is Near 40

Miles City, Mont., June 20.—[Special.]—With thirty bodies recovered, haggard salvage crews tonight continued to search for more dead in the twisted débris that once was the Milwaukee road's Olympian train and in the flood waters that wrecked it early Sunday morning.

A death toll of approximately forty was expected as a result of the disaster, the worst in American railroading in recent years. Nine of eighteen persons still reported missing are believed to be buried in the wreckage or to have been carried away by swift flood waters. The others are believed to be among the unidentified dead.

Twenty-one Are Identified.

Fifteen bodies today were found and carried to morgues, where fifteen were laid out yesterday. Of the dead taken from the wreckage of coaches and sleepers that plunged through a weakened bridge over Custer creek twenty-one had been identified.

It was estimated that approximately sixty-five persons were injured in the midnight accident. Most of those had been released today from the Holy Rosary hospital here. Four were in a serious condition. One woman died tonight.

Four bodies were found today in Yellowstone river, several miles below the scene of the wreck, which is twenty-six miles northeast of Miles City. They had been carried away by flood waters from an upstream cloudburst that turned normally dry Custer creek into a torrent twenty feet deep. The water smashed against piers of the 180 foot trestle, causing its collapse when the Chicago to Tacoma train ran upon it.

Find Body Fifty Miles Away.

The body of a woman passenger was found yesterday floating in the swift Yellowstone river near Glendive, nearly fifty miles from the scene of the wreck. Train porters said they saw five or six passengers swept away in the swollen creek.

Most of the dead were taken from two tourist sleeper that were in the middle of the train. When the bridge collapsed under the locomotive it snapped the cars after it. The locomotive plunged into the opposite bank and the cars immediately behind it piled on it. The two sleepers settled into the middle of the stream.

One of the sleepers was submerged. Deep water and silt prevented workers from taking out the dead or lifting the car with a wrecker. When the flood waters flowed away today salvage crews carried out the bodies.

Believe Nine in Débris.

N. A. Meyer, transportation superintendent of the Milwaukee road, said tonight the company expected nine more bodies would be taken from the sleeper or from the water. He said available records indicated only nine persons remained unaccounted for.

An investigation of the accident was started by the interstate commerce commission. Two inspectors who were in Montana received word from Washington, D. C., to go to the scene. Coroner Stanley Guy of Prairie county said he would not open an inquest until after the bodies of all victims have been recovered.

Among the missing were three members of a Bloomington, Ill., family. They are Miss Katherine P. Clancy, 72 years old, retired school teacher who taught in Chicago schools for many years; her sister, Miss Nellie G. Clancy, 60 years old, a Bloomington teacher, and their niece, Miss Marjorie Clancy, 19 years old, a student at Rosary college in River Forest, Ill. The three were bound for

3 GERMAN ARMY OFFICERS NAMED AS PLOT CHIEFS

4 of 18 Suspects in Federal Custody.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 20.—[Special.]—In the greatest expose of spy activities since the world war, a federal grand jury here late today indicted eighteen persons and directly involved the German government in the theft of military secrets from the United States. The grand jury action was the result of a five months' investigation.

Two principal defendants in the espionage plot, Capts. Udo von Bonin and Hermann Menzel, are connected with the defense office of the reich war ministry. A third, Capt. Erich Pfeiffer, has been with the German army, but his present official capacity is not known to federal investigators.

Four of the defendants are in this country and will be tried for conspiracy to violate the federal espionage act. The other fourteen accused, including the three German officers, are abroad. Espionage and crimes of a political nature are not extraditable, so those who are out of the country cannot be prosecuted.

Bare Scope of Activities.

Von Bonin, Menzel, and Pfeiffer were described as the chiefs of the ring. Neither the justice nor state department attempted to hide the international implications of the expose.

"The directing heads of this ring," asserted United States Attorney Lamar Hardy, "reside in Germany and are connected with the government of that country. They operated through certain agents residing in this country. They also had agents among crew members on various steamships plying between the ports of Germany and the United States.

"The directing heads of the ring paid these agents, all of whom were of German extraction, various sums of money for furnishing certain information concerning our national defense."

Defense Plans Stolen.

This information, it was revealed, consisted principally of detailed plans of Uncle Sam's newest fighting airplanes, coastal defenses along the Atlantic seaboard, and blue prints of the latest in naval construction by the United States government.

From reliable sources it was learned that the spies were concerned principally with obtaining information on airplanes because of their superiority shown in recent tests. The ring sought factory production secrets as well as designs.

A general conspiracy indictment named all eighteen members of the alleged ring. The four persons in custody are:

Johanna Hofmann, red-haired hairdresser on the German ocean liner Europa.

Otto Herrman Voss, aviation mechanic.

Guenther Gustave Rumrich, United States army sergeant, who deserted his post at Missoula, Mont., in 1935.

Plane Sketches Involved.

Voss was named with Herbert Jaenichen, now believed to be in Germany, in one of the two substantive indictments which supplemented the blanket conspiracy indictment.

It was charged that Voss and Jaenichen delivered to the German government "sketches of and information concerning the construction of wings, gas and fuel compartments, bomb racks and armaments of certain aircraft, to wit, pursuit planes being made and prepared at the Seversky Airplane corporation at Farmingdale, Long Island, under contract with the United States . . . . ."

Another substantive indictment charged Miss Hofmann, Rumrich, Glaser, and one Karl Schleuter, now believed to be in Germany, with violating the espionage act.

Three Groups Involved.

The conspiracy indictment, naming Germany specifically, charged the ring supplied certain documents, writings, code books, signal books, sketches, photographs, photographic negatives, blue prints, plans, maps, models, notes, and other information relating "to the national defense of the United States" with the intent of using it "to the injury of the United States and to the advantage of a foreign power, to wit, Germany."

Work of the German agents was divided into three parts, it was declared. One group, stationed in Germany, received and correlated the information when it arrived. Another group, employés on German ships like Miss Hofmann, actually transported the secrets which were gathered in this country by a third group of Germans and German sympathizers, working in factories where war materials are made or in military establishments.

Seized Seeking Passports.

The government's inquiry into operations of the spy ring began in February when a man was arrested for trying to obtain fifty passport blanks by posing as "Mr. Weston, undersecretary of state."

From this prisoner, Rumrich, an army deserter who had been educated in Germany, enough was learned to warant a widespread investigation. Federal agents and the United States attorney's office here started an exhaustive under cover investigation to track down all members of the ring.

Soon afterward, agents boarded the Europa when the big liner docked here and seized Miss Hofmann. No official protest was lodged at this arrest. It was reported that in the woman's possession were found letters to spies in this country and a code book for translating them.

Next the trail led to Glaser, stationed at the army's key airport in the east, Mitchell Field, and to Voss, a mechanic in the Seversky plant.

Rumrich, Miss Hofmann, and the last two named are held in bail of $25,000 each.

Two Flee to Germany.

Dr. Ignatz T. Griebl, prosperous New York physician and leader in German circles here; and Warner George Gudenberg, an airplane mechanic, dodged federal agents and fled to Germany.

Several members of crews of German liners were taken from their ships and appeared before the grand jury. The witnesses trooped in day after day, many of them in an anonymous and mysterious rôle.

Several of these witnesses were women, including Mrs. Kate Moog Busch, a friend of the fugitive Dr. Griebl, and Miss Senta De Wanger, who ran a liquor store at Hempstead, where she made the acquaintance of aviators and officers from the army base at Mitchell Field.

Nations' Relations Strained.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—(AP)—Relations between the United States and Germany are as bad as at any time since the world war and are giving cause for concern on both sides of the water.

Public speeches of mutual recrimination, a series of sharp diplomatic notes, and a pronounced lack of cooperation indicate the tenseness between the two nations.

The United States has addressed four diplomatic communications to Germany in less than two months. Germany's resentment is expressed by the fact that she has answered none.

Three of the communications dealt with Austria's debts. Another protests the enforced registration of the property of American Jews in Germany. This registration decree was widely interpreted as a preliminary to expropriation.

Germany also was mentioned or included by implication in two recent state department pronouncements—Secretary Cordell Hull's admonition to Germany and Czechoslovakia that they were signatories of the Kellogg peace pact, and Undersecretary Sumner Welles' denunciation of aerial bombing in Spain.

Berlin Ridicules Charges.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, June 20.—Spokesmen for the war ministry tonight ridiculed American espionage charges against Capt. Lieut. Udo von Bonin and Capt. Lieut. Hermann Menzell, and declared them "fantastic."

Official quarters denied any information concerning the indictments, but at the propaganda ministry it was said the accusations must be the same kind as those against Dr. Kral Otto, whose brief case, supposedly containing espionage material, was stolen in Wheeling, W. Va., although the material later proved to be harmless.

The German press made much of this case to ridicule the "American spy hysteria" and declared it a "bad exposure of the anti-German press agitation in America."

FLIES 144 MILES IN ODD "HOUSE FLY" FLYING MACHINE

BERLIN, June 20.—(AP)—An international record was claimed tonight for Prof. Heinrich Focke's "house fly" flying machine which flew 144 miles from Bremen to Rangsdorf, near Berlin.

The helicopter, like a fly, can go forward, up, backward, sidewise, down, or stand still in the air. Focke, the inventor, has produced several models since his original attempt, which reached a height of 8,125 feet and a speed of 76 miles an hour for 1 hour and 20.5 minutes in tests in March, 1937.

The machine has rotating wings driven by an engine in the fuselage. It has no propeller, but uses a changing angle of incidence of the revolving wings for its sideward, backward, and forward motion.

YOUNG GERMAN MOTHER AND 3 MEN BEHEADED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 20.—Lieselotte Hermann of Stuttgart, 28 years old, was guillotined here today for betraying military secrets to "high communist functionaries abroad." She was the second woman to be executed within the last week for high treason. The first was Anna Schwitzer. She and her husband were beheaded last Wednesday.

A number of international peace organizations attempted to save Lieselotte's life. She had been in custody many months and had insisted she was innocent of espionage charges. The woman, who gave birth to a child shortly before her arrest, nursed her baby while in prison.

Three men also were beheaded today for high treason. They were Stefan Lowasz, 36 years old, Josef Steidle, 30 years old, both of Stuttgart, and Arthur Goeritz Manzell, 31 years old. Lowasz was sentenced to death after being found guilty of attempting to build up a communist organization in south Germany. The others were executed for betraying military secrets.

FRANCE COMBATS JAP THREAT TO INDO-CHINA ISLE

PARIS, June 20.—(AP)—France tonight reiterated her neutrality in the Chinese-Japanese conflict and declared Japan was without justification for her threatened occupation of Hainan, large Chinese island off the coast of French Indo-China.

The French position was set forth by Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet in a meeting with the Japanese ambassador, Yotaro Sugimura. Bonnet protested against charges by high Japanese officials that France was sending war supplies to China. He expressed the Paris government's "astonishment" that such charges should be made.

The foreign minister declared Japan had promised not to occupy Hainan in return for strict French neutrality and thus was without justification for the threatened occupation. Bonnet admitted, however, that occupation of the island, without permanent annexation, would not be a violation of the Franco-Japanese treaty of 1907.

JAPANESE WARN ALL FOREIGNERS TO LEAVE CHINA

Entire Trade Area Set Off as War Zone.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, June 21 [Tuesday.]—Significant developments in the Chinese-Japanese war were foreseen here today as a consequence of warnings issued last night by Foreign Minister General Kazushige Ugaki to the diplomatic representatives of all neutral countries.

He warned of the probable expansion of the area of hostilities in China and requested all nations to take adequate precautionary measures to protect the lives and property of their nationals in China.

He indicated that the region south of the Yellow river and east of a line linking Sian, Ichang, Hengyang, and Pakhoi—excluding foreign leased territories and concessions therein—has come to be included in the zone of war.

Expect Air Bombings Soon.

"Although the Japanese government does not compel acceptance of its wish, it strongly desires that foreign residents evacuate the area mentioned. It is expected the Japanese air force will start bombing operations shortly," the statement concluded.

The "danger zone" marked off corresponds with the entire field of foreign trade operations in central and southern China. The zone includes all of China's seaports and the 1,000 mile navigable length of the Yangtze river from the sea to Ichang. The zone runs west for 700 miles to Sian, the terminus of the Lunghai railroad and includes the full lengths of the Peking-Hankow and Hankow-Canton railroads.

Only one major railroad was not included in the zone—the one from French Indo-China to Yunnan province—but the threat to Pakhoi on the gulf of Tongking and a threat of occupation of the Island of Hainan extended the zone into the sphere of French influence.

"Desires to Avoid Damage."

Gen. Ugaki's statement said:

"Japan sincerely desires to avoid possible damage to the lives and property of foreign nationals and advises taking adequate measures along the following lines:

"FIRST—Foreigners and foreign vessels should evacuate the area south of the Yellow river and east of a line linking Sian, Ichang, Hengyang, and Pakhoi.

"SECOND—Aerial and land marks should be placed on foreign property in the aforesaid area and immediate information should be given the Japanese authorities concerning such property.

"THIRD—If the Chinese utilize foreign property in the aforesaid area Japanese forces will be obliged to attack and will not assume responsibility. Therefore it is desirable that foreigners should prevent Chinese from using the said property."

French Interests Threatened.

Gen. Ugaki's statement added that the Japanese may find it necessary to attack Chinese outside the prescribed area—and if necessary, occupy the Island of Hainan, which commands the sea approach to French Indo-China. A spokesman pointed out that this would not mean "annexation," which is prohibited by the treaty of 1907 in which the Japanese promised to consult with the French before taking action affecting the island.

China west of the line of demarcation of the "danger zone" is mountainous, sparsely populated, and has few navigable rivers. North of the Yellow river the Japanese claim full or nominal control of all territory. South of the river they claim nominal control of the provinces of Shantung and Kiangsu and parts of Chekiang, Honan, and Anhwei. The "danger zone" includes all or parts of the provinces of Shensi, Hupeh, Hunan, Kiangsi, Fukien, Kwangsi, and Kwangtung.

Tokio Proclaims New Field of War in China

Japan yesterday warned foreigners to evacuate a new "danger zone" of China designated as lying south of the Yellow river and east of a line running from Sian through Ichang and Hengyang to Pakhoi. A statement said "it is expected the Japanese air force will start bombing operations shortly." The Japanese also threatened to occupy Hainan Island, which commands the sea approach to the northern part of French Indo-China.

JAPS SHIFT ARMY FROM FLOOD AREA TO OTHER FRONTS

Units Go to Yangtze and Shansi Zones.

SHANGHAI, June 21.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—Boats and rafts today carried Japanese forces in a great retreat from the flooded battle zone of Honan province where a few weeks ago they had advanced in tanks and trucks against wavering Chinese resistance.

The Japanese withdrawal was regarded as evidence that the expensive campaign against Chengchow and the Peking-Hankow railroad as an avenue to Hankow had failed.

Reports from Hankow, provisional Chinese capital, said the Japanese Honan forces, blocked by a disastrous flood of the Yellow river, were dividing, some proceeding southeastward to join the Yangtze river offensive against Hankow and others north into Shansi province for a new try at penetrating the Chinese communist stronghold, adjacent Shensi province.

Hope to Cut Off Supplies.

Only by an invasion of Shensi could the Japanese hope to cut off the soviet Russian supply of munitions to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies.

A Japanese army spokesman said Chinese forces in Shansi had been reinforced lately to a strength of between 100,000 to 200,000, and were better equipped now than when the Japanese thrust through the province from North China.

He said the Chinese were trying to reoccupy towns and cities in the southern section of Shansi. The Japanese admitted that their foe had attacked Howma and Kuwo on the Shansi railway in the southwestern tip of the province.

The spokesman declared the Chinese were attempting to destroy Yellow river dikes on the northern, or Shansi, side of the mighty river to facilitate their attacks. The flood in Honan province to the south was believed to have reached its crest.

Japanese troops from the washed out battlefields of Honan and from other sectors were reported concentrating in central Anhwei province, while Japanese planes bombed Yangtze river defenses to open the way for the drive up the Yangtze valley toward Hankow.

Battle North of Anking.

Heavy fighting was reported directly east of Liuan, about eighty miles northwest of Anking, fallen capital of Anhwei. A Japanese column drove closer to Liuan as part of a big maneuver to flank Chinese defenses upriver from Anking.

Nippon's airmen continued to bomb a boom of sunken, rock laden river craft across the Yangtze at Matowchen, upriver from Anking. Hankow is 215 miles upstream from the Anhwei capital.

Reports from Hankow said Gen. Lung Mo-han, commander of the 83d Chinese division, had been executed for failure to obey orders in the defense of Lanfeng, Lunghai railroad town where a bitter engagement took place after the fall of Suchow.

It was reported that Japanese planes bombed Hainan Island, off the South China coast near French Indo-China, for the third successive day, damaging military barracks of the Chinese defenders. Japanese warships were said to have silenced Chinese guns in a duel with the fort at Hoisow, Hainan island port.

STALIN EXECUTES HIGH OFFICIALS IN GREAT SPY HUNT

Churchmen Also Slain in Purge of "Enemies."

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, June 20.—Bolshevism's great spy hunt in soviet Russia is proceeding with renewed vigor during the closing days of the election campaign, the Moscow Pravda has announced.

When the inhabitants of the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic [Moscow district] and the Ukrainian republic go to the polls next Sunday to elect members to the supreme councils of these sections, the names of all possible dissenters to the policies of Dictator Josef Stalin must be removed from the ballots, the paper said. It added that 100 per cent victories must be achieved by the "Stalin bloc of communists and nonpartisans."

Many Are Executed.

Although each voter is being provided with a ballot containing the name of a single candidate, the GPU [secret police] is taking no chances on the election or persons whose loyalty to Stalin is questionable.

Provincial newspapers arriving here contained the names of many persons executed during the past weeks. Some of the victims had been promoted to responsible government positions a few months before and had been decorated with the highest soviet honor, the Order of Lenin.

The journal Bezbozhnik [The Godless], published by the League of Militant Atheists, confirmed the execution of forty-nine alleged monarchists, consisting of twenty Russian orthodox priests, two deacons, seven psalm readers, and twenty church elders. The purge victims were accused of inducing youths to attend church and organizing choirs.

Other Churchmen Liquidated.

Other groups of orthodox churchmen and several Baptist congregations were reported to have been similarly liquidated by the GPU because of anti-soviet electoral activity.

Branding these groups enemies of the people, the Bezbozhnik said their headquarters were located in Moscow, Leningrad, Gorki, Stalingrad and other districts. The paper called upon election workers to intensify their systematic anti-religious propaganda during the final days of the campaign.

Among the more important victims of Stalin's spy campaign was Gregory I. Petrovsky, president of the Ukrainian republic since 1920.

Five Premiers Victims.

Petrovsky was also a member of the political bureau, highest government body in Russia. His arrest leaves the political bureau without a single Ukrainian member for the first time. Five premiers of the Ukraine have committed suicide or disappeared during the last two years.

The Red Star, official army organ, disclosed that another purge is on in the political ranks of the army to bolshevize all Russian soldiers.

Philippine Police Clash with Japanese Sailors

MANILA, P. I., June 20.—(AP)—Reports from Sabtang in Batanes province north of Luzon Island today told of a brush between Sabtang police and the crew of a Japanese launch which anchored at Sumnanga without permission. Police attempted to arrest the crew when the launch anchored on Sunday, but the Japanese fought and escaped after injuring one of the policemen. Sabtang authorities said one of the Japanese was shot in the leg.

BRITISH, FRENCH ACT TO OBTAIN TRUCE IN SPAIN

Limit Flow of Munitions Across Frontier.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 20.—British diplomacy today began a drive to get into operation the plan for withdrawing foreign soldiers from Spain with the hope that it would lead to a truce and possibly settlement of the civil war.

The French government, under pressure from London, decided to tighten control of its Pyrenees frontier in order to expedite the work of the nonintervention committee which will meet here tomorrow to again consider the plan for ending intervention in Spain.

The French government was reported in Paris to have decided to send a diplomatic mission to the Spanish rebel régime after the frontier is officially declared sealed against aid to loyalist Spain.

[Paris dispatches said that since June 2 the French have maintained border control and practically have stopped all supplies—mostly from Russia—passing through France for the loyalists. It was said six vessels touching French ports were turned back and notice given to others en route that they would not be allowed to land their cargoes in France.]

May Ignore Russians.

London diplomats thought that progress in getting the withdrawal plan into operation would be made at tomorrow's meeting, with the Russian delegates either abstaining or else joining in a compromise scheme. Hitherto the Russians have refused to accept the withdrawal scheme unless at the same time observers are stationed in all Spanish ports to determine whether every one is observing the plan. It was reported that under French pressure the Russians had agreed not to insist on observers at all ports but only at a few selected ones.

It was reported that London also was holding out against Premier Mussolini's attempt to get the Anglo-Italian agreement into operation without waiting for a settlement in Spain. The British were reported to have made it clear to Il Duce that not only would there be nothing doing about the Ethiopian recognition envisaged in the agreement until the Spanish settlement was well advanced, but they also made three suggestions to Mussolini on how he could hasten making the agreement effective.

Make Three Suggestions.

The first was through coming to some agreement on troop withdrawals through the nonintervention committee here in London. The second was that Italy might order unilateral withdrawal of her forces from Spain. The third was that Italy should use its influence in conjunction with Britain to procure an armistice in Spain and a negotiated settlement of the war. These ideas were conveyed by the earl of Perth, ambassador to Rome, in an interview with Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italy's foreign minister.

While Italy may be in a bad way because of financial difficulties and a crop failure and anxious to see the Spanish war brought to an end speedily, there is no information in London to show that Germany, which also is well established in Spain, is of the same mind.

Even though progress is made at tomorrow's nonintervention meeting, extensive delays are anticipated. It will be necessary to raise 5 million dollars to put the withdrawal scheme into operation. The scheme still has to have approval of both the rebel régime and the loyalist government.

Anxious to Complete Pact.

Tomorrow afternoon the house of commons will discuss the Spanish war and the position of the Anglo-Italian agreement with regard to Spain. Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain will make a statement summarizing developments.

Richard A. Butler, parliamentary undersecretary in the foreign office, replying to questions in the house of commons today, said the British government is anxious for the Anglo-Italian agreement to become effective as soon as possible, but he refused to elaborate on the conditions governing its enforcement.

Butler denied that the British were negotiating with Mussolini to supply credits to Italy.

A special commission of British, Swedish, and Norwegian investigators, Butler announced, would establish headquarters at Toulouse, France, soon to visit and report on the bombing of open towns in Spain.

Sweitzer Surety Attacks Jury's $269,126 Award

Attorneys for the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, which bonded the late Robert M. KING TO INSPECT NEWEST WEAPONS OF BRITISH FLEET

PORTLAND, England, June 20.—(AP)—King George VI. of England came to this naval base today to see Great Britain's developments for sea warfare in action during a two day inspection of the home fleet.

Tomorrow, from the battleship Nelson, the king will watch eight-barreled rapid fire guns loosen hails of lead on radio controled planes. Called the world's most powerful anti-aircraft guns, they fire 500 shells a minute. On Wednesday the king will test a listening device which is said to be able not only to locate a submerged submarine within a radius of several miles, but even to tell whether it is British or foreign.

The king left London for his tour accompanied by the duke of Kent. Both have served as officers in the navy. Tomorrow warships and bombing planes will attack the old battleship Centurion, now a radio-controled fleet target.

DE VALERA PUSHES RECONSTRUCTION PLAN IN IRELAND

DUBLIN, June 20.—(AP)—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera achieved a long standing ambition of gaining an absolute general election majority tonight as incomplete returns gave his Fianna Fail party 76 out of the 138 seats in the house of representatives.

The tabulation at midnight showed William T. Cosgrave's Fine Gael received forty-two seats, Labor, nine, and the Independents, seven. The winners of four mandates remained in doubt.

The American born prime minister began working on details of his five year reconstruction program. He has pledged his government to put agriculture on a permanently profitable basis, to provide better housing and clear slum areas, to improve social services and schools, to develop the tourist trade, and to construct 200 new factories.

LOYALISTS FIGHT TO BLOCK REBELS' VALENCIA THRUST

Hit Foe's Coastal Flank at Villarreal.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], June 20.—(AP)—Spanish government infantry sought today to drive against the flank of the rebel forces controling Villarreal, thirty-five miles north of Valencia.

The fighting was heaviest a mile and a quarter northwest of Villarreal. There the government "milicianos" threw up defenses hastily against rebel thrusts from the north at the same time as they tried to march east. Many tanks, artillery, and war planes were used by both sides.

Seven and one-half miles to the west, in the Onda sector, government troops occupied heights north of Onda to repel repeated assaults by rebel infantry supported by tanks, armored cars, and planes.

Make Use of Natural Barriers.

Onda is at the foot of the northern slope of the Sierra de Espadan which, with the Mijares river, forms a natural barrier against the rebel offensive aimed at Valencia.

Farther inland government men were forced to retire in a sector south of Teruel when rebel infantrymen captured three high hills near Camarena.

Renewed activity on the Cordoba front more than 150 miles southwest of Madrid saw the rebels advance within a mile and a quarter of Peraleda de Juacezo.

The success wiped out the gains made in the government's offensive of last February but left the defenders with a strongly fortified line to protect Pozoblanco, the objective of the rebel command. Pozoblanco is nearly forty miles from Peraleda de Jaucezo.

Cabinet Crisis Brewing?

BARCELONA, Spain, June 20.—(AP)—"Political agitation" which he admitted caused him "great distress" today brought back Premier Juan Negrin hurriedly to Barcelona from a tour of the war fronts. Rumors of a cabinet crisis in government Spain have been current for some time.

Six rebel bombing planes circled Barcelona for an hour this morning before they could break through a curtain of anti-aircraft fire and drop forty poorly aimed bombs. Most of the bombs fell into the sea. There was little damage and no deaths.

TODAY WILL BE AS PERFECT AS IT WILL BE LONG

Forecaster J. R. Lloyd yesterday assured Chicagoans they will have perfect weather today to enjoy the longest day of the year, which also marks the beginning of summer, astronomically speaking.

Yesterday was the ninth successive day without measurable rainfall. The forecaster predicted continued clear skies, moderate temperatures, and northerly breezes.

At 9:04 o'clock tonight the sun reaches the zenith of its trip northward, the beginning of the summer solstice. The sun rises this morning at 5:14 and sets at 8:28 p. m., giving the longest span of daylight for the year, although actually only a minute or two more than the last few days.

MAYOR KELLY NAMES LOUIS E. GOLAN TO PARK DISTRICT BOARD

Mayor Kelly yesterday announced two changes in the Chicago park district board, one of them assuring Robert J. Dunham, president, another five year term as a board member. The mayor also announced the appointment of Louis E. Golan to the park board. Both actions were approved by the city council.

Louis E. Golan.

The term of former Park Trustee Harry Joseph had expired and in order that Mr. Dunham could be appointed to the full five year term his resignation as a present member was accepted. He was then named to the vacancy created by the expiration of Mr. Joseph's term. Golan was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Dunham's former appointment.

Mr. Golan, who is vice president of Schenley Products Company, Inc., liquor distillers, lives at 3400 Lake Shore drive. He is married and the father of two children. He formerly was engaged in the insurance business and was a lieutenant under a former Republican administration.

RED CROSS URGED TO SEEK CURB ON AIR BOMB RAIDS

LONDON, June 20.—(AP)—Norman H. Davis, president of the American Red Cross, today called on the International Red Cross organization to use all its influence to curb "revolting and needless slaughter of helpless women and children" in air raids on unfortified cities.

Speaking before the international conference of the organization, the former American ambassador-at-large urged earnest consideration of plans for neutralized zones for hospitals and noncombatants and international conventions to prohibit or restrict bombardment of unfortified population centers.

The duke of Glouchester, brother of King George VI. of England, opened the conference. He asked the Red Cross to "assist with all moral and material force in its power in protection of women, children, and other defenseless persons."

ASKS DIVORCE FROM HOWARD, COAL OPERATOR

Capt. Hubert E. Howard, wealthy coal operator and former federal director of prohibition in Illinois, was sued for divorce in Superior court yesterday by Mrs. Edith S. Howard of 643 Walden road, Winnetka.

Mrs. Howard charged cruelty and seeks custody of their three children, Hubert Jr., 19 years old; John, 16, and Charles, 12. The Howards were married at Rockford in 1918 after a romance which began while Capt. Howard was in training at Camp Grant.

Capt. Howard is the son of the former E. A. Howard, vice president of the Burlington railroad. During the world war he served as battery chief of the Blackhawk division in France. In 1920 he was placed in charge of the federal prohibition bureau here and served for eight months when he resigned to enter the law practice. He is the president of the Binkley Coal company.

DENY CITY'S PLEA TO THROW OUT HOSPITAL'S SUIT

Institution Stays Closed on Health Order.

Judge John Prystalski yesterday denied the city's motion to dismiss a suit brought by the West Side hospital, 1850 Harrison street. The suit seeks to compel the board of health and Mayor Kelly to restore the hospital's license to operate.

The hospital meanwhile remained closed for the fourth day since Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, forbade it to accept new patients because of violation of public health regulations.

This action was taken Thursday night. On Friday morning Charles C. O'Byrne, president of the hospital, replied with an injunction suit charging the board of health with conspiring to ruin the hospital so its property could be bought for park purposes, and with overstepping its legal authority in its requirements for maternity and infant care.

Health Interest Claimed.

A reply filed yesterday for the city by Assistant Corporation Counsel Martin H. Foss denied the conspiracy charge and asserted that the revocation was enforced solely in the interest of public health.

"The hospital of the plaintiff," the reply read, "has long been the subject of serious concern by the board of health, due to the failure, neglect and refusal on its part to comply with the salutary requirements of the municipal code pertaining to health and the conduct of public hospitals."

It termed the hospital "a serious menace to the health of the community" because of defective plumbing, a rat nuisance in its garbage disposal system, inadequate window screens, insanitary ice and ice cream manufacturing machines, and dangerous arrangement of delivery and maternity rooms. Requests that these and other conditions be remedied have been ignored, it said.

Points to Requirements.

The health department's obstetrical requirements, the defense pointed out, are accepted by every leading medical and hospital organization in the city.

The city's motion to dismiss the suit cited six grounds, including the assertion that the hospital's petition admitted failure to comply with regulations by stating that it had applied for an RFC loan to permit required changes to be made.

Judge Prystalski continued the hearing until tomorrow on the request of the plaintiff's attorney, William H. Noble, although Dr. Bundesen and twelve health officers were present and ready to testify. Until the suit is settled the hospital may admit no new patients and visitors only when the patient is critically ill.

DEATH TOLL 4,595 IN NINE MONTHS OF JAP RAIDS ON SOUTH CHINA

CANTON, June 20.—(AP)—Chinese officials declared today that 4,595 civilians were killed by Japanese air attacks in Kwangtung province during the nine months from Aug. 31, 1937, to June 7, 1938.

They said "upwards" of 1,500 were killed in Canton alone during the eleven days from May 28 to June 7, when Japanese air raiders bombed the city every day, and at least 5,500 others were injured.

The nine-month toll, they reported, also included 8,555 civilians injured and 5,027 buildings destroyed in the South China province. The Japanese, they said, made 1,400 raids—including 800 over Canton—and on 5,986 individual flights dropped 10,292 bombs.

Madrid Begins Trials of 195 Accused as Rebel Spies

PERPIGNAN, France, June 20.—(AP)—Espionage trials of 195 military and civil officials of government Spain, in which about half face the death penalty, have begun in Madrid, travelers from Spain reported today. They said the government charged the prisoners were members of the "white aid" organization and were connected with a secret ring that transmitted military information to the rebels.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

"Mary," said her escort, "that lamb was sure to go"

And he told her what happens to girls who keep their Persian Lambs home all Summer. For furs need Field's Frigid Cold Air for their natural oils. "Otherwise," said he, "they're apt to dry out like the desert or peel like a Miami sunburn." Then he told her about Guardite, Field's scientific equipment for destroying all moth life. That's plus Frigid Cold Air, plus the blessed safety of Field's vaults—all at no extra cost. And the girl made tardy resolutions right then to send her coat to Field's. Also to inquire about Hollanderizing—a very superior way of cleaning furs, restoring linings' freshness.

3 PLEAD GUILTY IN HOAGLAND & ALLUM FAILURE

Get One to Five Years; Second Term for One.

The three officials who were in charge of the La Salle street brokerage firm of Hoagland & Allum Co., Inc. when it collapsed with a loss of $720,000 to investors, pleaded guilty to state charges yesterday.

Two were sentenced by Judge Francis Allegretti to one to five years and the third to one to five years and another term of one to ten years. Legal authorities said the first two brokers might hope to regain their freedom in a minimum of eleven months, with good behavior, and the third in a minimum of twenty-two months.

Still Face U. S. Charges.

All three, however, are still facing charges in federal court.

George F. Allum, 52 years old, president and author of the stories of fabulous schemes by which he said he tried to stave off bankruptcy, was given a one to five year sentence for conspiracy to defraud clients of $720,000 and a one to ten year sentence for embezzlement. The terms are to runs concurrently.

Olaf Andrew Larsen, 46, and Henry Adolph Engel, 42, vice president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, received the other one to five year terms for conspiracy to defraud clients of $720,000.

Vernon Thompson, assistant state's attorney, notified federal authorities of the court's action. Warren Canaday, first assistant United States attorney, conferred later in the day with attorneys for the brokers about the federal charges of using the mails to defraud and violating the securities and exchange law. Canaday said he would confer in a day or two with Judge William H. Holly, to whose court the federal case has been assigned.

There are seventeen counts in the federal indictments, on each of which a maximum prison term of five years can be imposed.

Raided After Union Head Loses.

The Hoagland firm, at 14 South La Salle street, was raided and closed last April 14 on charges brought by Joseph V. Moreschi of 6337 Lakewood avenue, president of the International Hod Carriers, Builders, and Common Laborers' union. Moreschi charged he had lost $65,000 of the union's funds and $45,000 of his own through his dealings with the firm.

Clients then began telling stories of entrusting their savings to company officials for investment. Securities found in the company vaults were worthless.

Tells Failure to Get Stock.

One client was Charles V. Lundquist of 1035 North Taylor avenue, Oak Park, on whose story the embezzlement charge against Allum was based. Lundquist said that last Feb. 4 he turned over four $1,000 bills to Allum for the purchase of American Telephone and Telegraph company stock, but that the stock was never delivered.

Allum insisted after the crash that he had planned to save the company by huge deals in war munitions, but prosecutors described his stories as myths.

Dixmoor Village Officials Named in Mandamus Suit

Officials of the village of Dixmoor were named in a mandamus suit filed in Superior court yesterday by Joseph Sabella, a contractor of Harvey, who seeks collection of a $3,615 court judgment awarded him in 1932 for work in the village. The money to pay the judgment has been collected in taxes, Sabella contends, but has not been paid him.

Chances to Collect Slight.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—[Special.]—Personal injury claimants against the bankrupt Milwaukee road, whose train was wrecked yesterday in Montana, have little or no assurance of satisfaction of their judgments in cash should such judgments be obtained, according to recent correspondence of Olive E. Sweet, director of the bureau of finance of the interstate commerce commission.

One letter, dated June 8, was written to Representative Gardner R. Withrow of Wisconsin, who inquired about the possibility of satisfying the claims of some constituents, and another answered a letter from a Milwaukee law firm which complained about the inability of a woman client, permanently crippled in a Milwaukee road accident, to obtain satisfaction of her claim.

Rail Employés Preferred.

The substance of the situation as stated by Sweet was that the bankruptcy act prefers injured railroad employés to injured passengers in recovery claims, giving the former a virtual guarantee of payment.

The letters stated further that only the final plan of reorganization as adopted by the commission will determine the standing of injured claimants, who have the status of unsecured creditors.

Hearings on the Milwaukee reorganization have been terminated and a report is expected soon from the bureau of finance.

STATEMENT BY SCANDRETT.

H. A. Scandrett, president of the Milwaukee road, issued a statement from the executive office in Chicago, addressed to officers and employés saying that the sole thought and effort of the management is being directed to the care of the injured in the wreck of the Olympian and to easing the grief of those who lost relatives and friends. He said the accident resulted from a condition that developed without warning and was not due to any shortcoming in the operating organization.

BACK BROKEN IN COAL FALL.

Herrin, Ill., June 20.—[Special.]—Fred Holderfield, 49 years old, mining machine operator of Marion, suffered a broken back today when he was caught under a fall of coal at the Franklin County Coal corporation mine No. 5 at Freemanspur, north of here.

REVISED LIST OF DEAD AND MISSING IN THE MONTANA RAIL WRECK

WARN VENDORS OF FIREWORKS TO AWAIT JUNE 27

Persons who try to beat the deadline for selling fireworks in the unincorporated areas of Cook county will be arrested and prosecuted, Sherif John Toman warned yesterday. The state law prohibits the sale of fireworks before next Monday.

Chief Lester J. Laird of the county highway police said that his men will be instructed to take special provisions against any attempt to sell fireworks over the week-end. Most of the major suburbs around Chicago prohibit the sale of fireworks at any time, but state law allows their sale in the unincorporated areas between June 27 and July 4.

Laird said that his force had not reported any violations of the law and probably would not find any before Friday. Stands for the sale of fireworks must be at least 30 feet off the highway and 100 feet from a gasoline station.

MANY PRESENTS FOR FATHERS IN MUD CAKED MAIL

Miles City, Mont., June 20.—(AP)—Packages containing shirts, socks and similar items, apparently Father's day presents, were among 60 sacks of water-soaked, silt-grimed mail salvaged from the wrecked Milwaukee Olympian today. Some sacks were broken open and were laid out to dry on the floor of the Miles City postoffice. Many letters were so mud-caked the addresses could not be read.

Dickinson Enters Michigan Lieutenant Governor Race

Lansing, Mich., June 20.—[Special.]—Having found no takers for his proposal that candidates for the Republican nomination for governer and lieutenant governor get together to indorse a single aspirant for each post and thus prevent a bitter primary race, Luren D. Dickinson of Charlotte, former lieutenant governor, announced his candidacy for the nomination for that office again late today. Dickinson, who was successful six times in eight races for the office, said he would give full support to a successful rival, if defeated in the primary.

SEEK HIGHER-UPS IN KANSAS CITY'S VOTE FRAUD QUIZ

Judge Instructs Jury as New Inquiry Opens.

Kansas City, Mo., June 20.—[Special.]—The new federal grand jury was instructed today by Judge Merrill E. Otis to dig into Kansas City's vote frauds and see whether it could find some of the higher ups.

Judge Otis.

"If you find a sparrow or a chipmunk," he said, referring to minor election officials or politicians, "bring him in, but concentrate on the buzzards and gorillas."

In a series of trials on fraud charges growing out of the 1936 general election here, 63 election workers and precinct officials have been convicted, 32 others pleaded guilty, and 142 placed themselves at the mercy of the court by pleading no defense.

Suggests Use of Another Law.

To help the jurors in their search Judge Otis told them about a federal law not utilized in any of the vote fraud cases thus far tried. It is the law covering conspiracy to obstruct justice, frequently used by the federal government in other types of federal cases.

According to Judge Otis' instructions, if the grand jury finds that any one even attempted to influence, obstruct, or impede the administration of justice in the trial of vote fraud cases, that person should be investigated, and if circumstances warrant it, should be indicted.

Heretofore, the defendants in the vote fraud cases have been prosecuted under the civil rights statute for conspiring to deprive voters of their rights of franchise.

Hopes to Get at Truth.

It was because he had grown weary of seeing the underlings of a political organization take the punishment for all the election crimes disclosed that Judge Otis pointed out the additional statute. The higher-ups apparently could not be reached because the underlings took their punishment silently.

"It isn't likely," Judge Otis said in his charge, "that the higher-ups gave orders to steal votes. It is likely that what was said to the precinct lieutenants was: 'It is your duty to get out the votes.'

"Some one finally will reveal the truth. It is for you jurors to devote your time to disclosing whether there are those higher-ups."

Then he reviewed the cases already tried and described defendants who refused to talk and entered pleas of guilty or of no defense.

"When the cases had been affirmed by the Court of Appeals and the appeals to the Supreme court had been disposed of," Judge Otis said, "the whole defense collapsed. It is for this jury to find out if possible why, through it all, the defendants refused to talk. Who saw them after they were indicted and before they were tried and told them what to do and what not to do?"

$100,000 Spent by U. S.

The judge explained to the new jury that it was undertaking a commendable task. He pointed out that the federal government had already spent $100,000 in prosecution of the cases and that defendants convicted already had paid in fines amounting to $28,740.

"The governor of Missouri," he said, "kept informed of the progress of these cases and appointed for Kansas City an honest election board. The President of the United States kept informed and compelled the reappointment of United States District Attorney Maurice M. Milligan to continue the investigation and prosecution. The United States senate was informed also and approved by ignoring protests against the reappointment of Mr. Milligan."

[Confirmation of Milligan's reappointment as district attorney for this district was unsuccessfully opposed in the senate by Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri. Truman is an ally of T. J. [Boss] Pendergast, Kansas City Democratic leader whose organization has controled the city hall here since 1926.]

Reviews Previous Inquiries.

Judge Otis also reviewed for the jurors the investigations of the election frauds conducted by three previous grand juries.

"The revelation of the vote fraud trials and still later revelations were startling," he declared. "The cases tried revealed every species of fraud. Debauchery of the ballot box has been proved here. It is doubtful if anything as shameless as this ever existed before in America.

"It has been proved that in some precincts there was no count of the ballots at all. It has been proved that men and women with criminal records have acted as ballot officials.

"It has been proved that thugs and hoodlums have gone to election places to put fear into honest election officials. Honest election officials have been threatened with death and driven away from their posts to their homes."

Recaptured

Lynn Hulett, who escaped by slipping hands out of handcuffs, with Attorney Robert Romano after he was caught.

Police were taking no chances on Hulett's escape yesterday. They took him to court with locks on his ankles.

Lynn Hulett, who can slip out of handcuffs as easily as police can snap them on, was in custody again yesterday—wearing leg irons. He had been sought since April 27, when he escaped for the second time in three dyas from police in the Criminal Courts building.

Hulett, who is 29 years old, had grown a mustache, but he was recognized at Michigan avenue and Erie street by Sergt. Walter Leroy, who originally arrested him.

Hulett is accused by his divorced wife, Vera Kramer, 22 years old, of 644 Surf street, of forcing her to accompany him to an apartment where he held her prisoner, raped her, and robbed her of $7. She reported last week that Hulett had taken a seat beside her in a loop theater, showed her a knife he carried under his hat, and warned her not to prosecute.

GOV. EARLE LOSES PLEA TO BLOCK GRAFT INQUIRY

Philadelphia, Pa., June 20.—(AP)—The Pennsylvania Supreme court today refused to block a grand jury investigation of political graft and corruption charges against the administration of Gov. George H. Earle.

Judge Paul N. Schaeffer of Berks county [Reading] was directed to "proceed to Harrisburg and take control of the proposed investigation."

In so moving, the high court, by unanimous vote of the seven judges, refused Gov. Earle a writ of prohibition to prevent the inquiry projected by District Attorney Carl B. Shelley of Dauphin county. Shelley's petition named, with Earle, thirteen others in the state Democratic ranks.

Rescue 9 by Ladders in Rooming House Blaze

Firemen assisted nine persons down ladders from the third floor of a smoke filled rooming house at 4434-36 Sheridan road early today. Fire starting in the basement broke through the first floor in several places, and though damage was set at only $500, the building filled with smoke. To avert panic, Lieut. Richard Mosher ordered the ladders put up. Two dogs also were carried down.

HELD FOR FIGHT DEATH.

George Hepker, 23 years old, 1364 East 62d street, was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Walter Welty, 42, 6200 Kenwood avenue, who died of injuries incurred in a fight with Hepker.

PAY FOR RELIEF WITH SALES TAX, COUNCIL URGES

Protest Boost in Property Levy for Purpose.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

The city council yesterday passed a resolution protesting against any increase of general property taxes in Chicago to meet relief needs. It urged that the state use the whole of its sales tax collections, now about $80,000,000 a year, for relief, the purpose for which the sales tax was originally passed.

The resolution, introduced by Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th], suggested that if sales tax receipts are more than are needed for relief, the tax rate should be lowered by the proportion not needed for this purpose. In the last fiscal year the state, after all relief disbursements, had approximately $37,000,000 of sales tax funds available for general purposes.

Finance Committee Reports.

The council acted after receiving a report from its finance committee, prepared by the committee's technical staf, on the operation of the city government. The report declared that the present operation of Chicago's government is economical, and denied that there exists any cushion of waste which might be eliminated to make possible city contributions to relief. Any substantial reduction of city operating expenses to provide relief funds, the report said, could only be made through pay cuts such as were imposed on city employés during the last depression.

The finance committee report was prepared in answer to charges of waste made against the city administration on the floor of the legislature by followers of Gov. Horner.

"The position of the city and all city officials was grossly misrepresented on the floor of the legislature," said the veteran Ald. James B. Bowler [25th]. "This report is a good document, and it gives a true picture of the city's position. It will dispel some of the existing doubt about our situation and our inability to meet the relief load."

Urges State Budget Scrutiny.

"Charges on the floor of the legislature were personal reflections on every city official, including the aldermen," said Ald. James J. McDermott [14th]. "I wonder what the state budget shows for the same years, and whether its position justifies any adverse comment about Chicago."

Figures compiled by the Legislative Voters' league at the conclusion of the last general session of the legislature indicated that since 1933 the state's appropriations for operation of its general government, equivalent to appropriations from the city's corporate fund, have increased at nearly twice the rate of city appropriations.

Those figures, in millions of dollars, with city corporate appropriations in two year periods to correspond with the state's biennial appropriation system, follow:

Biennium—	State.	Pct. inc. over 1933-'34.	City.	Pct. inc. over 1933-'34.
1937-'38....	150.8	39.0	111.5	20.5

An attack by J. L. Jacobs, governmental efficiency expert, on the finance staf's report presented to the council yesterday brought trat replies from Ald. Jacob M. Avery [24th], chairman of the finance committee, and others.

Employed By Avery Committee.

Mr. Jacobs was employed as consulting expert by a citizens committee appointed by the late Mayor Cermak in 1931 and headed by Sewell L. Avery. The Avery committee's report suggested economies in general operation of the city government and on special assessment improvements which it estimated would save the city $22,922,322.

The financé staf report yesterday stated that in the fields covered by the Avery report, actual savings, on the basis of 1937 city expenditures, were $39,714,642. Mr. Jacobs said that the recommendations of the Avery committee were not followed.

He also said that the Avery committee recommended no salary cuts, such as Mayor Cermak and the council imposed after the report came out, and denied that economies suggested in the report, if carried out today, would involve new pay cuts.

"The people who have dragged the Avery committee report out of the dust and suggested that the city follow it now are either insincere or don't know what the report contains," said Ald. Arvey.

Charges Dictatorship Plan.

"The same people who are resurrecting that report are the ones who have charged Mayor Kelly with political interference in the Chicago schools. Those charges are untrue and unjust, but the point is that they are made by the same people advocating the Avery committee report. And that report suggested a reorganization of the city government under which the independent school board would have been abolished and the schools placed in a city department of education under direct control of the mayor.

"The report, which Mr. Jacobs drafted, was a plan for a municipal dictatorship in Chicago. It was rejected because it was unwise and impractical. The finance committee staf did not say that the economies effected by Mayor Kelly were accomplished by following the Avery report in its major details, although such of its recommendations as were sound were followed. The staf found that the city had effected greater economies than the Avery report said were possible."

Assessor John S. Clark, who was chairman of the council finance committee in 1931 when the report was presented, recalled that the report did not recommend pay cuts directly. Instead, it suggested cuts in the total appropriations for wages and salaries, principally those for workers paid by the day.

Attacks Soundness of Report.

"If the finance committee had put those recommendations into effect," said Mr. Clark, "it would have meant laying off about 3,500 city employés, mostly in the lower paid groups. There was no WPA then. They would have been forced on relief. It was to avoid these layoffs that Mayor Cermak put through his pay reductions for all city appropriations."

Col. A. A. Sprague, who was commissioner of public works at the time, opposed the report before the finance committee. At that time he pointed out that many of the recommendations for cuts in purchases of materials and supplies were made without knowledge of the city's needs. As an instance, coal purchases recommended by the report would not have been sufficient to heat city buildings.

"I've never yet seen a report prepared by outside experts, either for a municipality or a private business, which you didn't have to go through and sort out the chaff," commented Col. Sprague yesterday. "And almost always the chaff makes the biggest pile."

Families on Relief Drop to 85,617 in Chicago

Families on the rolls of the Chicago Relief administration dropped from 32,258 in April to 85,617 in May, Commissioner Leo M. Lyons said yesterday. He attributed most of the decrease to the fact that no new applications for relief were accepted during the last half of May, while the usual dropping off of those who found jobs continued.

BENSON LEADING IN MINNESOTA'S GOVERNOR RACE

Farm-Labor Foe Trails in Early Returns.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 20.—(AP)—Gov. Elmer A. Benson of Minnesota led Hjalmar Petersen tonight in a primary election gubernatorial race with Farmer-Labor party leadership at stake.

Returns from 791 of the state's 3,739 precincts gave Benson 59,931 votes to 57,670 for Petersen.

Petersen, who served out the term of the late Gov. Floyd B. Olson and was succeeded by Gov. Benson, campaigned without indorsement of the Farmer-Labor party and on a promise to "drive the racketeers from Capitol hill."

Stassen Leads G. O. P.

Harold Stassen of South St. Paul led the Republican gubernatorial race with 31,032 votes. Mayor George Leach of Minneapolis polled 15,242 votes; Martin Nelson of Austin, 14,570, and Harson Northrop of Owatonna, 863.

In the Democratic contest for the governorship nomination Thomas Gallagher of Minneapolis polled 5,321 votes; Michael Murray, St. Cloud, 4,040; Fred Schilplin, St. Cloud, 4,910; Victor Anderson, St. Paul, 2,058; Charles Lethert, St. Paul, 1,569, and Joel Anderson, Minneapolis, 677.

Maine Governor Wins.

Portland, Me., June 20.—(AP)—Maine Republicans, voicing their preference in a primary marked by a light vote, today renominated Gov. Lewis O. Barrows and the state's three Republican United States representatives.

Barrows and Representatives James C. Oliver, in the 1st district, and Clyde H. Smith, in the 2d, easily outdistanced opposition. Representative Ralph O. Brewster, in the 3d district, was unopposed.

Returns from more than two-thirds of the state showed Barrows far ahead of State Senator Roy L. Fernald. National issues were lacking in the primary and no United States senatorial posts were to be filled.

Former Gov. Louis J. Brann, unopposed Democratic candidate for a third term, will face Barrows in the September election.

Miss Avis Bader, 10741 Avenue G, is certain that honesty is the best policy. Miss Bader, who is 17 years old, purchased some wearing apparel last Thursday in a loop store and when she got home found that there was a second parcel in the bag. It contained $50 in currency. She telephoned to tell of her find, returned the money the next day, got a $5 reward from the grateful clerk who had placed it there by accident, and now has a chance to work at the store. She was graduated from Bowen High school last week and thinks she'll clerk until she gets a chance to work in an office.

KELLY TO LEAVE TODAY TO SEEK SUBWAY FUNDS

Mayor Kelly will leave today for the east to seek federal funds to finance the construction of three loop subways and various other public works projects. The subways are expected to cost between 28 and 31 million dollars, of which the city has agreed to supply $15,400,000 to $17,050,000 if the balance is procured in the form of a PWA grant.

This project has been tentatively approved by Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes and work can be started a few weeks after the money is alloted, according to city engineers.

The mayor also will seek loans and grants of 12½ million dollars for eight new bridges, new buildings at the Municipal airport, a convention hall on Navy pier, and construction of docks and a warehouse at Lake Calumet. Another project for which money has been requested is a 21 million dollar water filtration plant for the south side.

COURT ORDERS SURVEY OF APRIL VOTE SWITCHING

Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski yesterday ordered that a comparison of the voting records in the 13th senatorial district be made to determine how many 1936 Republicans voted in the 1938 Democratic primary.

It is the contention of John G. Ryan, who was shown defeated for renomination as state representative from that district on April 12, that about 10,000 1936 Republicans switched parties this year and therefore their votes were invalid. To determine this the poll book entries of two years ago will be compared with the applications for Democratic ballots signed this year.

Judge Klarkowski named as special commissioner for this task Chief Clerk John S. Rusch of the Chicago election board. He also directed attorneys in the case to coöperate with Rusch in devising the simplest possible method of comparison. He asked that a plan be submitted to him this afternoon for approval.

KENNEDY DENIES PLAN TO RUN FOR PRESIDENT IN 1940

New York, June 20.—(AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, plain spoken United States ambassador to the Court of St. James's, today disavowed any 1940 presidential aspirations. He said to have his eye on another job would be a "breach of faith" with President Roosevelt.

"I enlisted under Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932 to do whatever job he wanted me to do," Kennedy said on the liner Queen Mary as she came up the harbor.

Kennedy said if there were any plans for a financial readjustment between the United States and Great Britain he did not know of them and that he did not see what good devaluation would do either country. He admitted his report on economic conditions to President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull would not be particularly cheerful, adding: "It looks as though we have about cried ourselves out now. I would like to point out that we are not teaching our children to wear gas masks," he added earnestly.

MAYOR SIGNS FIRST AIRPORT PROJECT BILL

Mayor Kelly yesterday signed the first of two ordinances designed to bring about expansion of the Chicago airport in accordance with powers granted at the recent session of the state legislature.

Adopted by the city council, the measure authorizes enlargement of the airport from its present cramped area to include the entire tract bounded by 55th and 63d streets and Cicero and Central avenues. It also authorizes the city to enter into a contract with the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad for removal and relocation of the railroad tracks which now bisect the field.

The second ordinance to be considered by the council will include the definite terms of the contract between the city and the railroad.

FOR A CHANGE

By CALEB

"WHEN ALL is holiday there are no holidays. Think of this, thou man of sudden wealth; and if it shall so chance that thou hast been a tallow chandler in thy days of work, make a clause in thy bill of sale that shall reserve to thee the right of still assisting at the factory on melting days."

Thus wrote Charles Lamb not long after he was able to leave his job as clerk in the India House. He quickly discovered the emptiness of a life without duty—and even necessity, and voiced a fundamental fact in human happiness.

But in describing the unhappy lot of a man with no duties he hinted likewise at the unfortunate lot of the man who has no holiday. By his definition holiday means change, for—says he—monotony of any sort threatens the end of pleasure.

A holiday must always mean a change of some sort. We know a family whose 1938 vacation will take the form of completely refurnished living and dining rooms in their home. But to most of us holiday means travel—an actual, geographic change. From a practical standpoint the trip to Europe need be no better vacation than one across Lake Michigan or downstate a hundred miles.

The very fact that a holiday means change describes its usefulness. For just as the start of a holiday brings change, so does its ending. Familiar surroundings and routine are new after an absence, and familiar duties take on a new interest.

Thus the holiday becomes a practical necessity, and yields returns well worth the cost involved. New scenes, new clothing, new equipment, new amusements do the trick. Thus, too, the distance covered becomes relatively unimportant. Change can be as thorough and interesting in a short space as in a longer one.

And so we glean from Charles Lamb's experience in leisure some interesting information:

Waste no envy upon the man who has no duties—for he gets no holiday. Waste none on the man with elaborate and expensive vacation plans. Simpler ones will do quite as well in fulfilling the essential requirement of a holiday.

Above all, you need a holiday. Whether you travel far, or not at all, make the change as complete as possible. You owe it to yourself and to others who depend upon you.

JEWISH MEETING BACKS CONGRESS AS AMERICAN WAY

Leaders Hope for Unity to Meet Problems.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The first attempt to give the American Jew a unified spokesmanship will be made at the American Jewish congress to be held in New York the first week in September, speakers declared last night at a meeting of 6,000 Jews of the Chicago area in the Coliseum.

While the New York congress is not the first ever held in America it will be the first at which factions of Judaism approach a common front for the solution of racial problems, it was pointed out. As the result of a meeting in Pittsburgh recently three of the most widely divergent factions found ways to reconcile their differences and enter the congress in unity.

Referendum Unnecessary.

The coming congress was called as an extraordinary session, one of the chief aims of which was to ascertain the will of Jewry on a united program. A referendum vote was to have been taken, as the delegates were elected, to see whether the Jews of America were willing to let the congress speak for them as a whole. The Pittsburgh reconciliation, however, made the referendum unnecessary, it was held.

Opposition to the projected referendum as un-American voiced last week by thirty-six rabbis of widely separated cities, was condemned last night by Dr. Morton M. Berman, rabbi of Temple Isaiah Israel.

Dr. Berman said that such a view is false, and added that it represents the view of fewer than a tenth of the Reform rabbis of the country. The Reform group in Jewry is the smallest numerically of the three sects, of which the others are Conservative and Orthodox.

Sigmund W. David, past president of the Chicago division of the congress, also assailed the dissenting rabbis' statement.

Holds Plan Democratic.

"The task of American Jews who believe in democratic procedure is clear," said Dr. Berman. "Each of us may, in the American way, be represented by his chosen spokesman in New York. In these days, when democracy has been denied to a great portion of mankind, the Jew must feel himself bound to stimulate and support it. The American Jewish congress, as Justice Louis D. Brandies and Judge Julian W. Mack envisaged it twenty years ago, offers us the privilege of democratic procedure in dealing with the problems of Jewish life."

Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president and founder of the congress, also was a speaker at last night's mass meeting. He urged every Jew in the Chicago district to mark a ballot at the elections to be held June 25, 26, and 27 when thirty-two delegates will be elected to represent the division at the special session.

On Trial in Slaying

MRS. ROBERTA WATTERS.

South Bend, Ind., June 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Roberta Watters, a ship's nurse, 29 years old, told of her separation from her two children today on her cross-examination by Prosecutor George N. Beamer in her trial for the slaying of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Martha Watters, 63 years old.

Beamer elicited a story of pleasant times in London, Berlin, Paris and Vienna from the young matron whose mother-in-law was shot to death here April 26.

Mrs. Watters told the jury of eight men and four women of the misery she had endured through separation from the two children, left with Mrs. Watters two years ago.

She denied threatening the life of the senior Mrs. Watters when the latter refused to disclose the whereabouts of the children, but admitted purchasing a pistol in a Chicago pawnshop two months before the fatal shooting.

end. Several Jews previously arrested have been transferred to the Dachau concentration camp. In addition to Jewish lawyers, doctors, and merchants, several "Aryans" have been sent to Dachau, including Count Thurn-Valsassina, former leader of the Austrian patriotic youth organization, and Karl Lang, former Austrian hangman. It was reported that Lang attempted to commit suicide while he was held a prisoner in Vienna.

As a result of the anti-Jewish measure the United States consulate building resembles a beleaguered fortress. Long lines of applicants for visas are on hand from early morning until closing time, seeking information on the best means of going to the United States.

BERLIN EXEMPTS FOREIGN JEWS IN PROPERTY DECREE

BERLIN, June 20.—(AP)—The ministry of economy tonight exempted foreign Jews living abroad from stringent property registration regulations which brought an official protest from the United States after their promulgation by Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering April 27.

The ministry which Goering heads issued a communique declaring Jews of foreign nationality need not list their possessions exceeding $2,000 in value unless they reside within Germany. The original registration decree hinted that Jewish-owned property might be confiscated after being reported to the government.

New regulations issued tonight by the economics ministry also somewhat relaxed the rules as they apply to German Jews living abroad. Jews living in Europe outside Germany were given until July 31 to report their possessions instead of the original June 30 time limit. For German Jews residing outside Europe the deadline was extended until Oct. 30. The June 30 limit still applies, however, to Jews of foreign nationality who continue to live in Germany.

RAILROAD MAKES SOME INROADS ON SWARM OF BEES

On a flight to establish a new home a swarm of bees descended suddenly last night at 75th street and Exchange avenue. But they made the misfortune of picking the southbound rails of the Illinois Central railroad.

Edward Thomas, 2601 East 76th street, an amateur apiarist, was in the crowd that gathered. He made several efforts to lure the bees into a box, then gave up the attempt. Each time a train passed the bees lost about twenty-five of their slower brothers and sisters.

Deserted Bride Granted Divorce After Two Years

Just a few hours after their marriage two years ago, Alex Daytz, 23 years old, left his bride with the announcement he was going to look for a flat. He never returned, Mrs. Jean Daytz told Judge William V. Brothers yesterday. She was granted a divorce.

Keeps Diamond

Mrs. Udelle Rickles Saunders.

Bernard Berg, 29 years old and very unhappy, found a $400 washout yesterday in the course of true love, although the road had been unusually bumpy for some months past.

Berg, who lives at 4207 West 14th street, was in Judge Thomas A. Green's Municipal court to try and get $400 from his one-time fiancé, the former Miss Udelle Rickles. She is now Mrs. James Saunders, but still has the Berg ring. It cost $240, he said, but was worth $300, and he wanted $400 because she kept it so long.

"When a lover gives his sweetheart a present," Judge Green ruled after hearing the evidence, "he is taking his chances that everything will turn out all right. For some reason love cooled here, but that's a chance he was taking. Finding for the defendant." He turned to Mrs. Saunders. "I'd like to see the ring," he added.

"That?" she said. "I used it as collateral for a $125 loan."

Rooster Keeps Neighbor in Stew; Condemned to Pot

It appeared last night that Hector has sung himself into the stew pot. Hector is a strident rooster, owned by Robert Fick, 19 years old, of 3132 North Lowell avenue. Robert liked to awaken in the dawn and hear Hector's clear call. But his next door neighbor didn't. The neighbor, Robert J. Hotten, sent the police to Robert's house, and Robert's folks decided Hector will be served for Sunday dinner.

DANZIG IS NOT A POWDER BARREL, NAZI CHIEF SAYS

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, June 20.—(AP)—The Free State of Danzig is "no longer the powder barrel of Europe," Dr. Arthur Karl Greiser, Nazi president of the Danzing senate, said today in a jubilee session of parliament commemorating the fifth anniversary of the Nazi seizure of power here.

"Attempts by the sensational press to throw the spark will not longer have any success," he said: "The friendship between Germany and Poland as well as between Danzig and Poland would not be possible except for the fact that two men, Pilsudski and Hitler, had control of the situation in their respective countries. [Marshal Josepf Piludski, now dead, was one of the founders of Poland.]

Get Wise to Constipation!

When you're constipated, it's a great temptation to be satisfied with quick relief. But physics may become a habit. And they don't keep constipation from returning. It's so much better to get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat what most people do, chances are the only thing the matter is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

What to do? Eat a little Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk"—it also contains the natural intestinal tonic, vitamin B1. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

FINE FOR KIDNEY AND BLADDER WEAKNESS

STOP GETTING UP NIGHTS LOOK AND FEEL YOUNGER

Keep your kidneys free from waste matter, poisons and acid, and put healthy activity into kidneys and bladder and you'll live a healthier, happier and longer life.

One most efficient and harmless way to do this is to get from your druggist a 35-cent box of Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules and take them as directed—the swift results will surprise you.

Besides getting up nights, some symptoms of kidney trouble are backache, moist palms, leg cramps, and puffy eyes. If you want real results, be sure to get GOLD MEDAL—the original and genuine—a grand kidney stimulant and diuretic—right from Haarlem in Holland. Give your kidneys a good cleaning once in a while.

HOUSE MEMBERS TO BE SPARED IN DEMOCRAT PURGE

Leaders Ask Re-election of All in Party.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 20.—[Special.]—While the Roosevelt administration has dedicated itself to a purge from the Democratic party of at least nine senators who have defied the President's will, no such efforts will be made by the Democratic leaders of the house of representatives.

House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn of Texas and Representative Lawrence Lewis of Colorado, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, are making public appeals for the reëlection of every Democratic member of the house, regardless of their records as supporters or foes of the Roosevelt administration.

Mathematically, the administration can afford to take chances on purging the Democratic party of anti-administration senators, since the Republicans can not hope to gain, according to the most optimistic predictions of their leaders, more than ten additional seats. That would give them a total of twenty-five and leave the Democrats a top heavy majority in the senate, which has ninety-six members.

House Situation Differs.

The situation in the house, the entire membership of which must be reëlected in November, is different. The Gallup poll indicates that the Republicans will gain seventy-five or eighty seats and the Republican leaders hope to gain at least 100, if not a majority of the house. The Republicans now have eighty-nine, out of a total of 435, a majority of which is 218.

With the Democratic leaders privately conceding the possibility of losing 75 seats in the house—enough to make effective a coalition of Republicans and anti-Roosevelt Democrats—an attempted purge of recalcitrant house members might be disastrous.

Rayburn's letters have followed a general form, but there have been some rather comical variations.

Rayburn Stretches a Point.

To Representative William B. Barry of New York, whose support of the administration has been fairly consistent, although he voted to recommit the dictator reorganization bill, Rayburn wrote:

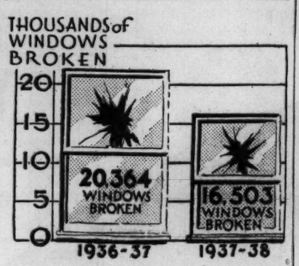
"I want you to know how personally grateful I am to you for your loyalty, not only to the house organization, but also to the administration."

This was stretching a point, somewhat, but Rayburn didn't go quite so far in the case of Representative Arthur P. Lamneck of Ohio, one of the most consistent anti-administration Democrats in the house. To Mr. Lamneck he wrote:

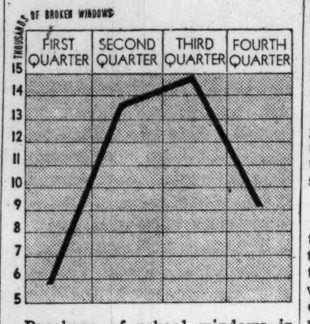
"I want you to know how personally grateful I am to you for your loyalty to the house organization."

There was no mention of Lamneck's loyalty to the administration. Among other things, he voted against the reorganization bill, against the administration's punitive tax on closely held family corporations, against the minimum wage and maximum hour bill, against the farm dictatorship bill, and against the relief and pump priming bill.

Reduce Vandalism



Number of school windows broken from Nov. 1 to May 31 in 1936-'37 and 1937-'38. Schoolboy patrols were started in November, 1937, to guard the windows, and to their efforts is attributed the decrease in breakage.



Breakage of school windows in Chicago during 1937, a representative year. The loss always reaches a peak during the third quarter of the year, which includes the months of August and September.

Window breakage in Chicago public schools, which cost the school board $200,000 last year, is on the decrease, according to a report by John Howatt, chief engineer for the board of education. He attributed the decrease to a campaign against window breakage started last November. Schoolboy safety patrols, under the direction of August Pritzlaff, head of the school board physical education department, have done much to guard the school windows against vandals, Howatt said.

During the seven months since the campaign was started 16,503 panes of glass were broken, while 20,364 were broken during the previous comparable period. In 1935 30,122 windows were repaired during the full year at a cost of $152,121; in 1936, 38,334 were repaired at a cost of $187,582, and last year 43,565 were repaired, costing $200,000. During 1935 the Works Progress administration supplied men to guard the school buildings.

DRIVER KILLED WHEN CAR AND TRUCK COLLIDE

Auto Bounces Against a Third Machine.

Albert J. Brunnelle, 45 years old, 7455 Greenview avenue, was killed yesterday when his car and a truck collided at Dempster street and Cicero avenue in Niles Center, after which Brunnelle's car rammed a third machine.

A Chicago girl was killed yesterday when an automobile driven by her mother was struck by a Big Four passenger train near Edwardsville.

The victim was Anita Gaffney, 12 years old, 6826 Ridgeland avenue. Her mother, Mrs. William Gaffney, wife of the steward at the Palmer house, was slightly injured.

Robert Turney Jr. Dies.

Robert Turney Jr., 21 years old, of the Edgewater Beach hotel, died in the Physicians Memorial hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Thursday, when the automobile he was driving crashed into a tree at 6956 Sheridan road. Young Turney was the son of former Judge Robert Turney of the Superior court.

Miss Christina Toeller, 67 years old, of 5600 North Claremont avenue, a nurse, died in the Swedish Covenant hospital yesterday of injuries incurred when she was struck by an automobile June 10 at Western avenue and Carmen street. The car was driven by Bernard Koli of 3216 North Halsted street.

Joseph Prikopa, 68 years old, of 2138 South Halsted street, died in the County hospital early yesterday after being struck in front of his home by a car driven by Jack Templeton of 4237 South Michigan avenue.

Miss Helen Talmadge, 39 years old, of 933 Belmont avenue, who was injured on June 12 in the crash of a taxicab and another car at Maple and Clark streets, died last night in Grant hospital. Miss Talmadge was riding in the taxicab. The other machine was driven by William Bonamici, 25 years old, of 446 Orleans street.

Killed by Bus.

Joseph Dietz, 30 years old, of 1611 South Cicero avenue, Cicero, was killed by a bus near Braidwood, where he was visiting relatives. The bus was driven by H. D. Lewis of 1042 South Racine avenue.

Richard Scheidt, 9 years old, of 3422 Butler street, Steger, died early today of injuries incurred last night when he was struck by the automobile of Roy Devert of Crete. Devert told Steger police the child had run from an alley into 34th street, near Union avenue, and that he had seen him too late to stop. The driver was held for the inquest.

Anthony Ruppert, 3 years old, 927 Buena avenue, was seriously injured yesterday when he was struck near his home by an automobile driven by George Antonic, 5615 University avenue.

Mrs. Jennie Esposito, 52 years old, of 916 East 76th street, was in a critical condition in a Belvidere hospital after the car in which she was riding struck a culvert near Belvidere Sunday. Five other Chicagoans with her were less seriously injured.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 381 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 292 were killed in Chicago, where 8,316 were injured in the same period.

SUES TO DIVORCE JOHN A. VINCENT OF LAKE FOREST

Mrs. Josephine Vincent, formerly of 1190 North Edgewood road, Lake Forest, filed suit for divorce yesterday in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan from John A. Vincent, a broker. Mrs. Vincent, daughter of a federal judge, is now living with her parents in South Carolina according to her attorney, William R. Behanna.

Mrs. Vincent's bill charges that her husband has been drunk three or four times a week for four years. It also accuses him of cruelty, of threatening her life, and of threatening to molest their daughter, Josephine, 14. Mrs. Vincent asks custody of and support for their daughter, and alimony.

Pleads Guilty of Forgery of Simone Simon's Checks

Los Angeles, Cal., June 20.—(AP)—Sandra Martin, secretary to Simone Simon, pleaded guilty today to three counts of forgery in raising the French actress' checks for a total of $662.50. Judge A. A. Scott set July 19 for sentencing and a hearing on probation. Miss Martin had been charged with having defrauded the actress of $11,000. The forgery charges carry a possible prison term of one to fourteen years.

Caddies Win Deerfield Country Club Strike

The caddy strike which began Saturday at the Deerfield Country club, two miles east of Deerfield, Lake county, on Saunders road, has been settled. According to Henry Miller, golf professional, the caddies won their demands, which included payment of accident insurance of 10 cents for each 18 holes by the club instead of by the boys, and a full day off on Mondays to play golf free of charge on the club grounds. The boys worked Sunday under a truce.

COUNCIL VOTES TO FINE MINORS BUYING DRINKS

Young Tavern Patrons to Be Liable with Seller.

The city council took action yesterday to keep minors from patronizing taverns by passing an ordinance permitting them to be fined for buying liquor in drinking places. The council also referred to a committee consideration of an ordinance to limit the number of taverns in the city.

With only one dissenting vote—that of Ald. James J. McDermott [14th]—the council adopted the ordinance submitted by Ald. Frank Keenan [49th], providing a fine of not less than $5 and not more than $50 for minors found drinking in taverns and other places where liquor is sold.

Patrons Accused of Deception.

At present only those who sell liquor to minors are liable under the law. There have been complaints that minors have given false ages in order to buy intoxicants.

"I am heartily in accord with this ordinance," Mayor Kelly said. "This will protect the man to some extent when he is unable to tell the ages of his patrons and when he is imposed upon. Also if a minor knows he is subject to arrest and fine, he will stay out of taverns."

Ald. McDermott objected that the ordinance was a violation of personal liberties and that it would not prevent minors from congregating in clubs, fraternity houses, and other places and having liquor delivered.

Seeks to Limit Taverns.

He then introduced an ordinance which would limit the number of taverns in the city to 7,500. At present there are 9,499, operating under an annual license fee of $600 each.

Safety Judge Jails Two Drivers for Drunkenness

Judge Stephen Adamowski in Safety court yesterday sentenced two motorists to ten days in county jail for driving while intoxicated. They are Russell Arthur, 4710 North Ashland avenue, and John Shaffer, 1638 North Marshfield avenue. Arthur was ordered not to drive a car for six months and Shaffer for nine months.

Party Worker Gets Six Months for Polls Fraud

John Donato, former Democratic captain in the 32d precinct of the 1st ward, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of conspiracy to alter ballots in the 1936 primary. Judge Robert Jerome Dunne sentenced him to six months in jail.

PLEA OF JOBLESS RIOTERS TURNED DOWN IN CANADA

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 20.—(AP)—Leaders of unemployed, whose riots yesterday climaxed British Columbia's relief troubles, tonight sent 200 more jobless to Victoria, provincial capital, where a delegation of 100 was denied an audience today.

The new delegation left for Nanaimo, B. C., where the men planned to hike eighty miles to Victoria, after Premier T. D. Pattullo had told the first delegation the province was "not going to guarantee governmentally that every man in British Columbia will get a job."

Police reinforcements guarded against repetition of riots in which thirty-seven were injured and $50,000 damage caused. Four of twenty-three men arrested yesterday were charged with rioting, seven others were charged with causing damage to property, and another man was charged with carrying a weapon.

Master of the Art of Living

Just as people speak of a great master as a born painter; a born musician . . . so also you can say that a Philadelphian has a born gift for the art of joyful, contented living.

His is a heritage of love of individual home. His, the inspiration of Philadelphia's founder, William Penn, master of contentment!

Widely Philadelphia is known for its single-family homes. Thousands and hundreds of thousands of them, on Philadelphia's tree-lined streets! Long its people have been pioneers in home planning and building.

And well do Philadelphia's families know the joys of making home improvements . . .

Nowhere does the luxury and economy of modern ideas make a greater appeal than to this home-loving people . . . nowhere is the same interest in advertising of better things for homes as in Philadelphia!

Naturally Philadelphians—living in indivdual, single-family homes, do their spending in ways but little known to people in cities of apartment houses, flats, multi-family dwellings.

They see as thrift, these outlays they make so freely for home equipment and appliances: for each day they get their money back in better living . . . in health, happiness, security!

Kitchen ranges, foods and cleansers, refrigerators, washing machines and automatic heat, baths and basement recreation rooms, radios and appliances, air conditioning and insulation, paints, porches, gardens and automobiles—

Such are the home needs of Philadelphia; and such the volume of demand as to make it a market of first choice:

For in Philadelphia, roof-to-cellar equipment, table and household supplies, are bought for MORE individual, single-family homes than in any other city in America!

Nine out of ten Philadelphia dwellings are single-family homes. More single-family dwellings than in all of New York City and Buffalo combined; than in Chicago and St. Louis together; than the total in Detroit and Cleveland!*

Also of unusual interest to the manufacturer—because it is an advertising and selling economy unusual in a major market—

The manufacturer's advertising for Philadelphia, inserted in one newspaper alone, will reach nearly every home!

Edited with care for the home interests of the Philadelphia family circle, The Evening Bulletin's percentage of coverage of families within the city is greater than that of any other Philadelphia newspaper—morning, evening or Sunday.

For thirty-three consecutive years, The Bulletin has led all Philadelphia daily newspapers in circulation. One of the largest daily newspapers in America!

Reader interest built The Bulletin's circulation . . . merit gave it leadership without use of prize, premium or subscriber contest!

See your advertising agency for study of the Philadelphia market and the economy of selling in Philadelphia homes through the newspaper nearly everybody reads.

QUIZ INTO MILK PRICES NEARS U. S. GRAND JURY

G-Men to Submit Results of Year's Study.

A year old investigation by agents and attorneys of the department of justice of an alleged milk monopoly in the Chicago area is expected to be completed within two weeks. It was reported yesterday that voluminous evidence assembled in the case will be presented to the July session of the federal grand jury.

The investigation, a part of the department's trust busting program, seeks to determine if nationwide milk interests have combined to monopolize the dairy industry in violation of the federal anti-trust laws. The federal agents are said to have gone into the milk situation from farm to consumer, as well as into the manufacture of cheese, ice cream, and the many milk by-products.

Broaden Chicago Inquiry.

The inquiry in Chicago, it was reported, has been broadened to include all elements of milk production and distribution—the Pure Milk association, a selling agency of 14,500 dairy farmers in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana; the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., distributors; the Chicago Board of Health, which maintains milk inspection facilities; the recently organized union of independent distributors' employés, affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization; and the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

The crux of the investigation has been the wide difference between the price received by the farmer for his milk and the price paid by the housewife for milk delivered at her doorstep. [The delivery price for fluid milk delivered in quart bottles was reduced on May 6 from 13 to 12 cents. The base price paid farmers for milk delivered to country plants, loading platforms, or receiving stations, is $1.74 per 100 pounds, or 3.74 cents a quart. The difference is 8.26 cents.]

Will Summon Hundreds.

Several hundred witnesses are to be summoned to testify before the grand jury by Leo F. Tierney, a special assistant to Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, who has been in charge of the Chicago inquiry since March. Presentation of the case is expected to consume the grand jury's time for the remainder of the summer.

Four special assistant attorneys general aided by three secretaries are now here from Washington, it was learned, helping Tierney prepare for the grand jury the vast amount of data compiled by agents of the federal bureau of investigation who have been at work on the case for more than a year.

The staf, which has headquarters in room 326 of the United States courthouse, consists in addition to Tierney of Assistant Attorneys General George P. Alt, Daniel B. Britt, H. Douglas Weaver, and Maurice A. Gellis.

Follows Oil Trust Quiz.

The milk trust probe is the second recent anti-trust investigation to be conducted in the middlewest. Recently at Madison, Wis., thirteen oil companies of the nation and eleven of their high officials were fined an aggregate of $360,000 on charges of price fixing of gasoline. Two other similar oil trust cases are still pending in Madison.

Tierney formerly was an attorney for the department of agriculture and in that capacity prosecuted the late Arthur W. Cutten and Thomas M. Howell, Chicago grain dealers, for violation of the grain futures act. He left the department of agriculture in 1935 to become a special assistant to Attorney General Cummings and since has been assigned to anti-trust cases.

A police emergency squad and three physicians worked over him three hours in vain. An autopsy showed a heart attack caused his death.

City to Seek U. S. Funds for Firemen Drill School

The city council yesterday authorized Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt to negotiate with the Public Works administration for a million dollar loan and grant for construction of a new fire department drill school and rehabilitation of various fire stations throughout the city. To secure the loan the city will pledge its $65,000 annual revenue from the American District Telegraph, and Illinois District Telegraph, and the Chicago Electric Protective companies.

U. S. DENIES PLEA TO HALT PICKETS IN DAIRY BATTLE

Refuses to Act Pending Injunction Ruling.

A request that the government restrain picketing of stores selling cut rate milk was denied yesterday by Federal Master in Chancery Charles A. McDonald. The plea was made by Attorney Arthur Seelig in connection with a pending injunction sought against the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, No. 753, an A. F. of L. affiliate.

Seelig, representing three cut rate dairies and the Amalgamated Dairy Workers' union, Local 319, affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization, told Master McDonald that his clients were losing a wholesale customer a day because of picketing and will be forced out of business unless something be done. The dairies and the C. I. O. union seek an injunction against what they term the A. F. of L. union's strong arm methods.

Doesn't Want Increase.

Before the master could answer Seelig's request Attorney David A. Riskind, representing the defendants, was on his feet. "Are you asking that we discontinue peaceful picketing?" he shouted.

"I don't want you to increase it," Seelig said.

"We've fought for that right too many years to give it up now," Riskind retorted.

Master McDonald pointed out that he could not ban peaceful picketing, and added that in any event he did not wish to make a ruling which might contradict his ultimate decision on the injunction.

Earlier in the hearing yesterday Siegfried Weiss, vice president of the Lake Valley dairy, one of those seeking the injunction, testified that there had been violence against cut rate customers during the last month, while the suit has been going on. He unwrapped a package containing fragments of a stench bomb which, he said, was thrown into a grocery store at 616 East 63d street about a week ago.

Sumner Denies Activities.

Steve Sumner, head of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, was subpenaed as a witness by Seelig. He admitted that he had been indicted for various phases of union activity in Chicago several times since 1905, but said he had never been convicted and had had no connection with any of the cases for which he was indicted.

He admitted, however, that he served 32 days of a 70 day sentence for contempt of court in 1919 for violation of an injunction against picketing.

Call Off Return to Work as C. I. O. Pickets Plant

Employés of the Chicago Hardware Foundry company at North Chicago who are members of an independent union opposed to a strike called at the plant by C. I. O. organizers did not return to work yesterday as they had planned earlier. The independents, who number about 200, said that they would return later in the week. C. I. O. officials yesterday placed more than 400 pickets around the foundry to stop any attempt to return to work. The plant employés 450 persons. The strike was called June 6 in protest to a 10 per cent pay cut.

Amelia Earhart's Aid Declared Legally Dead

Oakland, Cal., June 20.—(AP)—Frederick Noonan, navigator for Amelia Earhart when they disappeared on a hazardous flight over the Pacific from New Guinea a year ago, was declared legally dead today. Judge John J. Allen granted letters of administration in Noonan's estate to the widow, Mrs. Mary Noonan.

NONCONFORMIST GETS AWAY WITH HAT AND $12 CASH IN CHURCH

Most of those who attended services Sunday evening in the Waukegan Baptist church had their minds on things religious. There was, however, one who didn't conform. That is why Walter Tannahill, a Waukegan alderman, lost his hat, and the choir's soloist, Mrs. Ethel Thomas, lost a purse containing $12.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS PEGGED LEVY IN COUNTY

The Illinois Supreme court at Springfield yesterday upheld the constitutionality of pegged levies for Chicago and local Cook county governments when it passed on a group of 1935 tax rate cases appealed from the County court.

The rulings affect the validity of a levy of $31,925,000 for the city corporate fund, the library, and tuberculosis sanitarium funds, as well as a 9 million dollar levy for park purposes.

In a 4 to 2 decision upholding County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, the Supreme court held that the constitution permitted the legislature to pass enabling acts by which a municipal corporation might levy taxes as provided under the "peg levy" act provided the act was not a scheme to give municipal corporations the power to validate illegal taxes previously levied.

MUST PAY SALES TAX ON LIQUOR, TOO, SAYS COURT

The Illinois Supreme court ruled yesterday that retail liquor dealers throughout the state must pay both the state liquor tax and the state sales tax. The ruling was made on an appeal from the Circuit court in Chicago which dismissed a suit in behalf of 1,585 liquor dealers to enjoin collection of the sales tax.

Attorneys for the dealers contended the tax imposed by the recent control act voided sales taxes levied on the dealers. The Supreme court, however, held that the two taxes are for different purposes—that the sales tax is a revenue measure and the liquor tax a fee to finance regulatory provisions of the liquor act.

Lake County Begins Review of Disputed Tax Claims

The Lake county board of review yesterday began hearing complaints on 1937 real estate and personal property tax bills. Members of the board, headed by Daniel Hentges, named Lew A. Hendee, former county clerk, the chief clerk of the board.

AUSTRIA'S BONDS REPUDIATED.

The Austrian government in 1930 sold an issue of bonds in the United States "to provide for capital expenditures incurred and to be incurred for improvement upon the Austrian railways and the properties of the postal and telegraph administration." Early this year these bonds were selling for a premium for the reason that interest on them had been paid in full. Austria had worked out of her difficulties better than any of her neighbors. Following the failure of the Austrian Credit Anstalt which precipitated the European financial collapse in 1931, Austria was obliged to declare a moratorium on service on external bonds. However, in June, 1935, that country set an example which scarcely any other was able to follow by clearing up arrearages of interest and of sinking fund requirements on all dollar bonds.

Germany's conquest of Austria has been referred to as an anschluss, a peaceful union of two Germanic peoples. If that conception of what happened was to be observed generally by the German government, service on the Austrian bonds would be continued as before. Instead, the bonds are being repudiated. The German economics minister, Walther Funk, in a speech last week attempted to justify the repudiation. He put the Austrian bonds in the class with the obligations of our civil war confederacy. It must be clear that there is no similarity at all between the two situations, for Austria was not a government revolting against Germany at the time the bonds were put out. If there is a precedent, it is that of the soviet government which repudiated the bonds of pre-revolutionary Russia.

Germany it appears will honor these debts of Austria only if it becomes expedient to do so. And that circumstance may not arise. Governments sometimes put themselves out to meet their obligations in order to keep up their credit standing. Germany's credit standing is so bad now that to meet this obligation would do little to improve it. It will be a long time before any new German issues can be sold here.

Germany might pay the debt if there was a fear of retaliatory action. But Germans have little here that could be levied on, exceedingly little compared with the stake which Americans already have over there. And we sell to Germany more goods each year than we buy. Consequently, there is no balance accruing on current account which the government could use to settle the obligation. There is, of course, the possibility that the acknowledgment of the debt might be obtained in exchange for concessions to Germany in a bi-lateral trade treaty. But for the time being at least, the prospects of the Austrian bondholders appear to be slim. And with the attitude now being shown by the German government toward the United States, strong notes from the secretary of state are not likely to improve the character of the bonds.

JUST A LITTLE BOMBING.

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons that Great Britain would give up its inhumane bombing of native towns and villages near the Indian frontier if such civilized skirmishing were thought to be detrimental to a world agreement against the bombing of civilian centers as in Spain and China.

Afghan and other prophets will arise in the tarlike tribes and egg them on to raids across the boundaries for the fun of killing and looting. If a column of troops is sent out to teach the tribesmen better, there will be stiff fighting in the hills and mountains where the native fiemen are at home and there will be many casualties.

The British, although aware that they may not be understood, think it is nicer to serve warning that bombing planes are coming and then blast the native homes off the earth. The aborigines are supposed to pick up their chickens, goats, and bedding and hide out under cover until the raid is over. Then they return and rebuild out of the fragments.

The British say that in these regions there are a great many caves which the natives find comfortable and safe. It is by no means certain that they do not find the bombing so entertaining that they invite it by crossing the border to slit a few throats and bring the circus over them again. However, when the British reproach the Japanese, Germans, and Italians for their barbaric disregard of civilian populations in China and Spain, the Japanese, Germans, and Italians refer pointedly to the punitive air raids against the native villages.

A British statesman must clear his throat a great deal and haw and hum, never being sure that he is getting his point across. It's an awkward situation to explain because there are no military objectives to bomb in the native villages. There are no rail communications, munition factories or dumps, forts or arsenals. There are no garrisons, just people, women, children, and old men. Such bombing might be called the most inhuman of all. It is the destruction of homes and is so intended.

It wouldn't help the people of London much to be warned to depart for caves in the Cotswold. Air bombing is a new military practice. The new atrocity is always the worst atrocity. So-called legitimate warfare permits, without odium, an army to drive a population into a city, besiege it, and bombard the civilians with high explosives from cannon. That's unpleasant but conventional. Great Britain has a particular protest against air raids. Except for them it is safe behind its fleet.

THE CUSTER CREEK DISASTER.

The wreck of the Olympian at the Custer creek bridge in Montana raises a number of questions to which those who investigate the accident should give close attention.

There is no doubt that many railroads have been forced to make sharp reductions in recent months in their appropriations for inspection and maintenance of right of way and equipment. Railroad managers had to pare expenses. They had no alternative. Costs of labor and materials have been rising. So have taxes. Thanks to the Roosevelt depression, railroad income has been dropping. Many railroads are not earning even their operating costs. The kind of government regulation to which the railroads have been subjected has made it impossible for them to recover business lost to competing ship lines, pipe lines, trucks, and buses.

The safety record of American railroads in recent decades has been excellent, but obviously if the physical condition of roadbed, rolling stock, and signals is allowed to deteriorate, the record cannot be maintained. We have no wish to prejudge the findings of those who will investigate the Custer creek catastrophe, but certainly the question whether the financial problems of the company had anything to do with the accident should be examined with utmost thoroughness because the Milwaukee road is by no means the only one in financial trouble. A third of the nation's railroad mileage is in receivership.

The economic plight of the Milwaukee road did not cause the cloudburst which swelled Custer creek, but financial stringency may have led to inadequate inspection and maintenance of the bridge which collapsed. If so, the facts should be made known and the lesson brought home to citizens and officeholders alike.

The federal agency which is charged with the duty of investigating railroad accidents is the interstate commerce commission. So far as we know it has always handled this aspect of its work thoroughly and well, but it remains to be seen if the inquiry into the Custer creek accident will maintain the tradition of scientific impartiality. The commission might be something less than eager to disclose the fact—if it is a fact—that the financial plight of the railroad industry was in part responsible for the heavy loss of life. It is the commission's business to see that the railroads earn a fair return on their investment over and above adequate expenditures for maintenance and operation.

If the wreck of the Olympian had occurred a week earlier it is quite likely that congress would not have adjourned without giving serious consideration to the railroad problem. In the closing days of the session the administration did suggest a postponement of the adjournment until railroad legislation could be enacted, but when it was disclosed that the administration leaders in and out of congress had only a nebulous program to present, congress went home. Its time and energy which should have been devoted to combating the depression had been exhausted in the fruitless struggle over the executive reorganization bill.

A NEW DUTCH MASTER.

The sporting world is getting cross-eyed trying to give due and fitting attention to two boys well inside the hall of fame, whose startling performances in different fields have come along almost simultaneously. One is that of Ralph Guldahl, the new king of American golf. June 11 he won the National Open for the second consecutive year, and fresh from that triumph he went to St. Louis and took the Western Open for the third consecutive time.

The sporting superlatives which might be exhausted upon this performance must be split and a full share of them must go to Pitcher Johnny Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds, who on Wednesday pitched his second consecutive no-hit, no-run game, the first against the Boston Bees and the second against the Brooklyn Dodgers, eighteen innings of pitching in which no National league batter facing him could get a hit.

In the second game, with this great baseball distinction awaiting the 23 year old rookie pitcher, there was a ninth inning climax which was as extraordinary in its setting as the performance was to be in its execution. With one out, Vander Meer filled the bases with three passes. A semi-hysterical crowd waited as the next two batsmen faced the delivery, and when both were retired some of the spectators needed a doctor.

Ohio is treating the event properly. The state senate has passed an appropriate resolution "in tribute to the newly crowned king of the baseball world," and it has been suggested that a statue of the young man replace a memorial to ex-President James A. Garfield in a downtown Cincinnati park. That might seem to be an unnecessary supplanting, however much Ohio desires to set up a testimonial in granite and brass so that a generation a thousand years from now may know of the masterpiece of this young Dutch master. Doubtless there is room for both Garfield and Vander Meer—the boy of the towpath and the boy of the diamond.

Editorial of the Day

BAD RECORD—AND A REMEDY.

[Detroit News.]

The labor department's figures on strikes and man-days of work lost through them last year make bad reading.

Detroit lost more man-days of work than any other city in the country. It did not lead in number of strikes, that distinction going to New York City. But in time lost Detroit was supreme indeed, with a record of 2,400,000 man-days gone glimmering. The national figure was 28,425,000 man days. So Detroit lost during the year going on one-tenth of all the work lost in all the country through strikes.

We are not proud of it, nor will any good Detroiter swell with pride on seeing his city thus singled out. One could gather from the figures that Detroit is a hotbed of labor oppression, a place noted above all the country for starvation wages and sweatshop hours. But Detroit knows that is not the case.

And one could blame the local unions. But we are not going to do that either, since, notwithstanding the apparent meaning of the figures, it could be done fairly only by analyzing each of the 1937 strikes as to cause.

The only moral we are going to draw is the obvious one that there must be some better way than this of settling labor disputes. We think a city mediation board along the lines of that proposed by Mayor Reading may be the answer.

There certainly must be an answer and, if the unions or the employers have a better one, we say, let them produce it. Detroit does not want to set any more records like this one of 1937.

A group of third graders from the Howard school in Wilmette was taken to NBC studios for one of those roving class room projects currently popular. Next day each member of the class wrote his impressions of the jaunt. One, Saroyan-like in its simplicity:

"First we met at the North Shore station. We waited a little while. Then the train came in. We got on the train. Then the train started. We got off. We went in a lot of radio rooms. We went in a room where there were some people. The people were talking through microphones. There was a radio in the room. We listened. Then we went to the elevated stashun. We got on the train and came back to Wilmette. Then we went home."

A CURIOUS BONE DISEASE.

IN 1877 a famous British surgeon, Sir James Paget, described a disease of the bone which has since been known by his name. He had observed his first patient for many years—a man who was tall, thin, well formed, and active in both mind and body. The first symptom was aching in the legs and thighs, chiefly after exercise. On examination the left lower leg was found to be enlarged. The tibia, the large bone in this area, was broader than normal and "felt nodular and uneven." There was no tenderness on pressure. "Similar but less marked changes," wrote Dr. Paget, "appeared in the lower third of the thigh." There was no difficulty with movement except a slight stiffness on walking.

Seventeen years later Paget reported that the progress of the malady had been very slow, but the bones had become definitly larger and heavier, and somewhat more curved. At this time some enlargement of the skull was the subject of comment by the sufferer's friends. On measurement it was found that the circumference of the head had increased nearly five inches. There was no change whatever in his features or his intellectual power.

The disorder essentially is one of middle life or beyond, the largest number of instances being found in the fifth and sixth decades. Fortunately it is not a life taking affliction, and by means of the X-ray we are in a position to study its behavior accurately. Just as in Paget's original case, the tibia usually exhibits the earliest manifestations.

The chief danger is in the likelihood to fracture, as the bones lose much of their normal strength and elasticity. Persons known to be afflicted should use special precautions to avoid falls and other injuries. Nevertheless, healing does take place, although the time may be somewhat prolonged. Sometimes the lime absorbed—for that is what occurs—makes the affected region more porous.

Naturally the cause has been sought long and earnestly, and numerous theories have been brought forward. The thyroid and the parathyroids, particularly the latter glands because they have so much to do with the metabolism of lime, have been suspected. Again, injury is said to be the starting point by some, while others believe that the element fluorine in the water, or the inhalation of the fumes of this gas, may be the offender. It seems to be clearly established that syphilis is not a factor; neither is heredity.

Most patients present themselves to their physicians for some incidental difficulty, whereupon the trouble is discovered. Occasionally, however, victims complain of marked discomfort in the knees and legs, especially at night. They state that they are unable to place the limbs in a comfortable position.

Treatment apparently has little effect. In other words, with the present state of our knowledge no method or regime of restoring calcium and phosphorus to the diseased parts of the skeleton has been found. The administration of suprarenal extract, obtained from the adrenal glands, relieves pain. X-ray has shown similar results. From the standpoint of preserving an erect, posture the early use of splints or other types of support has been advocated. The feeding of vitamins is urged by many authors and, while numerous reports of improvement have appeared, we should recall that the ailment in question possesses a marked tendency to recede.

Fortunately—and the reason is not clear—certain cases become arrested spontaneously. At any rate, one or two decades may pass without the slightest advance. Whether the employment of X-ray is responsible has not been proved. At any rate, this therapeutic measure is recommended because of the numerous favorable suggestions as to its influence. Again, most of these patients enjoy good health, particularly if exercise does not place too great a strain on the abnormal structures.

MIGHT SEE SPECIALIST.

Miss T. writes: One breast is larger than the other. How can I correct this deformity?

REPLY.

If one breast is normal while the other is overdeveloped, surgery may help. Sometimes an endocrine disorder lies at the basis of the phenomenon. The condition which you describe, while not common, does occur, and some help is obtained occasionally from the cautious administration of certain gland products. A skilled gynecologist [specialist in troubles of women] may be able to aid you.

NO RAPID METHOD.

K. B. writes: What can be done to reduce a very large bust and thighs quickly and easily?

REPLY.

There is no royal road to reducing, in part or as a whole. Compression binders may help, and certainly adjusting your food intake to your requirements is essential. Occasionally endocrine gland disturbances will need to be studied and rectified. No drugs should be taken except on a physician's prescription.

LESS IN USE TODAY.

Mrs. E. M. writes: I am suffering with stomach ulcer and am about to take shots of histidine hydrochloride. Many people have advised me against it. What is your opinion?

REPLY.

This treatment still is in the experimental stage, although it is used less today than it was two or three years ago.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

Chicago, June 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If a person marries under a false name, is the marriage legal?

2. Is there any agency which will help procure a divorce for one who is short of funds necessary for that purpose?

J. S.

1. Yes, as far as this point is concerned.
2. Where it appears, after investigation and recommendation by a social agency, that a divorce is necessary for the proper protection of the family, and that the client is unable to pay an attorney, the legal aid bureau of the United Charities sometimes furnishes assistance, but there is no other agency through which one can avoid paying an attorney's fee. The mere fact that you have legal grounds and that the payments will involve some sacrifice for you will not suffice. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FIGHTING THE NOISE NUISANCE.

Chicago, June 17.—It was a pleasure for every member of the Greater Chicago Hotel association to note the excellent editorial on noise in yesterday's TRIBUNE.

Vast strides have been made in facing this growing nuisance during the last few years, but the public will see the light only after definite steps have been taken to actually reduce and control noise. Your suggestion of eliminating reckless honkhonking is an excellent one and it has the backing of a great majority of Chicagoans.

The appointment of an active noise abatement commission has been suggested many times and our association has continuously fought for it. Such work as THE TRIBUNE is doing, in regularly pointing out the need of such a commission, is invaluable. You have the wholehearted support of hundreds of Chicago's leading citizens. KARL EITEL, Chairman Anti-Noise and Traffic and Safety Committee, Greater Chicago Hotel Association.

A GOOD WORD FOR THE FUNG FAMILY.

Chicago, June 20.—In the last week the papers have printed news of a Chinese family that has bought a home at 5719 Eastwood avenue, and have told that irate citizens had gathered together to protest this move. As a neighbor of this fine family at their present residence I wish to say that never have I found a more considerate family or one more willing to pass a little happiness on to their fellow man than the Silas Fungs. Mr. Fung himself was recently referred to in your columns in connection with his authentic collection of World's Fair exhibits. As a family they are deeply religious and ever willing to assist those less fortunate.

I hope this fine family will be allowed to occupy their new home, that their new neighbors will realize that they are an asset rather than a liability to the community. E. J. DISSETTE.

NOISELESS TOWN.

Chicago, June 16. — The editorial "Noise" in today's TRIBUNE, while well intended, is needless.

I can visualize before the next two years pass, at the rate this dual depression [1st and 2d] is progressing, all our main business thoroughfares will have such lovely lawns growing on them that the few commercial vehicles still in operation will not be neard at all.

So why worry about establishing noise abatement committees? The New Dealers are taking care of that in their usual slow but thoroughly abolishing manner. W. S. [BILL] WHEELER.

THE ONLY SOLUTION.

Evanston, June 18. — In the name of womanhood and children and self-respecting manhood I wish to thank you for your attitude on the sex problem. Emasculation that has been well advertised and thoroughly carried out will stop this terror and nothing else will. Please use all of your great influence. E. D.

PAROLED.

Chicago, June 16.—This month about 300 criminals were paroled from Illinois prisons. This city does not need more policemen to add more burden on the taxpayers, but fewer criminals turned loose from prisons and more effective justice. ED BAILEY.

Chicago, June 16.—With all this talk of a coalition of practical Democrats and liberal Republicans, may I suggest a name for this alliance? What would be more fitting than to call it the Re-Demption party? SPENCER U. BOEHMER.

WHERE CULTURE FAILED HIM.

Melrose Park, Ill., June 20.—As one who has absorbed the culture of our educational institutions, and, despite such acquisition, has been unable to absorb much of anything else since, I naturally resent some of the wealth with which the perhaps smarter boys of the WPA brigades seemed to be endowed these days.

To explain with greater clarity: Last Sunday evening I embarked on foot—not possessing an automobile—to visit the two-bit theater which graces the main street of our town. I hadn't gone far when I saw parked alongside the curb a nifty automobile. Inside, perched at the wheel, sat a friend of mine whom I hadn't seen for some time. He was clad in the latest of fashion, with an ensemble that would have done justice to a millionaire.

These manifestations of wealth led me to assume that my friend had struck it lucky. The last time I had met him he was unemployed. I asked with some temerity what he was doing—feeling that in his new rôle of a wealthy person he would resent any familiarity on my part. His answer was that he was in charge of a WPA project.

After a few more words I left him and pondered all the way to the show the perplexing problems of the Roosevelitan theory of economics. ROBERT H. JACKSON.

NO WORKEE, NO EATEE.

Chicago, June 18. — These days there is a lot of talk about shorter hours and higher wages. In fact, the wage and hour law was just passed by congress yesterday.

Why is it that all Chinese hand laundries, not only in Chicago but throughout the United States, are permitted to work from 5 o'clock in the morning until midnight not only six days a week but also on Sunday, Memorial day, Fourth of July, and every other holiday?

A. H. JOHNSON.

IF.

Chicago, June 19.—Suppose that some unfortunate industrialist, with his business almost wrecked, had wanted some pet bill passed and had grabbed the speaker's office as C. I. O. Lewis did. The entire brain trust would have had a concussion; the President would have "just begun to fight," and Senator Minton would have played badminton with the poor fellow before breakfast the next morning. Maybe they haven't noticed that the C. I. O. hardly ever wins an election. C.

NO DUTCH COURAGE.

Davenport, Ia., June 18.—If Axel Longquist, Miss Trohan or Maguire will get a copy of the speech delivered in the house of representatives by a Mr. Brick, congressman from Indiana, about forty or forty-five years ago they will get an answer as to who Jack Barry was in the "days that tried men's souls." He is the author of the slogan "We want no Dutch courage on this ship" and the crew got no grog before the battle.

I have always been led to believe Commodore Jack Barry was the real parent of the United States navy. If Axel is anxious to excel, let him read "A Hidden Phase of American History" by Michael O'Brien and on page 246 he will find this quotation: "And an Irishman stands in the unique position of father of the American navy."

Commodore John Barry was a native of County Wexford, Ireland. When one reads history by American born historians he never gets the idea that there were any natives of Ireland in America at the time of the revolution, but O'Brien shows the entire record of all the Irishmen that took part in that affair.

Barry was a real fighter.

CON MURPHY.

BASEBALL IN THE STREET.

Chicago, June 17.—Your correspondents, Mrs. W. P. and D. R. are much too conservative concerning the baseball menace on our city streets. On our block, in a quiet, well kept neighborhood, a few seemingly respectable and law abiding parents are encouraging and abetting their growing and grown sons and friends in the dangerous pastime of daily baseball playing in the street. Life, health and property are at stake and, as residents and taxpayers, we, too, feel entitled to, and ask for, police protection. However, it is evident that some one must be killed or severely injured before this matter can be remedied.

SMILE FOR THE NEWSBOY.

Chicago, June 19.—In answer to A. M. being annoyed by newsboys:

Will A. M. please remember that this is probably the only way these poor boys have for earning a few pennies. I am a grandmother and my grandson is too young to sell papers; but I admire the boy who will work for what he can get. I suggest to A. M. [who complains of early Sunday racket] to get up every Sunday morning and greet the newsboy with a smile as you pass him on your way to church. MARGARET WEST.

PRINCIPIA TRAINS STUDENT BODY IN SERVICE IDEALS

School Youngest Among Illinois Colleges.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Elsah, Ill., June 20.—[Special.]—The Principia college of liberal arts, set in the hills above the Mississippi river near this village, is the youngest of Illinois colleges. This year's graduating class of forty-one was only the fifth, but the college has an alumni body that has underwritten the cost of the $197,000 chapel, the jewel of its matchless campus, with much of the money already raised. The rest of the campus buildings, which suggest an English rural scene, represent gifts from those who believe in the educational ideal being unfolded here.

The Principia college is the outgrowth of a nursery school begun forty years ago in St. Louis by a Christian Science mother, Mary Kimball Morgan, now president of the board of trustees. Other parents asked if their children might not join the class, and a nursery school formally was opened in 1898. This developed into a lower school and an upper school, which still are maintained in St. Louis, and the college, which was moved to the 2,300 acre Elsah campus in 1935. There are 649 students from forty-two states and ten foreign countries, 274 in the college proper.

Student Body Selective.

The student body is highly selective. While the college is not an activity of the church and does not teach Christian Science, students are not admitted unless they are interested in this method of thinking. The tuition is high, but many are working to pay part of their expenses. The aims of the college are stated as follows:

"The Principia college was established to provide an institution of higher education for the sons and daughters of Christian Scientists in which they might secure a liberal arts training of high quality while at the same time learning to make practical application of the teachings of Christian Science to the problems of daily life.

"It is the belief of the Principia that any educational program is incomplete which does not accept direct responsibility for the development of right social attitudes as of equal importance with the development of purposeful intellectual interests. Right social attitudes are not necessarily a by-product of academic learning. They represent a distinct educational field and require specific attention and training. The student's attitude toward the community and his maintenance of the ideals of the institution are therefore regarded as of equal importance with his scholastic grades and his outward compliance with college regulations."

Six Study Tours Offered.

A School of Nations, in which six travel study tours in Europe are offered this summer, and a School of Government, which seeks to build an ideal of public service, are part of the college. There are twenty-nine on the faculty and a personnel department of ten. All are Scientists. The director is Frederic E. Morgan of Washington and Harvard universities. The dean is George A. Andrews, professor of history and political science, a graduate of the United States Naval academy, with degrees from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Washington university.

Instead of the huge brick dormitories which characterize the average campus the students here live in low, rambling English village type houses which open to gardens and flowers and sublime views. The edge of the cliffs is near, over which one may see the waters of three rivers on a clear day—the Illinois, the Missouri, and the Mississippi. Alton is twenty miles away, but the entertainment of the students, including motion pictures, is provided by their own committee under a self government plan.

The approach to the college is over a driveway a mile or so in length, under great trees. The first view of the campus is a haying scene. One of the farms is being harvested. Then comes an athletic field and a field house. An apple orchard has been planted near the main buildings. The quarters for the men and for the women are in separate quadrangles.

The chapel stands on an open hillside beside a road where wild roses pillow the banks and climb over old fashioned rail fences.

No check indicates performance that is satisfactory or better.

Pages 2 and 3 of report card adopted in the elementary schools last fall which will be continued in use. The chief feature of the four page card is a grading system which eliminates comparison of one pupil with another. Three grades (circled in picture) are used, which indicate to parents whether the child is working efficiently, not working efficiently but shows improvement, or is not working efficiently. Under this plan a slow pupil is rewarded for his effort and a bright pupil would be penalized if he did not work to the best of his ability. On the other pages of the card are spaces for attendance record, for marking the child's class promotion, and for request for interviews with parents.

The report card formerly used in Chicago elementary schools. It provided only for marking the pupil's percentage grade, which compared him with classmates. Personal qualities were not marked on the old card, which was found to give parents too little information about their child's school progress.

PUPILS TO MATCH SKILL IN BUSINESS SCHOOLS CONTEST

The sixth annual international commericial schools contest will be held today and tomorrow at the Hotel Sherman, with students from all parts of the United States in attendance.

Contests, divided into three classes of novice, amateur and open, will be held in five fields of business education—shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, machine calculation and taking of dictation by machine.

W. C. Maxwell, teacher at Hinsdale high school, is executive chairman of the event. Helen Hartman of Chicago is secretary.

STREET CAR FARE CUT FOR PUPILS URGED TO I. C. C.

Maj. R. F. Kelker, traction expert for the city, told the Illinois commerce commission yesterday that the surface lines would increase revenue through reduction of fares for school children. He pointed out that the Chicago Motor Coach company and the rapid transit [elevated] lines have a 5 cent fare for pupils up to 17 years of age. Attorneys for the street car company objected to the testimony but were overruled. The hearing is on the commission's motion for the surface lines to show why fares for school children should not be reduced.

Study Ordinance to Buy N. U.'s Crime Laboratory

An ordinance providing for purchase of the Northwestern university crime detection laboratory by the city for $25,000 was referred to the finance committee yesterday by the city council. Mayor Kelly announced last week that the university has agreed to sell the laboratory, including equipment valued at $200,000, which will be turned over to the police department. The ordinance will be brought up for passage at the meeting of the council on July 6.

SCHOOLS TO USE NEW GRADE CARD AGAIN NEXT YEAR

Pleased with Results of a Season's Trial.

The new elementary school report cards adopted last September have been satisfactory and will be used again next year, Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson said yesterday. On the new cards pupils are given grades which denote "working efficiently," "not working efficiently, but shows improvement," or "not working efficiently." The old report cards gave grades of "excellent," "good," "average," "poor," or "failing."

"Modern educational trends have shown us that the information on the old report cards was meager and gave parents little understanding of the work their children were doing in school," Supt. Johnson said.

"The process of learning is more complex than just learning certain skills or memorizing pages of books correctly. In view of this the pupil's grade should cover a wider scope. It should record his attitude toward his work and his classmates," he said.

How Cards Differ.

The old type of report card listed all subjects such as English, reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic, geography, and others and allowed space for one of the five grades.

The new card is larger in size and has four pages, two of which are devoted to reports. One page specifies academic progress and the other personal qualities. Percentage marks, which compare one pupil to another, are eliminated by the new grades. "E" denotes that the child is working efficiently, or to the best of his or her ability. "C" shows the child is not working efficiently, but shows improvement. "N" shows the pupil is not working efficiently and this pupil, according to Supt. Johnson, is in serious danger of not passing his course.

"Under the new system a child is compared to himself instead of another pupil. A bright child may be doing very good work, but may still not be working to the best of his ability. Under the old system he would have received a grade of "E" for excellent work and his parents would only have known that all his work was correct. Under the new system they know that he can still improve himself.

Get Credit for Efforts.

"On the other hand, a girl may be unable to grasp arithmetic and under the old system would probably get poor grades. Under the new system, realizing that she is working to the best of her ability, her teacher may grade her "E" for working efficiently, and the girl will not be inclined to suffer from discouragement. She has done her best," Supt. Johnson said.

The personal qualities page in the new report cards allows for grading on promptness, initiative, industry, accuracy, courtesy, dependability, cooperation, self-control, neatness, respect for property and health. On the back of the card is a space for parents' signatures and for the teacher to notify parents that personal interviews would be desirable. The front page provides for the pupil's name, school, and attendance record.

700 TRY OUT AS LIFE GUARDS; SWIMMING TEST ELIMINATES 280

Seven hundreds candidates for the Chicago park district's 240 jobs as summer life guards turned up at Diversey beach yesterday for competitive examination.

Although another 700 are expected today, Harry O'Hare, director of beaches, is not at all upset. Of yesterday's new aspirants, almost 40 per cent were unable to pass the first elimination test, that of swimming 220 yards in four minutes. Of those successful at swimming, fully 50 per cent could not pass the stringent physical examination.

To be a life guard, Mr. O'Hare explained, the perfect physique of a bronzed Adonis is not necessary [although it is no handicap], but the physique you have must be in perfect condition. Even a slight color blindness eliminates you. There are, too, such minor details as being able to chin ten times without a halt, jump four feet in the air and swim 20 feet under water. Beaches open July 1.

99 HANDICAPPED GRADS WILL GET AID OF SCHOOLS

The board of education will attempt to aid physically handicapped high school graduates to make a satisfactory adjustment in the world after leaving school it was announced yesterday by L. J. Schloerb, head of the board's bureau of occupational research.

According to a recent preliminary school board survey, 99 members of the recent crowd of 14,500 high school graduates are suffering from major handicaps. Maj. Frank L. Beals, assistant superintendent in charge of special schools, estimates that when a more thorough survey is completed twice that number will be found to be in need of aid.

The types of handicaps and the number of pupils found suffering from each are paralysis, 17; bone infections, 22; cardiac ailments, 32; deafness, 19; amputations, 5, and congenital handicaps, 5.

Norway Gives Women Right to Hold Government Jobs

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

OSLO, Norway, June 20.—Both houses of parliament tonight completed action on a bill making women eligible for government posts under the same conditions as men. There was the qualification, however, that "women cannot be appointed as clergymen if the community objects."

600 TAKE TESTS FOR HIGH SCHOOL TEACHING JOBS

More than 600 teachers took examinations in twelve subjects for Chicago high school teaching positions yesterday at Calumet High school, 8131 May street. Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson said the eligible lists in the courses are either exhausted or the courses are new and that several appointments will be made next fall.

More than 1,100 high school graduates are expected to take the Chicago Normal college entrance examinations today and tomorrow at Calumet, Parker, and Lane Technical High schools. Henry S. Crane, secretary of the board of examiners, said the large number is attributed to the fact that this is the last group which can attend the college on a three year basis. Effective next year it will be on a four year basis.

Law Student Flunks Exam; Shoots 2 Bagdad Professors

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BAGDAD, Iraq, June 20.—Dr. Mahmud Azmi, principal of the Bagdad law school, and Dr. Hassan Abu Saud Saif, a lecturer, were shot and seriously injured today by a student who was infuriated by his failure to pass an examination. The student, Seyyid Daoud Bayat afterwards committed suicide.

SUIT FOR MISSING WILL COUNTY FUNDS DELAYED

Will county's suit to collect $600,000 missing from the accounts of Herbert R. Jones, county treasurer from 1930 to 1934, was continued indefinitly yesterday by County Judge Edwin L. Wilson at Joliet after one of the defense attorneys entered a motion to include a number of new defendants. It was reported unofficially, the county board was considering an offer of $50,000 to settle the case, said to have been made by the Columbia Casualty company which wrote Jones' bond.

Attorney William D. Heise, counsel for the surety company, entered in yesterday's motion, asked that Ben D. Jones, county treasurer from 1918-'22; George Bissel, treasurer from 1922-'26; Walter Krohn, treasurer from 1926-1930, and Conrad J. Worth, the present treasurer also be made defendants. He also asked that Will county, which is plaintif, be included among the defendants. Judge Wilson reserved ruling.

Herbert Jones and his uncle, Ben Jones, have testified to losses of part of the missing funds. The statute of limitations protects both Joneses from criminal action.

DYKSTRA ADVISES GRADUATES: KEEP AMERICAN IDEALS

1,500 Receive Diplomas at U. of Wisconsin.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., June 20.—[Special.]—The 1,500 University of Wisconsin graduates who received degrees today were warned in an address by President Clarence A. Dykstra not to give up ideals of freedom and democracy. Dykstra spoke at the eighty-fifth annual commencement, held in the university field house.

"You will give up accustomed freedoms as you undertake work in the world as it is," he said. "You will wonder whether you have been deceived by the educational processes through which you have come. You will be tempted to throw overboard what you may come to call the 'trappings of democracy,' and even your intellectual and moral right to remain an individual.

Warns Against Pitfalls.

"You may be tempted to solve your dilemma by adopting an alien formula, which for the moment seems ready made for the occasion. There are many proclaimed panaceas, some of which are now being tested on a large scale in various parts of the world. Watch them with interest, but with intelligence and discrimination.

"You will be told with insistent reiteration that down this road and under this slogan lies the way to peace and security. You will be asked to make a short cut. In such arrogance lies the beginning of evil. You must be patient and tolerant, but you must not be decoyed by labels."

In addition to the awarding of 1,500 academic degrees, honorary degrees were conferred on two sons and a daughter of Wisconsin. Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr. and Katharine F. Lenroot, chief of the federal children's bureau at Washington, received the doctor of laws, and Dr. Harry Steenbock, noted Wisconsin scientist, was awarded the doctor of science.

Governor Gives Greeting.

Greetings from the state were given by Gov. Phil La Follette.

"No one needs to remind you that you are going out into a troubled and unstable world," the governor said. "Our generation lives at one of those rare junctures in history where one epoch ends and another begins. History will say of our generation that we fumbled the most challenging opportunities, or it will say that we conquered the most baffling of problems—the search to satisfy man's perpetual longing for a rich and secure life."

The fieldhouse was filled to near capacity as nearly 10,000 parents, relatives, and friends of the graduates witnessed the exercises.

BROTHERS NAMED IN KILLING; SEIZE ONE, HUNT OTHER

After a quarrel with two brothers Peter Antonopoulos, 45 years old, was fatally wounded last night in his food shop at 1629 Madison street. Two witnesses, Charles Spanos, 50 years old, of 1426 Madison street, and John Pappas, also 50 years old, of 1036 North Richmond street, told police that Antonopoulos earlier in the evening had struck Mike Gianopolis of 1847 Adams street, a WPA worker, when Gianopolis refused to pay an $18 debt.

Shortly afterward, they said, Gianopolis' brother Harry, entered the shop and without a word drew a pistol and shot Antonopoulos. He died shortly afterward in the Garfield Park hospital. Police arrested Mike Gianopolis and are seeking his brother.

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. PETERKIN

Funeral services for Mrs. Jeanette Peterkin, 1500 Lake Shore drive, who was killed Saturday when a new hydroplane piloted by her son, Daniel Jr., 22 years old, overturned on Lake Geneva, were held yesterday in the Rosehill cemetery chapel. Mrs. Peterkin was the wife of Daniel Peterkin Sr., president of the Morton Salt company. Besides her husband and son, a daughter, Mrs. William O. Hunt, survives.

Seize Punchboards in Car; Raid Salesman's Customers

When policemen stopped the car of Clifford McDonald, 26 years old, 3618 North Marshfield avenue, in front of 3717 Fullerton avenue last night they found it loaded with punchboards and prizes for the lucky punchers. Clifford was arrested, and a search of his pockets brought to light a list of stores in which he had placed his merchandise. Squads from the Shakespeare avenue station raided eleven of the places, seized the boards and arrested the owners on charges of possessing gambling devices.

Head of Printing Company Sued for Separate Support

Mrs. Rose Baumgart, 928 Prairie avenue, Park Ridge, filed suit yesterday in Circuit court for separate maintenance from August W. Baumgart, head of the printing firm bearing his name. The bill alleged desertion on May 10, 1937. The couple has three children: Gilbert, Wilbur, and Warren.

Frank M. Fulton Will Is Admitted to Probate

The will of Frank M. Fulton, wholesale gasoline dealer and twice Republican candidate for congress from the third district, was admitted to probate yesterday. It provides that his estate valued at $200,000 go to the widow, Mrs. Cassie B. Fulton of 317 West Marquette road. Mr. Fulton died June 7.

BUSINESS OF WPA FORCE IS PICKING UP AT GOLF RANGE

Two weeks ago Joseph Wolf and George Wright opened a golf driving range of the stop and sock variety at 55th street and Cicero avenue. It seemed a likely spot and Messrs. Wolf and Wright were pleased with the location.

Hundreds of motorists, they noted, used the busy intersection. In addition the range was just north of the Chicago airport and near enough so that air travelers could while away time hitting golf balls.

All in all, business prospects looked rosy—but, as they complained to Chicago Lawn police yesterday, they had failed to reckon with the 4,000 Works Progress administration workers employed on the airport field. The workers, they lamented, not only used their range as a short cut to the street car but also picked up golf balls on the way. The two men said they had lost 800 balls in two weeks. The range at times was so crowded with WPA workers, they said, there was no room for the customers.

They were told that police would be stationed at the range to keep the workers off.

ABANDON BABY AT FLAT; POLICE HUNT PARENTS

A blue eyed baby girl about three months old, found on the vestibule floor of an apartment building at 5454 Byron street Sunday night, cooed happily at St. Vincent's orphanage yesterday while police sought some clew to her patronage.

The cries of the baby, apparently well cared for and wrapped in two blue blankets, aroused Mr. and Mrs. Paul Probell, who live on the second floor, late Sunday. At the orphanage, it was named Bernadine Johnson, for Lawrence Bernard Johnson, one of two policemen who brought the baby to St. Vincent's.

GERMAN EXILE JOINS FACULTY OF PRINCETON

Princeton, N. J., June 20.—(AP)—Appointment of Thomas Mann, self-exiled German Nobel prize winner, to be a lecturer in humanities at Princeton university was announced tonight by the university's board of trustees at its commencement meeting.

PARK BOARD ASKS RIGHT TO BUILD JETTIES IN LAKE

The application of the Chicago park district for permission to build sheet metal jetties to protect the lake shore from Montrose harbor to North avenue and from Cermak road to 55th street was taken under advisement yesterday by Capt. S. N. Karrick, district army engineer, after a public hearing in the postoffice building.

Park Supt. George T. Donaghue and Chief Engineer Ralph Burke explained the project is designed to beautify the city's lake front and will permit landscaping the piles of stone along the shore. The jetties will also make possible more bathing beaches, they said.

Col. A. A. Sprague of the city plan commission and state waterway engineers recommended approval of the plan. The only objection was voiced by Henry W. Lee, publisher of the Calumet Record, who said the jetties would interfere with harbor and terminal facilities.

MOVIE PRODUCER WARNS AGAINST DOUBLE FEATURE

Use of two motion picture "hits" in one program is creating a shortage of good pictures and will have a bad effect on the motion picture business, George J. Schaefer, vice president and general manager of United Artists, said yesterday at the opening session of the organization's convention at the Drake hotel.

"Exhibitors must be more mindful of their responsibility to the producer, especially in regard to pictures of importance," Schaefer said. "This not only applies to the number of days of extended playing time to give producers maximum results based on box office returns, but pertains even more so to the double feature situation today."

Schaefer said that had theater exhibitors in December played hit pictures a second week or even a third week, they would now have four or five big attractions available for distribution.

ADMITS SETTING 2 FIRES; HELD IN QUIZ ON OTHERS

Edward Ronjak, 6754 South Honoré street, was held yesterday to learn whether he had any connection with recent fires in the far south and southwest parts of the city. He admitted setting fire to two private garages at 1839 and 1847 West Marquette road last Sunday, according to Capt. William Collins of Chicago Lawn station. He was arrested after he was seen leaving home with paper before the fires and then returned without the paper later.

YACHTSMEN TOLD TO DRESS SHIP AT FETE JULY 10

Commodore George W. Schaeffer of the Lake Michigan Yachting association announced yesterday that all members will dress ship on July 10, Navigation day. A fleet of sail and power craft will escort the U. S. S. Wilmette off shore that night during the radio broadcast of the recreational facilities offered by the city's twenty-eight miles of improved water front.

The association includes nine yacht and motor boat clubs in Chicago. This summer, Commodore Schaeffer said, about 5,000 freshwater sailors will be using the yachting facilities available on the lake front. There are 1,921 vessels registered to Chicagoans using waterways in this district.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Elizabeth F. Downs.

Mrs. Elizabeth F. Downs, 72 years old, the only licensed woman embalmer in Aurora, died yesterday at her home, 314 Fox street. Born in Chicago in a little house at Wells and Van Buren streets which was destroyed in the 1871 fire, Mrs. Downs moved to Aurora in 1886. Surviving are her husband, John T. Downs, a funeral director, and three sons, Albert T., Donald M., and Ward J. Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday in St. Mary's church, Aurora, with interment in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Chester M. Houston.

Chester M. Houston, former tax expert for the Lake county tax board, died in the Lake County General hospital yesterday, where he had been a patient since January. Houston, who was 51 years old, lived at 1109 North avenue, Waukegan. He was with the tax board for 14 years until 1935, and later was chief clerk for the board of review. He is survived by his widow, Florence, who is purchasing agent for the county. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

John F. Black.

John F. Black, 76 years old, of Winthrop Harbor, died yesterday in the Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan after a long illness. Mr. Black was a retired mining engineer who was credited with important discoveries of nickel in the Canadian fields. He had lived in Winthrop Harbor for several years. His widow, a son, and a daughter survive. Funeral services will be held at 605 Shiloh boulevard, Zion, at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

William R. Spratt Jr.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—(AP)—William R. Spratt Jr., 47 years old, chief of the securities commission's investment trust investigation, died of pneumonia today. He was taken ill after an abdominal operation. Spratt, formerly a New York City accountant, was a native of Chicago. His widow, Mrs. Gladys M. Spratt, and a daughter, Mrs. Constance Grabow, are Chicagoans.

Charles H. Jarmuth.

Charles H. Jarmuth, 49 years old, auditor of the International Harvester company at Moline, died there last night in the city hospital after a fall. Mr. Jarmuth formerly lived in Chicago. Surviving are his widow, the former Louise C. Schloehofer, and two children, Earl and Mrs. Dorothy Campbell.

Edward M. Crone.

Bronxville, N. Y., June 20.—[Special.]—Edward M. Crone, secretary of the Texas corporation and several of its affiliated oil companies, died tonight of a cerebral hemorrhage which resulted from injuries incurred Friday in a fall. He was 45 years old.

SHIRLEY VISITS PANDA, BUT SHE IS VERY CAREFUL

Shirley Temple, her curls concealed behind a heavy hairnet, devoted her fourth day in Chicago yesterday to the popcorn, soft drinks and animals at the Chicago Zoological park in Brookfield.

The child star, who at the age of 9 has an answer for every human quip, found herself somewhat at sea in the presence of such rarities as Mei-Mei, the baby giant panda, and Sultan, the prized baby gorilla. She approached them with caution.

Even when, the envy of the 500 or so children who trailed her entourage, she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Temple, were taken into the panda house by Robert Bean, assistant director, she drew back warily.

"Go on, Shirley," her mother urged. "Touch her. She won't bite you."

Shirley patted the panda hesitantly, then backed away and took pictures of the animal.

HIS HEAVY SUGAR GETS HENRY INTO A SWEET MESS

Henry Hawkins, a young colored member of the CCC camp near Evanston, called a taxi yesterday. "I want a cab to take my sugar to town," he said. The cab dispatcher told John Turner, also colored, to drive out and bring in a girl from the CCC camp. But when John reached there Henry appeared toting a 200 pound sack of sugar.

He directed Turner to take it to his own home. Henry said he would call for it later. But it was the Evanston police who called for the sugar at 1836 Brown avenue after Lieut. John O'Brien of the CCC camp had traced it. The sweet stuff belonged to Uncle Sam, not Henry. Turner protested that he had acted innocently, but last night he and Henry were locked up together.

Streptococcic Sore Throat Takes Life of Girl of 12

For nearly a week Ruth Broadbent, 12 years old, had suffered a severe sore throat. Yesterday the pains grew suddenly worse. Her throat swelled shut and she gasped for breath. Her mother, Mrs. Joseph Broadbent, wife of a WPA worker, hurried with the girl from their home at 4030 North California avenue to the Martha Washington hospital. Ruth was dead when they arrived. Physicians said her ailment had been streptococci throat.

FOURTH OF REP. HULL'S ESTATE TO GO FOR 1¼ MILLION TAXES

More than one-quarter of the estate of the late Morton D. Hull, former Illinois congressman and state senator, will be absorbed by state and federal inheritance taxes, it was disclosed yesterday with the filing of the tax statement in county court. Mr. Hull died last Aug. 21 in his summer home at Bennington, Vt. His residence was 4855 Woodlawn avenue.

The petition lists the value of the estate at $4,779,031. Of this, $803,700 is claimed by the government and $448,277 by the state in federal and state inheritance taxes.

Under the terms of Mr. Hull's will the estate is left to a son, Denison, after bequests to charities, friends, relatives and servants.

Watchman Kills Negro Youth, Wounds Another

One colored youth was shot to death and another was wounded last night when a watchman, Antonia Barbaria, caught them in a vacant hotel building at 119 East 18th street, which he guards. He said they were stealing plumbing fixtures. Dan Mitchell, 16 years old, of 1122 Washburne avenue, was killed and Clarence Summerall, 17 years old, of 6201 South Ada street, was shot in the arm and captured.

EDUCATOR FIGHTS BRITISH PLAN TO SLICE PALESTINE

JERUSALEM, June 20.—(AP)—The British proposal to partition Palestine for establishment of independent Jewish and Arab states was attacked today by Prof. Benjamin Akzin of the Portia Law School of Boston.

Appearing at the first public hearing by a British commission studying the plan, the professor said the Arab state would conquer the Jewish state at the first opportunity. He argued that neither of the proposed states could support itself and that the Jewish state could not meet the need for world-wide Jewish migration.

Akzin, director of the political section of the new Zionist organization, favored continuation of the present British mandate over Palestine in revised form. He proposed a ten-year plan for Palestine and Transjordan in which 1,500,000 Jews would be permitted to immigrate.

While the hearings went on British troops were on the trail of a band of 300 which crossed into Palestine from the Lebanese republic and killed three villagers at Hurfeish, near Safed.

Parents Regain Custody of Son, 9; Gone 7 Years

John Sus and his wife of 625 Grenshaw street yesterday regained custody of their son, Richard, 9 years old. He has been cared for during the last seven years by Mrs. Sus' niece, Mrs. Tillie De Salvo of 707 De Koven street. During that time the parents paid for the boy's board and clothes. Recently the parents asked for return of the boy and Mrs. De Salvo refused to give him up and the parents filed suit to regain custody of the boy. In court yesterday Mrs. De Salvo gave the boy to his parents and the suit was dismissed.

Mrs. William T. Armstrong is a member of the West Suburban auxiliary of the Chicago Maternity center which is giving a benefit this afternoon in the gardens of the home of Mrs. George F. Christian in River Forest. Provision is being made to cover the garden with a canopy in case of rain.

Church Group to Have Opera Night Benefit

BY JUDITH CASS.

PLANS for one of the early autumn's largest and most gala benefits are being announced by the woman's board of the Church Mission of Help, of which Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson is president. The board has taken over the opening performance, on Oct. 3, at the Auditorium theater of the San Carlo Opera company. The mission will share in the proceeds, the new crop of debutantes will receive their introduction into the duties of ushering and selling flowers, or cigarettes, or programs and Chicagoans will receive their first taste of grand opera for the coming season.

This will not be the first time that the mission and the San Carlo have worked together, for the mission has sponsored springtime openings of the opera company for the last few years. Mrs. F. C. Benson-Belliss, wife of the rector of St. Paul's church, is general chairman of the event, succeeding Mrs. Dudley S. Stark, wife of the rector of St. Chrysostom's. Mrs. Stark and Mrs. Duncan H. Browne, wife of the rector of St. James,' already have sold a number of boxes for the performance before going east for summer holidays. Mrs. Browne goes to Wianno, on Cape Cod, and Mrs. Stark goes to York Harbor, Me.

Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson is honorary chairman of the benefit. Miss Valeria Harris, who will be in charge of ushers; Mrs. Wells Martin, who is looking after the programs, and Mrs. H. Stuart Stone and Mrs. Fremont Chandler all have duties that will occupy their spare time during the summer. The mission is a specialized organization of the Episcopal church working chiefly with young women. Mrs. Robinson founded the Chicago branch about 15 years ago.

Ballard Wedding Will Be Quiet One.

Because of the death of her grandfather, Ellis Ames Ballard, in Philadelphia last week, the wedding of Miss Elisabeth Ballard and Frank F. Fowle Jr. is to be a quiet one at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon next Monday in the chapel of Christ church, Winnetka.

Mary Ballard will be her sister's only attendant. William C. Fowle, who will be married next month to Miss Antoinette Treadway of Williamstown, Mass., will be his brother's best man. There will be no reception, but instead Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Ballard, parents of the bride, will entertain at their home for the young people who were to have been in the wedding party.

Among the out of town guests coming to the wedding will be Miss Treadway and two cousins of the bride, Samuel Duryea Jr. of New York and Miss Jean Ballard of Philadelphia, whose debut this month has been postponed because of her grandfather's death.

When Mr. Fowle and his bride return from their wedding trip they will spend the rest of the summer at the Ballards' home in Winnetka while the Ballards are at their summer home at Chebeague, Me. In the autumn they will live on the north side.

Relatives Arrive For Tracy Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Rossmoore of Baldwin Harbor, N. Y., and their daughter, Helen, 10 years old, are arriving today to attend the wedding on Friday of the Rossmoores' son, William, to Miss Anne Tracy. Helen will be the flower girl at the ceremony, which is taking place at 4 o'clock at the home of Miss Tracy's mother, Mrs. Raymond L. Redheffer, and Mr. Redheffer, at 257 East Delaware place.

Howard Rossmoore, who will be his brother's best man, arrived last Friday for a week of prenuptial gayety and so did the maid of honor, Miss Katherine Proctor of Proctor, Vt. Mrs. Thomas Byrnes, formerly Miss Virginia Howell, will be the matron of honor. Joseph Redheffer and George B. Everett Jr. will usher and the Rev. Ray Everett Carr of St. Peter's Episcopal church will officiate.

Edward C. Gueroult to Wed Eastern Girl.

From Glenridge, N. J., has come the announcement of the engagement

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Listen, Kids

Hollywood, Cal., June 20.—A few days ago, a Boston professor urged members of a graduating class to forget their ambitions and get themselves on a government pay roll. The class orator at New York university sounded a similar refrain. Now, I've seen a lot more of life than either of these two speakers, have traveled more widely, met more varieties of people, observed life much more intimately, so let me say something to you who have just been graduated from high schools and colleges.

Five hundred thousand were graduated from American colleges this month. Are the odds 500,000 to 1 against you, then? Certainly not. Fifty per cent of that total will disqualify themselves by laziness, lack of ambition, refusal to accept responsibility, because I've found that half of the world is as intent on not succeeding as the other half is intent on success. So your opposition is sliced in half, immediately. Sickness, temperament, liquor, gambling will cut heavily into the remainder.

The best dramatization of what I'm telling you is the Kentucky Derby. Last year 110 horses were nominated for the Derby. These nominees were well trained and coddled in every possible way that great trainers could devise. Of the 110 horses only ten went to post. It's the same in everyday life. The odds are always less when the chips are on the line.

So don't worry about the opposition and competition that will be offered you. It will be much less than you expect. And don't worry either if you won't be able to go to college, now that you have finished high school. University of Southern California recently conferred a degree of master of science on a boy who never even finished high school, Walt Disney.

It wasn't so long ago that Disney and his brother Roy didn't have enough money to eat decently. They'd go into a restaurant and order one dinner, with two sets of knives, forks, and spoons. Then they'd share the one order of meat, the order of vegetables, the one order of bread and butter. Success never has been easy for anybody.

You'd think, from the present goings-on, that these days are so extraordinary that the present generation should have medals struck off in its honor. It's not so, the successful men and women of this motion picture industry all had to work their way up from poor homes. Times always have been tough for the poor.

Paul Muni was a poor boy. Sam Goldwyn was a glove salesman. David O. Selznick is the son of a rich man who went broke. Louis B. Mayer, power at M-G-M, recalls when his family didn't have enough to eat. Disney was ridiculed and shoved around by shrewder business men. Joan Crawford came from a poor family. So did Claudette Colbert, Dick Powell, Ronald Colman, Edward G. Robinson, Jim Cagney.

Had any of them been quitters, you wouldn't know of them today. They had ambition and courage. They were tenacious. Nobody shoved them upstairs. Nobody created jobs for them or told them how to hang on once the job was obtained. So nobody can tell you what to do or how to do it. You've got to learn that yourself; you've got to adapt yourself to conditions, and that is a personal issue.

If you listened to the radio, in recent years you heard the broadcast of two fights, the Joe Louis-Max Baer fight, and the Henry Armstrong-Barney Ross fight. Baer quit, and you heard the referee count him out while Baer rested on one knee. In the Armstrong-Ross fight, Ross took a terrible lacing, but refused to let his handlers or the referee stop the fight.

In life you can take the count on one knee, as Max Baer did, or you can imitate Barney Ross. You can quit or you can carry on. I'll let you decide which of the pair to emulate.

These things I know, from observation: That you'll win no blue ribbons while you're on one knee. That the pages of history aren't penned by quitters. That it isn't sufficient to call "Enough," just because the going gets rough. That nobody ever has died from missing a few meals. That you spend most of your life worrying about things that never happen.

But keep your chin up, you kids. This is a pretty swell country and everything is going to be all right. Don't doubt that for one second, despite the propaganda of those pleaders of special causes.

You are living in an age that is distinguished for the greatest liberalism that ever has been focused on the American scene. Legislators are occupying themselves with the problems of the poor, which didn't happen years ago. There are CCC camps and the WPA, the world is interested in relieving distress in much greater measure than ever before. This is encouraging.

So to all of you kids who are starting out, don't be overwhelmed by surface indications. The weather forecast still is weather clear, track fast, and the rewards are greater than ever before. Don't ask too much of life, that's all. In the final analysis, it you get just a little success, and a lot of love, they'll hold up your hand as the winner.

Button Gadgets Give Gayety to Summer Attire

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Button collectors can now wear bunches of their favorite trivia for decoration. Until you've seen a new showing of button bunches masquerading as the newest flippancies in costume jewelry you will not have realized fully the potentialities of this utilitarian necessity. Dozens of colored, smooth wooden buttons are clustered into impressive appearing clips or rattle nicely in effective bracelets and matching short necklaces.

The colors are tremendously successful as pickups for one color costumes. Cerise, vivid and gay; a cypress green, the coolest green used in years; a pinky pink, old blue, yellow, and a pale beige that looks like thick cream compose the assortment.

They're real buttons, with holes and a sort of a shank extra that allows for the stringing stunt. They're light in weight.

With black linen, coarse black costume net, with simply tailored chiffon in brown, green, blue, white, or colors, this costume gadgetry is the fashion answer for something amusing as well as colorful and devoid of any dizzy surrealism. If you're weary of bugs, animal heads, gaudy Mexican stuff, sick to your soul of whimsy, fantasy, and the like, you'll go in for good old fashioned button bag charm—dozens of neat, small unassuming wood buttons dyed by an artistic wizard in the loveliest of summer contrast colors.

The clips are by far the best of the show. They'll stick to your smartest lapel with a good amount of individuality. The bracelets come in second place, and the necklaces also give a good account of themselves.

Good Morning!

Don't glance at the title and then sheer away! Because this is no modern gangster picture. Far from it. It's a lusty adaptation of Robert Louis Stevenson's story, "Kidnapped," located in the Scotland of—1747, I believe—when rebellious clans still warred against English rule and a price was on the head of their leader, Alan Breck.

It is with this doughty and charming fellow's adventures that the tale is mainly concerned, though closely woven into the action is the chronicle of young David Balfour, a loyalist, who finds it hard to stick to his opinions in the face of his love and admiration for the dashing rebel with whom he makes such strange connections.

Lending a soft touch to the vivid tapestry of happenstances and dangers which beset the lives of man and boy is a thread of romance, having to do with the love between Alan and gentle Jean MacDonald. Jean, engaged to another man whom she has never loved, forgets all former vows and clings to Breck through thick and thin.

The last reels are suspenseful, for Alan is caught at last and sentenced to die on the gallows. . . . He finally is saved through the intervention of David, now a recognized Scottish nobleman. . . . [I guess I'd better leave the rest of the tale for the movie to unravel.]

The piece is fascinatingly backgrounded. It is atmospheric, and directorial maneuvers were skillful. As for the acting, you'll be delighted with it all—especially, I think, will Warner Baxter, Arleen Whelan, C. Aubrey Smith, and Halliwell Hobbes please you.

See you soon.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

CANNES, June 20.—[Special.]—The duke and duchess of Windsor have chartered the 200 ton steam yacht Julzar for an Adriatic cruise in August. Among the guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rogers. The Julzar measures 196 feet overall and has six state rooms. It carries a crew of twelve.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the best of all eye dramatizers is a mascara made of kohl. It gives color and luster to the lashes and is smudge proof. One new shade is colorless—not a darkener, but a flattering dressing.

Some of us women would be pretty sad looking lassies if mascara hadn't been invented. Cleopatra had a noble idea when she decided that a touch of kohl dramatized eyes.

A de luxe mascara—one of the best we've ever found—is made of oriental kohl—made, incidentally, on the outskirts of France. The texture is marvelous and if we didn't like it for anything else we'd cherish it for the elegant brush that comes with it. This has a double row of bristles and you can really do an expert job of brushing brows and lashes with it. We feel that this is important. Brows and lashes need brushing just as the hair does. In fact, a woman with the most beautiful brows we have ever seen actually gives hers a couple of licks night and morning with her hairbrush!

But it's the mascara itself we want to tell you about. It won't smart or irritate if it does get into your eyes. And it's beautifully smudge-proof. We don't know whether you could emerge from swimming with it unsmudged, but we do know it doesn't get all runny from perspiration or tears.

This comes in a whole flock of shades. One new one in chestnut is a beauty. Blondes and red heads will be crazy about it. And there is actually a shade called "neutral." This is without color—really just a lustrous dressing for the lashes. Women who find that darkening just doesn't work for them will like this. It gives "body" to the lashes, and a gleaming grooming that enhances a makeup.

This won't bead and won't dry or crack the lashes. As a matter of fact, we think this kohl-base mascara is actually good for them!

Seek Half Million in Campaign for Provident Hospital

Graham Aldis, chairman of the Provident Hospital Development committee, announced yesterday the start of a campaign to raise $500,000 for a five year operating fund for the city's only all-Negro hospital.

The Julius Rosenwald Fund has contributed $125,000 on the basis of $1 for every $3 raised from other sources. Negro physicians on the hospital staf have pledged $10,000 and a group of colored citizens is working on the south side to raise a like amount.

200 Guests See Miss Bass Wed Marshall Field

East Walpole, Mass., June 20.—(AP)—Miss Joanne Bass, daughter of a former New Hampshire governor, and Marshall Field Jr., member of a prominent Chicago and New York family, were married today.

The Rt. Rev. John T. Dallas, Episcopal bishop of New Hampshire, performed the single ring ceremony at the Union Congregational church.

A reception was held at Endean, estate of Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, the bride's grandmother, before the couple left on a honeymoon.

Mrs. Frank Adair Bensal of Green Springs Valley, Md., a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Edward E. Farley of New York was best man. Listed as an usher, but not attending, was John Roosevelt, Field's Harvard classmate, who was married last Saturday at Nahant.

The bridemaids were Mrs. Anthony Bliss of New York, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Diane Bird and Mrs. Joanne Shaw Parker of Walpole, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. John T. Harrison and Miss Margaret Altschul of New York.

The ushers were Archibald Foster and Volney W. Foster of Lake Forest, Ill.; George Baty Blake, Reginald Boardman, John Lowell Lyman of Boston, Charles S. McVeigh, John Graham and Anthony Bliss of New York, Thomas W. Bullitt of Louisville, Ky., Donald M. Kellar of Garden City, N. Y., and Perkins Bass of Peterborough, N. H., brother of the bride.

The small Union church, its chancel filled with small trees and its altar banked with white peonies, was filled with 200 guests.

A picture gown of white tulle was worn by the bride, given in marriage by her father. The gown was made with a fitted bodice, with tiny ruffles around the neckline, and long, tight sleeves. The very full skirt and the long, tulle train were finished around the hemline by a wide tulle ruffle. The veil, also of tulle, was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. Miss Bass carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

All of her attendants were dressed alike in cool frocks of pale green marquisette made with a square neckline, short puff sleeve, and full, circular skirts. In place of hats they wore green garlands entwined with lilies of the valley. All carried mixed bouquets of white flowers, and each wore the broach, a lover's bow knot in two shades of yellow gold, given by the bride to her attendants.

The bride, daughter of former Gov. Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire, attended the Ethel Walker school at Simsbury, Conn. The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Diego Suarez and Marshall Field of New York, was graduated from St. Paul's school, Concord, N. H. Like John Roosevelt, for whom he ushered last Saturday, Field will receive his degree from Harvard Thursday "in absentia."

The Housewife

Some fine cooks still believe there is nothing more delicious than fresh, home-made bread. For these skilled housewives there is a new bread pan. It's cylindrical and fluted, so that the bread comes out looking like a million dollars. And there's a tiny mica window in one end through which you can watch the rising process. This pan is not inexpensive, but it's well worth the price asked.

SYNOPSIS.

On board the S. S. Panama Queen, sailing from Los Angeles via Panama to New York, are Anne Sydney, who has a part in a Broadway play, and her crippled and embittered sister, Mena; Arnold Vernon, rich English motion picture producer, and his coldly beautiful wife, Claire. Isobel Butler has a stateroom next to the Vernon suite and hopes to get in pictures through him. Alex Reed, young surgeon, is returning to work after two years' illness.

INSTALMENT II.

HER FIRST REAL ADVENTURE.

There are few really happy people anywhere. But Alex Reed had everything he wanted. His health restored. Work waiting for him in New York. The work he loved best to do. He heard faintly the musical chime—four bells. 2 a. m. But he did not go down to bed. A night like this in a lean white ship on a smooth southern ocean was not to be wasted lying in a small room unconscious. He settled deeper in his chair, searched for his tobacco and lit his pipe.

Mrs. Panting however, immediately below him—a long way down on D deck, decided she had practically nothing she wanted. She didn't like her small room with its one port down a little alley and she didn't like the way the steward had stacked her luggage. She could not stand in that alley and open her trunk in comfort with her bulky figure. Well—the steward would jolly well have to come in and move it.

Furthermore she was very put out by the absence of a passenger list waiting for her on her dressing table. The last ship she sailed on had provided that small service. Not that strange names could mean very much, but at least one had an inkling of what to expect—whether the passengers were in families, or ones and twos, where they came from and so on.

Gertrude Panting had been a widow for almost two years now, free to travel and indulge her whims for the first time in a managing but frustrated life. Now she lived vicariously on the lives of others. However, she enjoyed it. Her needs were small. Movement, plenty of spicy gossip, a great deal of food and a minimum of sleep. Suddenly it occurred to her that if there were no stewards about at this hour to move her trunk, there ought to be. She went to the bell panel and stood with her finger pressed down on all the bells.

THE FIRST DAY.

Anne Sydney was up long before breakfast. She had never been to sea before, not even the short trip to Catalina. She dressed herself in a sleeveless blue shirt, white culotte and sandals, leaving her bright hair to blow free. Mena decided to have breakfast in the stateroom. She had never been to sea before either, but she informed Anne that fourteen days would give her plenty of time to get tired of being mewed up on a ship, and she hadn't the slightest ambition to hurry up on deck.

It was a divine morning with a high vivid sky dotted with fast moving white clouds. Anne walked swiftly round the promenade deck taking stock of the few people also up early. They seemed good tempered and agreeable, judging by their voices and their laughter. The sea was a little choppy now, small dark blue waves capped with foam. A cool salt breeze lifted Anne's hair and billowed her blouse.

Suddenly she felt blithe and carefree. It wasn't her fault that Mena had determined to be miserable. She had done all she could. She wouldn't let her sister's embittered nature spoil this, her first real adventure.

Mena was returning to California almost as soon as they reached New York, and then Anne would not see her again or have to listen to her querulous complaints for months, perhaps even for a couple of years. Poor Mena, it was not her lame leg—an aftermath of infantile paralysis—which was her handicap, but her own queer twisted disposition. "If only I could make her see it just once," murmured Anne, unaware that she was speaking aloud—"then she could forget about her personal misfortunes and begin to live."

For the second time she heard a bugle blowing and saw the other promenaders disappearing from the deck. Breakfast. She went below to the cool gilt and white dining saloon with its cretonne covered chairs and glittering flower decked tables. The chief steward sat at a desk outside the entrance and arranged the passengers' seating at the tables with the suave determination of a foreign diplomat. He informed Anne that for the present she was at the purser's table, unless she had other desires and until she wished to leave it. "That nice Mr. Flagg?" inquired Anne.

The chief steward looked up from his table plans and saw Anne's eager lovely face which already held the promise of her blazing future like an intangible radiation of light from it. The old man saw so many faces that one seldom made an impression on him. This one did. He thought he had never seen a human being with such an alive trusting look in all his born days. For a brief moment he felt to her as to a daughter and hoped everything would go right for such an eager, ardent, fearless young scrap of humanity. His rather severe face broke into a smile.

"That nice Mr. Flagg as you say Miss Sydney. I think you'll like it there."

Anne found her way to the oblong table for eight near to the buffet on the starboard side. A waiting steward drew out her chair and handed her the voluminous menu. The purser was not at his place. There was only one other passenger seated at the table—a middle-aged lady with a red and green bandana tied around her head and a pair of pince-nez dangling incongruously from a diamond safety pin on her large bosom.

Anne gave her order and turned her attention to the lady who was now speaking to her. "My name is Gertrude Panting, Mrs. Panting. What's yours? For I see we might as well introduce ourselves to each other."

"Anne Sydney. How do you do, Mrs. Panting?"

"I'm fine. A little annoyed however. That dictator out there tried to tell me the purser's table was full up. Why, I took a place here when I booked my passage. I always sit at the purser's table. I did on my first trip, so I go on doing it. It brings me luck. Do you play games?"

Anne was startled. "What kind of games?"

"Deck games of course. Shuffleboard. Ping-pong. Tennis. Quoits. I shall volunteer to be sports secretary. I always am."

"O, I see. Do they have to have a sports secretary?"

"Certainly. How else could they organize the passengers to play in the competitions?" I hope you'll put your name down. You look lively enough to be good."

An instinct of self-preservation saved Anne from her inexperience. "I don't think I will, thank you. I like games, but I don't like my time organized—I mean not on a vacation. I'll have all the discipline I can stand when get to New York."

Gertrude Panting's small greenish eyes bored into her avidly. "Indeed. What are you going to do when you get to New York?"

It was as if a door in Anne's warm open-hearted nature closed to this intruding stranger. "Study," she said laconically, but truthfully.

"Study what?"

"I haven't quite decided yet, Mrs. Panting," she said, not so truthfully. "I've had all the breakfast I want—so if you'll excuse me——"

Anne found Mena in a better mood, sitting up in bed with a loaded breakfast tray on her knees. Anne was inwardly pleased, but made no comment on the sudden enthusiasm for food shown by her sister. She helped herself to what remained of Mena's toast. "A prosy old bore drove me away from the table," she explained. "There was no one else there, being the first morning, so I got the brunt of it."

"We can have a table to ourselves," said Mena. "When I get up I will see the chief steward and arrange it."

"Not for me Mena darling. I want to talk to people even if they're funny. I like them. I'm interested in them. I'd stay too if I were you. Some new people will do you good——"

"O, well, if you're not changing——"

"Wait till lunchtime Mena. They'll all be there then. We can see the others. Nobody can possibly be seasick in this weather."

"Is it nice outside?"

"Swell. A sky like a melted turquoise and clouds like a flock of clipper ships racing before the wind. The sun's hitting on all cylinders, but there's a peach of a breeze—so it isn't too hot."

"Sounds ideal," said Mena satirically. "All right. I'll get up and you can show me around the ship. Guess you know the layout by now—you're into everything."

Warm Bath Is Quieting to a Nervous Child

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

I'm a great believer in the warm bath. I've seen it solve many a behavior problem. I've seen it loosen up many a keyed-up child, rest many a tired one. A warm bath is one of the best pieces of practical psychology I know of.

A small boy I was close to hadn't been very well. He seemed not to be able to go to sleep for such a long time after going to bed that when he did finally drop off he was restless, and not refreshed in the morning. Sometimes when this seemed to be the way things were going, his mother drew a warm bath, softened the bathroom light a little, and quietly bathed and powdered him, then put on fresh pajamas and tucked him in all over again. It worked like a charm.

If your small child hasn't been sleeping well, give the warm bath before he has had his supper, and make the period after it a quietly interesting one—with a familiar book or story, perhaps. Or let your child have his supper specially early, [for digestion's sake—before bathing]; then give the warm bath just before bed, with perhaps a small cupful of warm milk and a piece of zwieback or something else crisp and light before he's tucked in.

Many mothers habitually give their young children the regular bath earlier in the day than this. If you've been noticing end-of-the-day "naughtiness," it may be due to overexcitement, tension of some other sort, or fatigue. Try a different bath plan. Use the warm bath at the psychological moment in some such way as I've mentioned, where it will prevent this sort of behavior. If you do a little watching, you'll soon find out just when that psychological moment is.

With the convalescent child the warm bath works wonders, too—in the way they feel as well as in the way they act.

Generally speaking, more of children's difficult behavior than we realize is due to tenseness. That is why the warm bath is good—it relaxes.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This comparative newcomer to the quilt world is a charming pieced block based on the early nine patch design. Already it has given the old "Mystic Maze" design serious competition in the field of maze patterns and also those who prefer quilts of the all-over variety or those set together with bands between the blocks. Blue and white form a favorite color choice for this pattern, which is popular for men's rooms. Only thirty pieced blocks are required and these, set together with 3 inch white bands between blocks and a 3 inch border around the quilt, produce a coverlet measuring 88 by 105 inches.

of Miss Mary Elizabeth Morgaridge, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morgaridge of Glenridge, to Edward Charles Gueroult, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Edward Gueroult of 399 Fullerton parkway.

Miss Morgaridge, who attended Pine Manor college, is spending the summer with her uncle, John Morgaridge, in the Morgaridge family's 100 year old home in Sterling, Ill. Mr. Gueroult, who is a fourth generation Chicagoan, is a graduate of De Paul university and a member of the Black Horse troop. His great-grandfather edited the first French newspaper in Chicago, "L'Amerique."

The wedding will take place in the fall.

Women Help Plan Tavern Anniversary.

In the ten years of its existence the Tavern club has given many parties, some stag and some with feminine guests, but never before have the men had a women's committee helping them with arrangements. For the tenth anniversary celebration on Friday the men of the entertainment committee have asked the wives of about two dozen members to assist in making the party the success that every one anticipates it will be.

Mrs. William C. Boyden is chairman of the women's committee and a few of those working with her are Mrs. Wirt Morton, Mrs. John Root, Mrs. Noel Flint, Mrs. Roger Faherty, Mrs. John Wentworth, Mrs. Perry Kenly and Mrs. Edward V. Platt. The celebration on the 24th will be "a marine adventure on the S. S. Theodore Roosevelt," starting from the boat's usual docking place at the foot of the Michigan avenue bridge at 7 o'clock.

If the bolder spirits in the club's membership have their way, the guests on the cruise will go through a King Neptune ceremony similar to the rites for travelers who cross the equator for the first time. Alfred MacArthur, president of the club, who is the favorite choice for Neptune, however, is leading the opposition to the proposal. Those who go on the cruise will be able to board the boat at 6:30 o'clock. The boat will leave at 7:30 o'clock.

On the evening of June 28, the actual anniversary date, "all survivors of the housewarming of ten years ago are urged to assemble, without women guests, for a meditative dinner in the Edgar Miller room on the 26th floor."

More June Weddings of Interest Today.

Several weddings of interest are on today's calendar, two in Chicago and two in the east. Miss Dorothy Wegg, daughter of David Spencer Wegg of New York, and Miss Hope Hamilton Kaufman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Kaufman of the Congress hotel, are the Chicago brides.

Miss Wegg, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Russell Wegg, will become the bride of George Walker Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alden K. Morgan of 209 Lake Shore drive, at 4:30 o'clock at St. James' church, the Rev. Duncan H. Browne officiating. Following the ceremony the families and a few close friends will gather at Mr. and Mrs. Wegg's to speed Mr. Morgan and his bride on their wedding trip.

Donald Wegg will give his niece in marriage. Her sister, Miss Helen Wegg, and Mr. Morgan's sister, Miss Elizabeth Morgan, will be the bridesmaids. Milton Reach of Springfield, Mass., will be the best man, and Mr. Morgan's brothers, John and Kendrick Morgan, will usher.

Few Will Witness Kaufman Wedding.

Miss Kaufman and Gordon Raymond Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hugo Smith of Detroit, will be married at 4:30 o'clock in the gold room of the Congress, with only relatives and a few close friends at the ceremony and the reception following. The Rev. Clifford Le Duc will officiate.

For something old, the bride will wear a diamond necklace and pearl pendant that was worn by her mother, the former Hope Hamilton of New York, at her wedding to Mr. Kaufman. It was given to Mrs. Kaufman by the late Mrs. George Gould, a cousin of her mother, Mrs. William A. Hamilton.

Mrs. Hamilton has come from New York for the wedding. Also here from out of town are Mr. Kaufman's sister, Mrs. Samuel A. Morrison, and his niece, Mrs. Mary-Louise Kaufman of New York, and some cousins of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald MacKinnon of Oshkosh, Wis., and Mrs. Lucretia Tilden and her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Parker, of Lakeside, Mich. The bridegroom's aunt, Miss Thyra Smith, and his sister, Miss Elsie Smith, have come from Detroit.

Miss Marie-Elinor Redding of New York will be Miss Hamilton's only attendant. Robert M. Wright of Detroit will be the best man, and Harry L. Kaufman Jr., Gordon Moye, James Clogher of Boston, Bernard Barosa, and Arthur Smith will usher.

Mr. Smith and his bride will make their home in Detroit.

Fleming-McVoy Nuptials in New York.

The wedding of Miss Mary Louise Fleming, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Frederic S. Fleming of 1 Lexington avenue, New York, to Eugene J. McVoy, son of Mrs. Fortunato Jerace of Chicago and Rome, Italy, and the late Eugene J. McVoy, will take place this afternoon in Trinity chapel in New York, the bride's father officiating. A small reception will follow at the Fleming home.

Mr. McVoy's sisters, Mrs. Walter Kohler Jr. of Kohler, Wis., Mrs. Sidney S. Gorham Jr., and Mrs. William H. Fellowes are in New York for the wedding. Mr. Gorham and Mr. Kohler will be among the ushers. A cousin of the bridegroom, John Paul Aymond of Chicago, will be the best man. Thomas Fleming will give his sister away.

Miss Carol Montgomery of Chicago and Miss Jayne Furlong of Evanston will be among the bridesmaids. Mr. McVoy and his bride are sailing today in the Europa for a honeymoon abroad.

In Madison, Conn., this afternoon Miss Josephine Jerome Sands, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin Jerome Sands and the late Dr. Sands, will become the bride of Thomas Ewart Marston, son of Mrs. Thomas Brunton Marston and the late Mr. Marston of Lake Forest. The ceremony is taking place in the 100 year old First Congregational church, the Rev. Dr. Wallace Mast officiating. A reception will follow at the Meadowlark, the summer residence of the bride's family.

The first of a series of luncheon and bridge parties to be given by members of the board of the Woman's Symphony orchestra will be held today at the Wilmette home of Mrs. James G. Shakman at 35 East Linden avenue.

CARTER

For Town or the Country

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Smooth swank characterizes this daytime frock you can wear in town or in the country. It has simple lines which mean absolute comfort and coolness. No collar adds warmth to the neckline, which is trimmed with the same ready-made braid which edges the sleeves and the hemline. There are no plaits to make laundering a task. The skirt is cut for flare. There are no armhole seams to worry about, either. Sewing is as simple as A B C, because the caps gracing the upper arm are cut in one with the shoulders. Buttons lend a smart finish and trim at the shoulders, and a wide ribbon or lether belt does duty at the waistline.

Any of the cottons, linens or rayon mixtures will make up beautifully, and plain shades are equally as effective as prints.

Style No. 2517 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, and 38 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3⅛ yards of 35 inch material, with 2¼ yards of braid.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

There is a commercially prepared salad dressing to suit every preference nowadays. One may buy genuine mayonnaise, several types of cooked salad dressing, thick and thin French dressings, thousand island, and many more.

And there are a dozen and one adjustments which may be made to commercially prepared dressings at home to transform their flavor and texture. For example, one may add chili sauce to mayonnaise, sour cream to cooked dressing, thin a French dressing with lemon juice or thicken it with one of the thicker dressings.

A true mayonnaise is an emulsion formed by beating oil with vinegar, spices and egg yolk. The mixture isn't cooked. Any good salad oil may be used in making it. Some persons prefer olive oil.

Mayonnaise.

1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
Sprinkling cayenne pepper
½ teaspoon mustard
2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice
1 cup salad oil or olive oil

Beat egg yolk and seasonings together in a small bowl. Add one tablespoon vinegar and beat again. Add oil one-half teaspoon at a time, beating constantly, until one-fourth cup has been used, then add in one or two tablespoon quantities. As mixture thickens, add remaining vinegar. When mayonnaise is thickened and smooth pour into a jar, cover, and store in a cool place.

If oil is added too rapidly in making mayonnaise it will curdle. The remedy for this is to beat the curdled dressing gradually into another egg yolk, continuing the beating as described.

The difference between a standard mayonnaise dressing and a cooked salad dressing may be seen at a glance in comparing the former recipe with this one. However, the two types of dressing have much the same use. This one is a tart mixture and the other is bland and smoother in texture.

Cooked Dressing.

1½ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon mustard
¼ teaspoon paprika
2 beaten egg yolks
1¼ cups milk
⅓ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons butter

Combine dry ingredients and blend with egg yolks. Stir in scalded milk gradually. Cook over hot water until thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, add vinegar and butter, and cool. Thin with sour cream, plain cream, or fruit juices before serving.

According to CULBERTSON

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 no trump	Pass	3 spades
Pass	4 spades	Pass	4 no trump
Pass	5 hearts	Pass	6 spades
Pass	Pass	Double	Redouble
Pass	Pass	Pass

"West opened a low club. To make a horrible story short, at least, East took four tricks which set the hand three tricks, redoubled.

"I, who was North, commented that the hand was a laydown for six no trump. South said the hand could not have been played in no trump, and we then went to it in great fashion. I maintain the final bid should have been six no trump. He says six spades. Who was right? Should he have bid four no trump to my first response of one no trump, or was his three spade bid correct with such a strong holding? As for the play of the hand, the less said the better.

"Yours truly,
"L. G. B., Chicago."

In so far as the bidding was concerned, I am afraid that the partners were about equally to blame. There can be no doubt that six no trump, rather than six spades, was the correct final contract. But the fault for failing to reach it was by no means entirely on South's shoulders. To begin, North's one no trump was not the best bid. It is permissible to depart from the conventional 4-3-3-3 distribution, provided: [1] that the two four card lengths are minor suits; and [2] that the doubleton is at least K-x. North's doubleton conformed, but he had a perfectly good major suit to bid. His choice of no trump, however, would not have been fatal if he had made the correct response to South's jump take-out in spades. Such a take-out does not guarantee great length in the suit mentioned. It is quite proper with a five card suit and sufficient general strength. Hence, North's K-9 were not adequate trump support. North, having started with one no trump, should have rebid three no trump and South, with four honor tricks and a five card suit, would have been quite justified in jumping all the way to a slam. Obviously, however, with North failing to support spades, South's jump should be in no trump, not spades. South's hand pattern was balanced, not unbalanced, and he had strength in every suit. Therefore there would be no point in insisting on a trump contract where a bad break in trumps might be fatal.

It goes without saying that South paid a larger penalty than necessary at his bad contract. The only tricks he had to lose were trump tricks and, of course, East had only three of those.

Dr. W. J. Hutchins Talks at Sorority Convention

Dr. William J. Hutchins, president of Berea college, Berea, Ky., spoke last night before the triennial convention of Theta Upsilon sorority at the Knickerbocker hotel. Dr. Hutchins, father of Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, spoke upon Berea college's success in raising living standards among the Kentucky mountaineers. Since 1928, the sorority has sponsored a health program among the Berea students.

Modern Girl Is Speediest Dresser, Statistics Reveal

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

It is amusing and enlightening to review the history of women and their clothes and the time absorbed during different eras in the matter of dressing.

It is reasonable to assume that Eve never uttered the wail that she hadn't a thing to wear, and as reasonable to assume that it didn't take her long to snip off a new fig leaf when she felt the need of a change.

The Hollywood designer, Adrian, appoints Cleopatra the smart girl in the way she retained the most simplified fashions. She devoted more time to her face than to her costumes, if you believe what you read in historical records.

The Grecian women, one also reads, could hop in and out of a dress in no time, which gave them as long as they required to evolve their stunning hairdresses.

But for all-time high in time consumption on self and self-glorification the court of Louis XVI. takes the prize. According to Adrian, who worked out the styles for Norma Shearer's portrayal of Marie Antoinette, the fashion plate queen spent five hours on dressing and coiffure. That left her six hours of daylight. Changing for an evening court function meant another five hours of preparation. It is estimated that half the queen's time was spent in glorifying herself.

The southern belles, Adrian also discovered in research work, evolved a fairly rapid-change system in spite of all the paraphernalia that had to be donned—pantalettes, petticoats, and hoops. For a waiting cavalier they could pretty themselves in a brief half hour.

It wasn't until after the world war, however, that dressing became the business of a jiffy or two. Her boy friend could phone from downstairs that he was on his way up and the girl, with her short skirt, her discarded corset, her boyish figure and bob and her few extras could open the door to him, hatted and ready to step out. Or almost that quickly.

The average woman today it is said, can bathe, make up and dress in fifteen minutes. [If her hair and nails have been done, they forgot to mention.] But if she doesn't want to be in a dither for her dinner date, she stretches the preparation time to include a few minutes lolling in the tub or on her downy couch for relaxation's sake, since today's average woman puts in the most consumingly active day in history.

Entire Family Needs Clothing.

Perhaps some north side reader can help to supply clothing for the H. family. The father is on a work project and finds it difficult, on his salary, to supply all the needs of his wife and three children. The boy, 4 years old, a girl, 2, and a tiny baby all need clothing.

Expectant Mother Asks Layette.

If some south side mother has a discarded layette, Mrs. D. would be happy to have it. She is expecting her baby this month, and her husband recently lost his employment. He will be glad to call for offers.

BRITISH PREMIER AND M. P. CLASH ON U. S. POLICY

Laborite Brings Subject Up in Commons.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 20.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain tonight refused to deny or confirm American press charges that he broke with former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden over Great Britain's policy towards the United States.

Geoffrey Mander, Laborite, brought up the matter in the house of commons. He said: "I ask the prime minister to say why this disclosure is made to the American press and not to this house and what is the precise nature of the differences between the prime minister and Mr. Eden with regard to the United States."

Chamberlain angrily rebuked Mander as a "mischief maker" between Britain and other countries. The prime minister insisted that Eden did not resign his post because of differences over the United States.

"I am not going to admit, deny or affirm anything at this time or any other time on matters of this sort," he said. "That is my final word."

SPENDING SPREE ENDS CAREER OF 2 BOY BURGLARS

Hudson avenue police were notified last night that two boys were "spending money like drunken sailors" in the neighborhood. Policemen George Melican and John Currin arrested Fred Dorsch, 14 years old, and his brother, Joseph, 13 years old, of 2200 Kenmore avenue, who confessed several burglaries.

During the afternoon, they said, they took $100 and a number of old coins from the flat of John Yunker at 2222 Fremont street, after seeing a member of the family hide the key in a flower pot. When arrested they had spent $48 taking playmates to shows and amusement parks. Last week they took $60 from a flat in the building where they live.

Fred, who was to have graduated tomorrow from St. Vincent's school, said he was glad he had been caught; that he was weary of candy and entertainment.

DRIVER INJURED IN WRECK WHILE FLEEING POLICE

After a ten block flight from a detective squad, during which a dozen shots were fired, Ernest Burkhart, 17 years old, of Brownsville, Tex., received a fractured skull when he wrecked the car he was driving.

When the squad stopped him for questioning he was in a car he had taken from a public garage at 4838 Cottage Grove avenue, where he is an attendant.

Detective Edward F. McGurn alighted to talk to him, but Burkhart drove away. The squad followed, firing. At 59th street and Cottage Grove avenue he attempted to make a U-turn at high speed. The car struck the curb and bounded against a tree. Burkhart was taken to the Bridewell hospital.

U. S. REJECTS 2D CLAIM TO NEAR NORTH SIDE AREA

Another attempt of Herman Krueding, Chicago realtor, to claim title to the near north side tract bounded by the Chicago river, Lake Michigan, St. Clair street and Chicago avenue failed yesterday when Acting Secretary of the Interior E. K. Burlew at Washington refused to set aside existing titles in Krueding's favor. It was the second time the interior department had rejected his claim, based on a military bounty warant Krueding claimed was issued to a survivor of the war of 1812. Krueding, 76 years old, of 1592 Cleveland avenue, has a suit pending in the Circuit court in which he seeks possession of the land.

Surface Lines Franchise Extended Until July 15

On recommendation of the committee on local transportation, the city council yesterday extended to July 15 the surface lines franchise, due to expire at the end of this month. Several aldermen including Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] and James B. Bowler [25th] again objected to renewing the operating permit which has been kept alive since 1927 by temporary extensions.

TRIES TO ESCAPE; SHOT.

Harry Garrison, colored, of 3560 Vernon avenue, was shot and seriously wounded early yesterday by police who said he tried to escape after breaking into a restaurant at 421 East 35th street.

WOOING BANDIT LOVES AND LOSES; SENT TO PRISON

CRIMINAL COURT.

John Pearce, John C. Ryan, and William Shoup, robbery, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary; Walter B. Kunstman, larceny, sentenced to one to ten years in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph Sabath.

Arthur Trygg, a parolee who tried to woo Miss Clover Doremus by robbing her, and robbing her, and robbing her, was sent back to prison yesterday to serve a year to life sentence as a robber and a twenty year sentence as an habitual criminal. The sentences are to run consecutively.

Trygg is 26 years old. Miss Doremus told Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court that Trygg held her up in a telegraph office at 2655 North Clark street on Feb. 16, and tried to make love to her. He robbed her and wooed her again on April 4, although she warned him he would get into trouble. He was coming back to try again when he was arrested on May 26.

DAWN BANDIT'S BODY CREMATED AFTER SERVICES

The body of Harold Keen, dawn bandit slain by police Thursday, was cremated yesterday at Oak Woods cemetery following private funeral services in the chapel at 1008 East 79th street. Only immediate members of the family attended the services.

Keen, 23 years old, the son of Policeman Ernest L. Keen of the stolen automobile detail, had committed more than a score of early morning holdups since May 29. His father assisted in the search for the youth, but was not present when he was trapped on the south side.

HAMMER VICTIM NAMES ALLEGED RAPIST AT TRIAL

Louis Serraille, said by police to have confessed raping fifty women, was identified in court yesterday by Mrs. Anna Underwood of 1032 East 46th street as the man who struck her over the head with a hammer on May 15 in an attempt to force her into his car in front of her home. When she regained consciousness, she said, she was in the Chicago hospital.

Louis Serraille.

But the trial was halted when Benjamin Bachrach, public defender, introduced evidence that Serraille's confession in Mrs. Underwood's case had been obtained by police torture. Judge Joseph Sabath heard the accusation with the jury excluded and said he would rule on the admissibility of the confession today.

PRESS TO SHUN GOOSE STEP, EDITORS TOLD

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., June 20.—(AP)—There will be no submission to regimentation by the nation's press, President W. W. Loomis told the National Editorial association today, for editors "do not take kindly to any goose step movement."

"Newspaper men are individualists—thank God," Loomis, editor of the La Grange [Ill.] Citizen, said at the opening session of the association's annual meeting. "One of the lessons of the NRA was the impracticability of regimentation for this industry."

Loomis referred to "attacks on the press—some of it coming from high places" during the last year, and termed much of the criticism a smoke screen.

HANGS SELF IN HOME.

JACK LONDON

HERE is Jack London's greatest story—the one he never had time to write. For not even The Call of the Wild or The Sea Wolf had half the wild and fantastic adventure of his own life. Before he was 19, Jack London was battling oyster pirates, Chinese shrimp raiders, Greek salmon thieves. He hunted seals off Japan, and rode the rods across America. He plumped for Socialism, drank himself nearly to death, was thrown into jail. And that was only the beginning! For the first authentic story of a life that was raw and wild and free, a life filled with revolt and adventure and romance, turn to page 5 of your Post this week. MICHIGAN FREES FELON; CHICAGO POLICE AT GATE

Steve Cygan was released on parole yesterday from the Michigan state penitentiary at Jackson, where he had been sentenced in 1929 for robbery.

Steve Cygan.

Cygan, however, did not go free. Waiting for him at the prison door was Detective Ben Bazarek of Chicago with an extradition warant. He was returned to Chicago to answer an indictment for the murder of Policeman John Chiska of the Cragin station. He was identified through finger prints after he had been sentenced in Michigan as John Smith. He is 35.

Policeman Chiska was shot down April 5, 1928, when he interrupted a gang of three in a holdup of a delicatessen store at 2218 North Lorel avenue. Two suspects who were arrested a little later named Cygan as the killer.

OWES WIFE $49 SUPPORT; GETS 6 MONTHS IN JAIL

Bert W. Baker of 2223 Montrose avenue insisted before Judge John J. Lupe yesterday that he couldn't contribute to the support of his estranged wife, Ann, and their child until he pays a $100 loan from his parents.

"But a man's first obligation is to his child," Attorney Harry X. Cole protested in behalf of Mrs. Baker.

Judge Lupe agreed and sentenced Baker to six months in county jail for being $49 in arrears in support money for his child. Mrs. Baker has a suit for divorce pending.

CUBS HIT BEHIND LEE; BEAT DODGERS, 5 TO 1

SCHMELING LEAVES CAMP TODAY; KEEPS ROUTE SECRET

GERMAN FEARS DEMONSTRATION BY ANTI-NAZIS

Boxes Four Rounds in Last Drill.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Speculator, N. Y., June 20.—When Max Schmeling leaves this mountain girded lake resort tomorrow for New York City to fight Joe Louis Wednesday night, he will be well protected. New York state troopers will escort him to the railroad. Accompanied by German friends, he will lock himself in a drawing room for the journey to Manhattan.

The German heavyweight will spend tomorrow night in the home of a friend in upper Manhattan. He will eat no food which has not been prepared by his chef, Josef Daschner.

Daschner will prepare Schmeling's dinner here and then rush to New York to take charge of Max's meals Wednesday. Max Machon, Otto Petri and Joe Jacobs will accompany Schmeling to New York.

Inspect Food Closely.

As Schmeling finished his four weeks' drill here in his campaign to whip Louis and regain the heavyweight championship, Arno Hellmis, German radio announcer, divulged one of the restrictions which has safeguarded Schmeling in the lakeside cottage where troopers patrol the wire barriers at all hours.

"No one, not even Petri or Machon, has been in Schmeling's kitchen at Speculator. All food has been bought and prepared by Daschner.

"Max expects to fight before a hostile crowd," Hellmis continued. "Because he is a German he has been a storm center of racial dispute and boycott. In Germany we still believe there were other reasons why Max Baer whipped Schmeling than the punches he received in the ring. There will be no chances for anything to happen this time.

Predicts a Knockout.

"Max will whip Joe Louis again. He will knock him out quicker than he did before. He has the right hand with which to do it. He has a courageous heart."

Hellmis' stubborn optimism, of course, may be discounted. But it is true that Hellmis picked Schmeling to win two years ago, although derided in all continental papers, and then because his own office did not believe his prediction, he paid his own way to this country to report Schmeling's victory.

More important is Gene Tunney's prediction. Tunney called a friend at Osborne Inn today and said that he was betting on Schmeling.

"There isn't any 2 to 1 money on Louis," Tunney reported, "but I'm taking plenty on Schmeling at 8 to 5 odds. This fight is even and I don't see how Louis can keep from being hit by Max's right hand."

Hopes to Dodge Crowd.

Schmeling is anxious to avoid any demonstration in New York by those organized to boycott the fight because of Germany's persecution of the Jews.

Lloyd Wilbur, village constable whose other duties include chauffeuring the Osborne inn automobile, tonight said he had orders to report to Schmeling's cottage tomorrow morning at 9:30 for the trip to the train.

Wilbur's information fits the supposition that Schmeling, to avoid possible demonstrations, will not leave tomorrow afternoon as he previously announced. If he departs in the morning, he will reach New York about 4 p. m. daylight saving time.

It has been rumored Schmeling may fly. Dick Merrill, famed trans-Atlantic pilot, telephoned an offer this morning to transport Schmeling by air. Ever since Gene Tunney flew to Philadelphia in 1926 for his fight with Jack Dempsey these rumors pop up at every fight camp.

Jacobs Forbids Plane Trip.

Mike Jacobs, promoter of this heavyweight match, wired prohibition of such a flight today.

The other alternative is that Schmeling will drive to New York. This would seem to be a logical means of circumventing any demonstration.

Schmeling boxed four rounds this afternoon with Al Albin and Joe Mack. Since reporting here he has been in the ring 17 times and boxed 109 rounds.

Only when asleep has Max been out of sight of at least one of the four state troopers. He is guarded even as he walks to the training site, as he comes to press interviews, and, of course, when he goes on the road.

Schmeling was in fine spirits this afternoon. He remains supremely confident he will whip Louis. He knows how he will fight and he insists the champion still will be as easy to whip as he was two years ago.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, June 20.—The Ullstein publishing house of Berlin is running an excursion to the Louis-Schmeling fight, the cost of which is about $400, including a $20 ticket. . . . Each visitor will have 10 marks [about $4] for spending money after arrival, which hardly is cigaret dough in a Broadway café. . . . Shep Allen, formerly of Chicago, says he'll match the German rooting delegation man for man. . . . He is running a special train for colored fans from Washington and they're not coming up to yammer for Schmeling. . . . There will be a special subway train to transport them from the Pennsylvania station to Yankee stadium. . . . Mike Jacobs, who already has taken more punishment trying to satisfy photographers and newspaper men than either Louis or Schmeling will receive Wednesday night, doesn't worry about a Jewish boycott, because "75 per cent of the customers will be out of towners." . . . Albert Payson Terhune, the author, who lives near Louis' camp at Pompton Lakes, N. J., is a daily visitor to Joe's quarters. . . . He watches the workouts from the screened porch of Dr. Joe Biers' home. . . . Mushky Jackson, Louis' handy man and assistant publicist, will be 42 years old tomorrow. . . . "I was 41 the day Joe knocked out Jim Braddock for the championship, so it should work again," he philosophizes. . . .

Max Baer.

Max Schmeling drinks only imported water brought along from Germany. . . . Tommy Farr, who arrived from England today, will be at the ringside to challenge the winner. . . . So will Max Baer. . . . So you're five years old today, my dear,
And your shining eyes betray your cheer;
How proudly you stand, for the occasion dressed
In white, like an angel the Lord has blessed;
Blue ribbon enhancing your lustrous curls,
You're the queen of the kingdom of five-year-old girls.

That white-frosted cake with its candles alight,
Holds an answer to wishes that a little girl might
Have hidden in some sacred nook of her heart—
A doll, perhaps, or a pony or cart? . . .
So blow, eager wisher—invocation you hurl—
What's more priceless than being a five-year-old girl?

Greetings, proud miss, tho' you've only begun
To stride the wide road, with your face to the sun;
Spring flowers your carpet, the song of a lark
Fills your world with sweet music from dawning to dark;
Hold fast to your dreams—father time is a churl

RING PROMOTERS DEPLORE APATHY OF NEWSPAPERS

Coolness to Title Bout Hurts Their Feelings.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 20.—Mike Jacobs, president of the Twentieth Century Sporting club, has got to do something about that fellow Babe Ruth. Here it is only 48 hours before a fight for the heavyweight championship of the world and the Babe has crowded an event fraught with international complications right out of the headlines.

With one exception every New York journal today gave its preferred space to the Babe's debut as a first base coach in Brooklyn with a club that obviously needed a side show attraction to stimulate business at the turnstiles. This is a shocking state of affairs to the more discriminating readers who have a true appreciation of the important goings-on in the world of sports. Take Nate Lewis, who was experting heavyweight fights before Adolf Hitler gained distinction as a painter in Austria.

Deplores Apathy of Press.

"This is indeed strange," frowned Mr. Lewis in a chaste New England dialect, acquired in Chicago's Randolph street taverns after midnight. "And faith it is, me bye," echoed a boxing writer from Berlin, his rich Teutonic accent suggesting a Wagnerian melody.

"What has come over the newspapers, anyhow?" Mr. Lewis demanded to know. "Have they completely lost their sense of values? Do they no longer recognize an event of vital interest to millions and millions and shall I say millions of people?"

There no doubt is some basis for Mr. Lewis' criticism. After all, Joe Louis and Max Schmeling have been in camp, practically isolated from civilization four long weeks, putting in hours of road work, punching the bag, and stepping into the ring to risk bodily injury while exchanging punches with servants equipped with 14 or 20 ounce gloves. And what do they get in return? Practically nothing. No editorials, no pictures, no feature stories describing their earnest efforts to make this a better world in which to live.

Where Are Those Photogs?

It isn't right. There was a time when a heavyweight championship fight was only two days away that editors would send an army of reporters and photographers to the principals' headquarters to cover every move they made and many that they didn't. In those days it seemed worth while even if it was only a million dollar bout, to try to do something for the people. Nowadays the best the fighters can get is routine mention on inside sport pages. Somehow there is an increasing tendency on the part of reporters to wait until the young men crawl between the ropes, as the expression goes, and then write about them.

Despite the apathy of the New York press, the fight in Yankee stadium Wednesday night will turn out satisfactorily from a box office standpoint, at least. Mr. Jacobs announced at noon today that the cash in hand exceeded $775,000, which is better than nothing, even in New York. The financial success of the enterprise is attributable to out of town people, who always are more willing than New Yorkers to get behind a project upon which the future of the country depends.

May Top $1,000,000.

There are indications the receipts will top a million dollars, in which case Louis, who four years ago didn't have a sawbuck to his name, and Schmeling, who came to the United States a decade ago with only one spare shirt, will split about $500,000. Certainly no one on the park benches would be so un-American as to begrudge them a cent of it, especially Schmeling, whose first thought after collecting his dough is to catch the next boat back to Germany.

The makeup of New York's sports

Men of the Hour in Track and Field

Pole Vault May Decide Big 10, Pacific Coast Meet Saturday

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Pole vaulting, once only a practical means of crossing natural obstacles such as brooks and pools, appears to represent the difference between victory and defeat for the Big Ten track champions in their second annual dual meet against a Pacific Coast conference all-star team in Dyche stadium Saturday.

Three tall, sinewy young men—Loring Day and Ken Dills of Southern California and George Varoff of Oregon—so far surpass any Big Ten competitors that in all probability the Pacific coast team will sweep this event in Saturday's meet.

Varoff Held Old Record.

Varoff at one time held the world record of 14 feet 7¾ inches. Day has cleared 14 feet repeatedly and won the national collegiate title in Minneapolis last Saturday with a leap of 14 feet 2 inches. Dill's best mark this year is 14 feet 4 inches, made in placing second to Day in the dual meet against U. C. L. A. The Big Ten's only challenge to this trio is Milton Padway of Wisconsin, who has a top mark of 13 feet 10 inches.

Pole vaulting is the most spectacular and difficult event in modern track and field competition. Successful performance in vaulting is almost entirely a matter of precision and long practice. Day, a 170 pound Los Angeles prep product, and Varoff, the Russian music student who became the most famous janitor in America when he set the world record two years ago, are the leading collegiate vaulters in America.

Credits Varoff for Lifting Mark.

In Dyche stadium yesterday, where the two teams opened a week's preparation for Saturday's meet, Day gave Varoff credit for the astounding height to which the world record has ascended. In 1891, the record was 11 feet, 9 inches, established by an Englishman named Dickinson. W. Dray of Yale lifted it to 12 feet, 6 inches in 1912. Today it stands at 14 feet, 11 inches and is held by Earle Meadows and Bill Sefton, former stars at Southern California, which will supply the largest number of star performers on the Pacific coast team Saturday.

"Fourteen feet 4 inches," said Day, "had been accepted as the absolute tops in vaulting until Varoff came along. Experts said it was impossible to go higher and vaulters took them at their word. None tried to disprove them. But when Varoff went 14 feet 6½ inches at Princeton in 1936 and a short time later set the world record at 14 feet 7¾ inches, others figured if George could do it, they could, too. They immediately became '15 foot' conscious and the result was Meadows' and Sefton's record."

Fifteen Feet Possible.

"Fifteen feet in the pole vault," Varoff interposed, "is quite possible now and some one will do it soon. It may be one of us on Saturday. I believe we are all capable of that height if we get off a perfect leap. There are so many factors that enter into vaulting, however, such as timing, the wind, the position of the standards, the feel of the pole you are using, coördinated effort, speed of approach, take-off, and other little details, that consistency is almost impossible at great heights and perfect performances are extremely rare."

Day never varies his grip on the pole in attaining his record heights. Varoff makes one little change. He grasps the pole at the 12 foot 6 inch mark and vaults up to 13 feet 6 inches with this grip. For all other efforts he places his top hand 3 inches higher.

The Encyclopædia Britannica, in discussing pole vaulting, says: "In holding the pole the height of the cross bar is first ascertained, and the right hand placed, with an undergrip, about six inches above this

PATTERSON WINS IN EIGHT ROUNDS; JOYCE TRIUMPHS

Verne Patterson, south side welterweight, hammered out an eight round decision over Harold Brown of the west side in Marigold Gardens outdoor arena last night.

Young Billy Miller, Pittsburgh featherweight, won his Chicago debut by scoring a split decision in eight rounds over Varias Milling in the semi-final.

Willie Joyce, last year's Chicago Golden Gloves featherweight champion, undefeated as a professional, won in eight rounds from George Van Der Hayden and Harvey Woods, St. Paul lightweight, stopped Tommy Pallatin of South Bend in 55 seconds of the first round of a scheduled eight round match. Referee Tommy Thomas disqualified Pallatin for going down without being hit.

King Kong scored his sixth consecutive Chicago victory last night when he tossed Joe Corbett in 12 minutes in White City. Rudy Strongberg pinned Hugo Schnabel in 16 minutes 10 seconds, Otto Schnabel won from Phil Malloy in 30 minutes, Walter Palmer and Roy Rickenbacher wrestled to a 30 minute draw, and Jerry Meeker threw Jim Landes in 18 minutes 2 seconds.—F. LEAGUE RULING DROPS CHICAGO TO THIRD PLACE

Bruins Find Batting Punch in Seventh.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 20.—The Cubs finally got their power house in operation again today and generated enough base hits to shock the Dodgers into defeat, 5 to 1, in the final of the series. The Dodgers were additionally shocked by the pitching of Bill Lee, who compiled his season's eighth victory much after the fashion in which he built up his six game winning streak, the same streak the Bees shattered last week by a 1 to 0 score.

Despite their victory, the Cubs found themselves in third place, eight percentage points behind the Cincinnati Reds, who were awarded second place early today when their protested loss of May 14 to the St. Louis Cardinals was recorded as a tie by Ford Frick, president of the National league. The Reds remained ahead of the Cubs by beating the Bees this afternoon in thirteen innings.

The standing of the Cubs and Reds before Frick's latest ruling was:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Chicago	32	25	.561
Cincinnati	29	23	.558

As a result of Frick's ruling and today's scores the standing now is:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cincinnati	30	22	.577

The Boys Get Distance.

In today's game it wasn't exactly the number of hits the Cubs made, but the distance they put into their clouts. Rip Collins came up with his No. 8 homer good for two runs and for quite a period it appeared Lee would have to work out his own salvation on this skimpy total. But his pals eventually came up with a real demonstration, three runs scoring in the seventh when Stan Hack singled to start a drive which triples by Phil Cavarretta and Carl Reynolds and a double by Gabby Hartnett carried to a successful conclusion. In the course of this demonstration of power Luke Hamlin, the Dodger starter, went away.

Lee, who in his last nine starts has surrendered only five earned runs, gave the Dodgers a few chances to make good if they felt industrious, but apparently they didn't feel that way. Whenever they got men on bases, which they did in all except three of the innings, they were stopped cold. The one exception was the fourth when, for the only time, the enemy paired hits and thereby dodged a shutout. One of these two hits was by Dolph Camilli, who also made one of the others but he was the only member of the Cubs' alumni association able to accomplish anything. The others, Ki Cuyler and Babe Phelps, who were much in evidence in the previous games, were blanked.

Cavarretta Leads Attack.

Tops in the Cub attack against Hamlin and Posedel was Phil Cavarretta, who is serving in left field pending the recovery of Augie Galan. Phil made his first impression in the hit column by leading off with a single in the fifth. No help was forthcoming. His next effort was the aforementioned seventh inning triple. Then in the eighth he hit the wall again, this time for a double. He expired on second when Reynolds fanned.

The Cubs produced two runs in the fourth, although only two hits were involved. Herman led off with a single to left. Demaree went out on a gentle popup to Hudson. Then Collins, who apparently likes the local park, lunged at Hamlin's first pitch and sailed it over the high right field screen for homer No. 8. It was the third round

SUSPENSIONS IMPOSED AFTER ADAMICK HEARING

Commission to Bring Up Case Again July 5.

All those involved in the Jimmy Adamick-Jack Trammell bout in Mills stadium June 8 yesterday were indefinitely suspended by Chairman Joe Triner and Commissioner James R. Fitzpatrick of the Illinois boxing commission after a three hour hearing of circumstances surrounding the affair.

Those suspended include Adamick and his handlers, Jimmy Brady, Julio Gonzales and South Side Jack O'Keefe, Trammell and his handlers, Jimmy Buchanan and Cornelius [Memphis Red] Johnson; Jerry Lavan, who promoted the bout; Tommy Walsh, who was mentioned as an associate of the promoter.

Officials Give Views.

Davey Miller, who refereed the encounter, and Judges Ed Klein and Dr. E. Allen Frankel testified. All three said "neither fighter contributed his best efforts and the match should have been called no contest."

The referee counted out Trammell and awarded the decision to Adamick on a knockout in the second round, but yesterday changed his opinion.

The commissioners then explained their decision.

"The decision is not final," Triner stated. "We have decided to continue the hearing on July 5. Jack Kearns has been frequently mentioned in the testimony, and we have instructed the commission secretary to notify Kearns to appear at that time and give his version of the affair. Every one else served with a notice also must reappear. Meanwhile all involved stand indefinitly suspended until final opinion is rendered on July 5."

Purses Held Up.

The commission also instructed Secretary John Owen to ask the California, Missouri, and New York athletic commissions to concur in its indefinite ban of all the principals.

Part of the fighters' purses, amounting to $1,500, remained on file with the commission until final disposal of the case.

Grant Beats Steidl in U. S. Tennis Meet

Eight of the fourteen seeded players competed yesterday in the national clay court tennis tournament at the River Forest Tennis club, and all but one, Johnny McDiarmid, advanced.

The Princeton university professor won from Willard Klunzinger of East Lansing, Mich., 6-1, 6-4, in the first round, and then was eliminated by Marion Shane of Kalamazoo, Mich., 6-1, 7-5.

Bobby Riggs made his début by winning a second round match from Ray Suchy of Milwaukee, 6-3, 6-4. Bryan Grant of Atlanta and Harold Surface, Kansas City, also played for the first time, the former defeating George Steidl of Cicero, 6-2, 6-3, and the latter eliminating Don Brown, Winnetka, 6-2, 6-2, and Bobby Pease, Chicago, 6-1, 6-1.

Other seeded players to advance were Don McNeill, Oklahoma City; Gardner Mulloy, Miami; Joe Hunt, Los Angeles, and Elwood Cooke, Portland, Ore. They reached the third round.

Charles Hare of Birmingham, England, second ranking player in the British Isles, was beaten by Edward Aloo, 19 year old freshman from the University of California, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3. Summaries:

Barney Ross Looks Back

And Says Champions Must Be Lucky

[This is the third and last of a series of articles in which Barney Ross, former lightweight and welterweight champion, looks back upon his career and discusses the boxing game with young fighters and with the sporting public.]

BY HOWARD BARRY.

"In a tight spot you need luck as well as ability."

It was Barney Ross resuming his discussion of the boxing profession in which he had won two world championships and a large amount of cash. It was a typical remark, summing up as it did his readiness to attribute his remarkable success to almost anything or anybody except himself.

Men of prominence like to tell how they reached the top by hard work, perseverance, intelligence, and courage, comparatively few being inclined to bring up the matter of lucky breaks. Ross lets other people talk about his courage and his natural ability. He himself will say that good management and good luck brought him up.

In looking back over Ross' record, one really remarkable fact emerges. He was on the floor only once in his entire career—and on that occasion he bounced right up again and won the fight. Some explanation would appear in order.

First Title Bout

Brings Mixed Emotions.

What was the secret defense he used to call on when he was in a tight spot—when he was almost too tired to protect himself, when he was staggering for a foothold on a canvas floor that seemed to be rocking like a ship in heavy weather?

Was he able to stand up because he was in good physical condition—or because he was wise and knew what to do no matter how tough the going became? Other fighters have been in top condition, others have been ring wise—and still they've been knocked out. When this subject is brought up, Ross will only shake his head and say like some great fighter of the Old Testament:

"When I was in a tight spot I always felt that the Lord had his arms around my neck."

One of the great thrills of his career came the night of his first bout with Tony Canzoneri when the latter's lightweight title was at stake. Ross said he was tense going into the ring, but he kept telling himself that it was in the books for him to win. He felt that Canzoneri had had everything and he himself was coming up. When the first bell rang, his tension snapped. He went in coolly and won.

Realization of Failure

Comes Early in Fight.

Then he dealt Canzoneri a second beating to convince every one he wasn't fooling in their first bout, and went on to take Jimmy McLarnin's welterweight championship away from him. Then came a jolt when McLarnin returned and took it back by winning a 15 round decision.

"When I went back against McLarnin for a third bout to regain the championship, I didn't feel particularly worried about the previous beating. I knew that I wasn't through then. I just felt that it was a close fight that might have gone either way. That was several years ago. It was different after losing to Armstrong last month. I knew that was the end."

Barney was asked at what stage of the Armstrong fight he began to feel that something was wrong.

"It was about the fourth or fifth round when I began to realize what was going to happen," he said. "I found that I couldn't do things that I wanted to do. After that I kept on fighting because I didn't want to let my friends down."

Those who saw the Ross-Armstrong fight, or heard it on the radio, or read about it in the papers, realize the amazing tenacity behind those words, "I kept on fighting."

Each Round a New

Fight—Then Silence!

When the fight was little more than half over it seemed that Ross might be knocked out at any moment. At the end of nearly every round from then on, he would wander toward his corner on the verge of collapse, but every bell would bring him out again for more.

Several times between rounds the referee asked Ross' handlers, Sam Pian and Art Winch, if they wanted him to stop the fight.

"Sam and Art knew I'd never get over it if they threw in the towel," Barney said. "People wouldn't understand if I didn't come out of the corner to answer the bell."

So he just kept coming out round after round. Billy Petrolle, and Tony Canzoneri, and Jimmy McLarnin, and all the great fighters he had beaten in the past must have felt proud of the way their old opponent was going out. The spectators—most of whom elt they were his friends—were proud of him, too. Instead of the cheers that usually follow the crowning of a new champion, there was silence at the end as Barney stumbled down the steps from the ring.

And that silence was a tribute that Barney likes to remember.

APPEAL FOR NEW TRIAL DROPPED BY VON CRAMM

BERLIN, June 20.—(AP)—The attorney for Baron Gottfried von Cramm, Germany's outstanding tennis player, announced today that Von Cramm had withdrawn his appeal against the sentence of a year's imprisonment imposed on his conviction May 14 on a morals charge.

German tennis circles believed the appeal was withdrawn owing to a fear that the first sentence, considered rather mild, might be increased by a new trial.

Carl Langbehn, the attorney, declined to give reasons for Von Cramm's change of mind and said he acted on his client's explicit instructions.

SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT.

The West Town district softball tournament will be held on Parichy field, Harlem avenue and Harrison street, Forest Park. Entries close July 30 with Warren Seaman, 3137 Harvey avenue, Berwyn.

HER REIGH MAKES IT PLAIN THAT SOMEBODY ERRED

Ignored in Nominations, She Beats Stars.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Somebody in the William Maloney racing stable, which is trained by Gridley Allen, has made a horrible mistake. Her Reigh hasn't been named for any of the rich stakes events on Chicago race tracks this season.

The 5 year old daughter of Reigh Count-Salome II., if nominated, could have left town with pockets of money.

They had a warmup for the mile and an eighth Francis S. Peabody Memorial handicap at Lincoln Fields yesterday. The handicap is to be run next Saturday and it will be worth $5,000.

She Runs 'Em Ragged.

In this warmup were Our Count, Sir Midas, Dark Sun, Over Yonder, and Rough Diamond, most of them eligible to the stake, and Her Reigh, the Maloney stable's forgotten mare.

Her Reigh made a show of the field. She came from behind at the head of the stretch, conquered the early leader, Rough Diamond, then went on to win handily by a length with Rough Diamond second, Dark Sun third, Sir Midas fourth, and the highly fancied Our Count way back.

Her Third Victory.

The fashionably bred filly ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:45 3-5. Only a few people fancied her chances, so she paid $15.40. It was her third straight Lincoln Fields victory, and the chalk players, after customary post-portems, decided they had only themselves to blame.

Those Man O' War horses simply will not be denied, Bomber proved in the Hinsdale purse yesterday. The plungers all backed Milky Way farm stable's Jawbreaker, Mrs. J. Grossman's Plea, and Paul Kelly's Merry Caroline in the six furlong dash, thinking Bomber, a discard from Calumet farm stable, was more or less hopeless.

They were wrong, of course. Bomber sneaked through on the inside, took the lead a furlong from the finish, then drew out to win by two and a half lengths. He paid $14.20. Sadie F. finished second and Jawbreaker was third.

Sadie F. did her owner, Mrs. Ed Haughton of Texas, wrong when she surrendered to Bomber. Mrs. Haughton's Fay D. had won the first race and her 8 year old gelding, Cruising, captured the second. Fay D. paid $10.80 and Cruising was at $9.20 to win. But Mrs. Haughton and husband Ed, it was reported, had parlayed the two horses with their Sadie F. A two dollar parlay on Mrs. Haughton's three horses would have paid $965. Mrs. Haughton probably had a $20 parley riding.

Remember Teddy's Comet? You do if you were at Arlington Park on Futurity day last year. He ran a dead-heat with Tiger in that $60,000 race. Teddy's Comet aroused more than one clocker at Lincoln Fields yesterday morning when he reeled off 5 furlongs in 1:01 4-5. Looks like this colt may have something to say about the muddled 3 year old situation before long.

The railbirds had no sooner climbed back in their easy seats when they fell off again. This time it was a 2 year old that startled them. Yale O' Nine flashed a half mile in 47 seconds. That's the fastest time made by a 2 year old in Chicago this season. No telling where this colt is going.

Promoters Are Irked by Press' Apathy

sections today belies the world interest in the bout. The Western Union has orders for 105 special wires from the ringside, the heaviest demand at any fight in history. These leased wires have been engaged by newspapers in 39 states and 14 foreign countries, including England, Japan, France, Germany, Poland, Jugo-Slavia, Hungary, South Africa, Cuba, Sweden, Mexico, Australia, and Canada. If the match goes ten rounds or more, the company estimates it will handle more than 1,500,000 words direct from the ball park.

Commission to Meet.

There will be a meeting of the New York boxing commission tomorrow to which representatives of both fighters have been invited. It will be decided then whether gloves manufactured in Chicago or New York will be used. Louis is holding out for Chicago's on the grounds that they have thumbs long enough to accommodate his exceptionally large hands without irritating the nails. Schmeling insists he will not use the Chicago gloves.

The commission also is expected to rule on the application of Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, for reinstatement in New York so he can work in the German's corner. Jacobs was suspended some time ago for a technical violation of the board's regulations in the case of another fighter.

The weighing-in ceremonies Wednesday noon will be conducted in Madison Square Garden where there will be less danger of the fighters having a leg or arm torn off in the crush of officials, policemen, reporters, and camera men who will be on hand to preserve the scene for posterity. The commission offices, where boxers usually report for physical examinations and to weigh in, were considered too small to accommodate the throng seeking admission Wednesday.

TWO PLAYERS FOR ONE.

Columbus, O., June 20.—(AP)—Columbus of the American association today assigned Shortstop Tony Malinosky and Pitcher Herschel Lyons to Asheville, N. C., of the Piedmont league in exchange for Shortstop Lynn Myers.

LEE WILL TRY TO STOP SENATORS FOR SOX TODAY

Chicagoans Hope to Beat Wes Ferrell Again.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Washington Senators are in town for three single games, the first to be played this afternoon. If they remember what happened to them the last time they were here, instead of recalling what they have done to the Sox the five afternoons the Sox have played in Washington, they will be full of high resolve to improve.

The Washington Senators played in Comiskey park on May 22 and May 24. The Sox won the first of these games 9 to 2 and the other 10 to 3. Those seem like powerful numbers when one recalls that the Sox won from the A's the next day, then went until the day before yesterday before winning another game in Comiskey park, a string of nine home games without a victory.

Then Ten Straight Losses.

After they beat the Washingtons and took the one mentioned from the A's, the Sox put in a losing streak of 10 straight in which they made a grand total of 18 runs. That's why the 19 runs they made against the Senators in only two games just before the slide seem so tall, even though the Sox did beat the Yanks, 11 to 10 and 10 to 6, and the Red Sox, 15 to 2, shortly after they ended the 10 game losing streak and before they started a losing streak of five games at the opening of their present home stand.

Though they tortured the Senators in Comiskey park the Sox aren't laughing at the Washington fellows very much. In Washington on May 6 and 7 the Sox lost extra inning games to the Senators 4 to 3 and 5 to 4 and again in Washington, on June 1, 2 and 3 the Sox were spanked 5 to 4, 7 to 1, and 5 to 1. The four run total the Sox made in the first game was the peak of their scoring accomplishments in the ten game losing streak.

It's Thornton Lee Today.

Thornton Lee, who has done more good pitching than any other hurler who ever entered late June with a record of just two victories and four defeats, will pitch for the Sox this afternoon. He will be opposed by Wes Ferrell. In the game in Chicago on May 22 the Sox pinned back Ferrell's ears.

Today's game will be the White Sox's 51st of the season, or approximately one-third of their 1938 schedule. They will undertake the experience with a record of 19 victories and 31 defeats.

Pole Vault May Decide Track Meet Saturday

grip." The only purpose in placing the pole into the take-off pit and elevating it to a perpendicular position before a jump, a practice followed by all vaulters on every attempt, is, Day and Varoff explained, to ascertain whether the standards have been placed properly. Most leaps are unsuccessful because the cross bar is either too close to the takeoff or too far away to be directly under the vaulter when he reaches his maximum height.

Day, Varoff, and Dills expect to sweep the pole vault at Evanston Saturday, possibly setting a record, then move on to Buffalo to continue their friendly rivalry in the National A. A. U. meet. All three plan to remain in competition until after 1940 and hope to be the United States' vaulting team in the Olympic games in Japan.

Members of both teams will be the guests of alumni groups from the two conferences in the Sherman hotel today. They will attend the White Sox-Senators game in the afternoon and those who feel the need will take light workouts this evening.

Rolling Green to Honor PatM'Donald, Returning Pro

Rolling Green Country club of Arlington Heights will hold a Pat McDonald day on Saturday in honor of its returning professional. McDonald, who is a member of the Illinois Section of the Professional Golf association, has been at Rolling Green Country club for several years with the exception of 1937, when he was pro at the Arsenal Country club, Davenport, Ia. Several pros in the Chicago district will be guests of the club, and many former Rolling Green members will join the present membership in celebrating the day.

Fight Decisions

At Marigold Gardens—Verne Patterson beat Harold Brown [8]; Young Billy Miller beat Varias Milling [8]; Harvey Woods stopped Tommy Pallatin [1]; Willie Joyce beat George Van Der Hayden [8].
At Boston, Mass.—Bob Pastor beat Al McCoy [10].
At New York—Mike Belloise beat Al Reid [8].
At Pittsburgh, Pa.—Fritzie Zivic knocked out Ercole Buratti [4].
At Houston, Tex.—Joey Parks knocked out Max Kayden [2].

Reds Beat Bees in 13th, 3 to 1; Keep 2d Place

Boston, Mass., June 20.—(AP)—Scoring two runs off Johnny Lanning in the thirteenth inning, the Cincinnati Reds today defeated the Bees, 3 to 1, to retain their slim second place margin over the Chicago Cubs.

With one out and Wally Berger on first in the Reds' half of the final inning, Ival Goodman tripled to right center to score Berger with the deciding run. He scored himself a moment later on Frank McCormick's long fly.

Ray Davis, who went the route for Cincinnati for his third victory, was nicked for two of the ten singles he yielded the Bees in their half of the thirteenth but, with two out and men on first and second, got English to force Mueller at second for the final out. Score:

YANKS, 8; BROWNS, 4

St. Louis, Mo., June 20.—(AP)—The New York Yankees tied a major league record they share with several other clubs today as they hammered out three home runs in one inning and went on to beat the Browns, 8 to 4. They thus moved back into second place, a game and a half behind the Indians and three points ahead of the Red Sox.

The three Yankee homers came in the sixth, all of them off Les Tietje, and were good for five runs. Lou Gehrig hit his tenth of the year after Joe Di Maggio had opened the inning with a triple; Joe Gordon ran out a homer inside the park and scored Tommy Henrich ahead of him, and Spud Chandler lifted another into the left field bleachers. Epperly to Pitch for Cubs Today in Philadelphia

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 20.—The Cubs tonight took a dinner time train to Philadelphia, where they are booked to open a three game series tomorrow. Rookie Albert Paul Epperly will pitch tomorrow, this arrangement being necessary because he is the only man available. Claude Passeau will work for the Phillies.

By pitching Bill Lee today Manager Grimm will have his ace man ready for the first of the three games with the Giants next Friday, but for the two other games with the champions the Cub boss probably will have to call on men not properly rested.

The Cubs' department of scientific research, which is entrusted with the task of psychoanalyzing the Cubs into a pennant, hasn't produced results. So the players are thinking of subscribing to a pool to hire some sort of a witch doctor who might be able to run a few base hits into their bats.

C. Y. O. FIGHTERS START TRAINING FOR IRISH BOUTS

Almost 100 young boxers started training yesterday afternoon at the C. Y. O. gymnasium for the international boxing show, in which Ireland's amateur team will meet ten outstanding C. Y. O. boxers in Soldiers' field on the night of July 13.

In the group of boys training for the bouts are a number of present and former amateur title holders. The boys will continue training in the C. Y. O. gymnasium until June 29. On June 30, they will depart for the Lewis Holy Name Technical school of Aeronautics, Lockport, Ill., where a training camp will be set up. The youngsters will train there until the day before the matches. The ten lads making the best showing in the sparring sessions at camp will be chosen for the team.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 20.—(AP)—Promoter Tom Gallery announced today Harry Armstrong had agreed to meet Ceferino Garcia in an outdoor bout here next September with the welterweight title at stake. Gallery said Armstrong had accepted a guarantee of $60,000.

Cubs Defeat Dodgers, 5-1; Drop to Third

hit here this year by the former Cardinal.

Before being scored on Lee didn't give the Dodgers much leeway. Hassett hit him for an infield single in the first inning, but there were two out at the time and Phelps wasn't able to cause trouble. Durocher opened the third with a single to right for the second hit off Lee, but he was forced by Hamlin and Hartnett threw out Cuyler. A pass to Hudson came next and after that Hassett's fly which Reynolds converted into the third out.

Camilli Starts It.

The Dodgers didn't show any scoring intentions in their half of the fourth until after Phelps had lofted to Cavarretta and Jurges had thrown out Lavagetto. Camilli stirred up some action with a double which Cavarretta couldn't reach. Koy thumped a single over second and Camilli ran home. Koy added to his pleasure by stealing second on Gabby Hartnett's throw. Durocher is a fairly tough man in a pinch and this made Lee doubly cautious, the result being a pass. Hamlin bounced to Collins for the third out.

Lee had another shaky spell in the sixth, but his one run lead didn't get away. To start the inning he fanned Phelps but passed Lavagetto. A terrific drive by Camilli caromed off Jurges' arm and into right field for a single, Lavagetto taking third. Camilli immediately set forth to steal second, the idea being that Hartnett might make a bad throw and Lavagetto could run home. But Gabby made a perfect peg to Jurges and Camilli was nailed so quickly that Lavagetto didn't take a step off third. The remainder of action in the inning was Koy's fly to Cavarretta.

Our Cubs Amaze Themselves.

The burst of power with which the Cubs amazed even themselves in the seventh was revealed after Lee had struck out. Hack singled to center. Cavarretta's triple hit the concrete in the far right center field corner, Hack scoring. Reynolds used the left field wall as a target for his triple, Cavarretta sauntering home. Posedel came to Hamlin's relief and Hartnett banged his double into the left field corner, Reynolds scoring. Herman got to base on a pass, but Demaree rolled to Durocher. Collins was purposely passed and Jurges fanned. Lee's last three innings were simple.

Capt. Dice, Lieut. Blanchard Win Corps Doubles Title

Capt. Fay O. Diece of the air corps, Scott field, and Lieut. Ralph Blanchard, coast artillery reserve, Waukegan, defeated last year's champions, Lieut. Col. Paul W. Newgarden, general staf corps, and Capt. C. G. Kershaw, infantry, 7-5, 6-2, 6-4, yesterday at Fort Sheridan to win the doubles title in the Sixth corps area tennis tournament.

Foulis' 144 Leads Illinois Pro Qualifiers

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

James Foulis, the second, yesterday made himself a place in the national professional golf tournament by leading the qualifiers in the Illinois section trials of the P. G. A. at the St. Charles Country club. The quiet young Ruth Lake professional, whose uncle and namesake, James, the first, won the second American open title in 1895, came off the last green of the 36 hole trial with a 74—70—144, even par.

Jimmy thus led nine members of the Illinois section into the main event, to be decided the week of July 10 at Shawnee-On-the-Delaware, Pa. In addition to the nine who qualified yesterday Illinois will have four other representatives.

Revolta, Laffoon Play.

This foursome consists of young men who were exempt from sectional qualification by reason of being Ryder cup members, or having gone to the quarter finals of the 1937 national tournament. They are John Revolta of Evanston and Horton Smith of Oak Park, both Ryder cup workmen; Ky Laffoon of Northmoor, who went to the last four at Pittsburgh last May, and Harry Cooper, unattached, who reached the final eight in the 1937 show.

Both Revolta and Laffoon attended the Illinois qualifying round yesterday and played in the interest of personal exercise. Revolta carded 69—70—139. Laffoon was around the St. Charles layout in 72—71—143.

St. Charles will be the scene of another large day tomorrow when it will conduct its tenth annual fox chase. The Illinois P. G. A. will gather again for a pro amateur event next Monday at Onwentsia.

Two Pass Up National.

Thirteen players scored 149 or better yesterday. Of these the cards of Revolta and Laffoon were not computed in the qualifying tabulation, while Jock Hutchison Sr. of Glen View and By Harcke of Roselle, although shooting quite well enough to make the national at Shawnee, decided not to compete in it. Jock had 72—73—145 and Harcke 75—71—146.

The nine qualifiers were: Foulis, 74—70—144; Dick Metz, Mill Road Farm, 74—71—145; Frank Walsh, Brettonwoods, N. H., 71—74—145; Jock Hutchison Jr., North Shore, 75—72—147; Art Andrews Sr., Peoria, 70—77—147; George Smith, Onwentsia, 72—75—147; Tommy Armour, Medinah, 78—71—149; Herb Johnson, Butterfield, 75—74—149, and Jim Noonan, Burnham Woods, 73—76—149.

TWO WISCONSIN QUALIFIERS.

Wisconsin Dells, Wis., June 20.—(AP)—Alvin [Butch] Krueger of Beloit and Frances Gallett of Milwaukee qualified as Wisconsin entrants in the national P. G. A. tournament by taking second and third places in the Dells open golf tournament today. Len Gallett, who was first with 137, five under par, did not submit his application to the P. G. A. in time. Krueger had 138, Francis Gallett 139.

BUDGE ADVANCES AS WIMBLEDON TOURNEY STARTS

WIMBLEDON, England, June 20.—(AP)—The 57th all-England tennis tournament opened today with Don Budge, American Davis cup ace, beating Kenneth Gandar-Dower of England, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3. After that Budge went to bed to nurse a sore throat.

Eric Filby gave considerable trouble to the English ace, H. W. [Bunny] Austin. Filby, who lives next door to the Wimbledon courts, beat Austin at Surbiton last month and, using tactics he learned then, he nearly did it again. But Austin won, 4-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The six other seeded players moved into the second round with only one of them, Dimitri Mitic of Jugo-Slavia, losing a set.

Gene Mako Wins.

Gene Mako, Budge's Davis cup doubles partner, dropped only three games in whipping D. J. Cook of England, 6-1, 6-2, 6-10. D. Lawrence Nelson, Los Angeles, turned back W. Musgrove of South Africa, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2, but the American contingent lost one player when William Robertson of San Marino, Cal., fell before B. Maneff of Switzerland. The scores were 6-3, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

Mitic dropped the first set to M. G. Weston of Australia but came back to win 3-6, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4. The other seeded players that advanced were, Henner Henkel, Germany; Roderich Menzel, Czechoslovakia; Kho Sin Kie, China; Ladislaus Hecht, Czechoslovakia, and Ferenc Puncec, Jugo-Slavia.

Women Play Today.

Although Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, seeded No. 1, will not play tomorrow 41 first round matches in the women's singles are on the program. Alice Marble, former American champion seeded No. 2, will meet Miss M. Cootes. Helen Jacobs will oppose Mary Whitmarsh; Dorothy May Bundy will meet Miss P. N. Morrison and Gracyn Wheeler will oppose Miss C. M. Burrows.

The entire first round of the men's doubles also will be played.

This Fills a Lot of Glasses
It's our full ½ Gallon Bottle for parties and when folks drop in

By RICHARD SEIBOLD, Meister Bräu Brewmaster
I believe in saving with this thrifty size bottle
BUT WE'LL NEVER ADD SUGARS and SYRUPS to save time or money. We stick to the old all-grain brew.
I DON'T have any quarrel with modern methods—for some things. But I do not think they have any place in the brewing of good beer. I still insist on the old, slow method—the way we made Meister Bräu in 1891. Even if it does cost more. And here's why.
Maybe you remember the old-time brew. And wonder why good beer is so hard to get nowadays. I think the short-cuts of near-beer days had a lot to do with it.
One of the "new" ways is to use sugars or syrups in the beer. This saves time and work and makes a beer some people may like. But we prefer the old way.
And we could save money by using a cheaper grade of hops. But I found 25 years ago that makes a raw beer.
Our old methods keep the life in the beer—keep its natural foam and sparkle. Like in draft beer. Hence Meister Bräu has the true flavor of draft beer at its best.
Please try this old-time beer made the slow, careful way that brings perfection. We promise you'll prefer it as others do. Ask for Meister Bräu—in cans or bottles. That name assures you the true beer flavor.

41 MILLION HOME LOAN BANK ISSUE GOES ON MARKET

Debentures Are Priced to Yield 0.435 Per Cent.

Offering of $41,500,000 of one year 1 per cent consolidated debentures, series E, of the Federal Home Loan banks, will be made today, Preston Delano, governor of the home loan bank system, announced yesterday. This is the largest offering of debentures yet made by the banks. Priced at 100 9/16, the debentures will yield approximately 0.435 per cent.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to refund $28,000,000 of 1¼ per cent debentures maturing July 1. This financing represents the fifth public offering made by the banks, which had $76,500,000 of debentures outstanding May 31, Delano said.

"The debentures offered today are the joint and several obligations of the twelve Federal Home Loan banks and are further secured by the assets of borrowing member savings and loan associations," Delano said.

3,949 Institutions in System.

"On May 31, 1938, there were 3,949 member institutions of the system, the majority of which are local home financing institutions of the savings and loan type, while the remainder are mutual savings banks and life insurance companies."

Delano said outstanding loans advanced by the banks to their member institutions amounted to $186,509,821 on May 31, 1938. Of the present outstanding loans, he said, $42,427,046 is represented by short term advances due and payable within a year. Or the remainder, amortized over a ten year period, instalments amounting to $15,709,007 are due within twelve months.

Highway Bonds Awarded.

John Nuveen & Co. yesterday was awarded $95,000 of 3 per cent refunding and highway bonds of Central Falls, R. I., due 1950 to 1953. The bonds were reoffered at prices to yield from 2.75 per cent to 2.80 per cent. Part of the proceeds will be used for refunding another issue and the rest for highway construction.

The Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad was authorized by the interstate commerce commission to pledge and repledge to and including June 30, 1940, as collateral security for short-term notes, $13,152,600 of its prior lien mortgage 5 per cent bonds, series E.

STOCKS SURGE UP ON SUDDEN WAVE OF BUYING

Volume Is Largest Since Early May.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 20.—A substantial buying wave which reputedly caught many in the financial district off guard sent stock market prices soaring 1 to 5 points today. The advance was accompanied by a resurgence of trading activity, some 1,087,000 shares selling, the largest volume since early in May.

The market's trend was broadcast from the starting gong, when an accumulation of week-end buying orders coupled with a scarcity of offerings resulted in sharp advances in opening prices. Numerous pivotals started the day with spurts of 1 to 3 points on blocks of 1,000 and 2,000 shares. Best prices were registered in the closing stages of the session.

Talk of "Pump Priming."

Because of the absence of anything impressively favorable to develop in the business situation since last Saturday it was the consensus that a good part of the market's performance could be traced to the administration's pump-priming program. In this connection it was pointed out that recent Washington activity indicated a speedier effort to put the program into running order, thus bringing relief to business earlier than originally anticipated.

It was also suggested that inasmuch as recent sentiment in Wall street had been more cheerful regarding the business outlook, professional traders who had built fairly extensive short positions were forced to cover this morning immediately they detected the market's course.

Devaluation Fears Wane.

Another factor was the waning of dollar devaluation fears. The result of this, it was said, was that foreigners who last week had entered the London gold market as a hedge against currency depreciation renewed their interest in American securities.

Coinciding with these developments were somewhat better industrial and trade reports. Most notable was the brighter outlook for the steel industry as shown by the American Iron and Steel institute's report estimating slightly better steel operations this week. Also regarded as favorable was the reported better foreign buying of copper at slightly higher prices.

Steel Stocks Move Up.

Steel shares were to the fore in the early runup and increased their gains as the session progressed. United States Steel opened 1¾ points higher on a block of 2,500 shares and, moving in the largest volume of the day, finished at 45⅛ for a net gain of 3⅛ points. Bethlehem and Youngstown were equally large gainers.

Other important industrial shares to register sharp advances were Chrysler, up 4⅝; United States Rubber, up 2½; Anaconda, up 2¼; General Electric, up 2¾; General Motors, up 2⅛, and International Nickel, up 2⅜.

Carrier stocks shared proportionately in the advance, although the support was attributed mostly to sympathy. Public utility issues also were accorded sympathetic support.

Oil Group Is Active.

Oil stocks received their share of attention, with Texas corporation, up 2½ points in active trading, leading the way. Standard of New Jersey, up 1½; Pure Oil, up 1⅛, and Socony-Vacuum, up 1, were other popular issues.

Some conspicuous advances were made in the chemical and heavy machinery groups. Allied Chemical, du Pont, Air Reduction, and Union Carbide in the former group gained between 3 and 4 points. Advances ranging between 3 and 5 points were made by J. I. Case, International Harvester, Allis-Chalmers, and Westinghouse.

Sears-Roebuck, up nearly 4 points, and Montgomery Ward, up 2⅝, showed the way in the merchandising group.

SHORT POSITION FOR EACH STOCK TO BE REPORTED

New York, June 20.—[Special.]—The stock exchange will publish monthly total short position in each listed stock instead of the aggregate short position in all listed stocks, effective at the close of June, it was announced today.

The exchange will release to newspapers each month a report showing the short interest when it is deemed to be substantial, or if the change in the position is significant. A complete tabulation showing the total short interest in each listed issue will be available for public inspection.

Last week the exchange reported that aggregate short interest in listed stocks as of May 31 was 1,343,573 shares. The exchange began the compilation of short selling statistics in May, 1931, as a result of rumors of "bear raids." Members and firms had to report monthly the short position of each account. The figure for each individual issue was available to the exchange under this system of reporting, but was not made public.

Broad List of Commodities Swings Into Price Advance

Commodity futures, paced by rubber, hides, and nonferrous metals, advanced yesterday along with rising stock market quotations. The Dow-Jones index of commodity futures rose 0.38 to 48.29 [1924-'26 average equals 100]. Cash staples also were higher, with the Associated Press index of thirty-five weighted wholesale commodity prices advancing to 65.42 from 65.30 Saturday.

In the metals markets, tin contracts gained 0.65 cent a pound, influenced by news from London that the international tin committee had cut production quotas for the quarter beginning July 1 to 35 per cent of basic tonnages, to cope with the recent continued accumulation of tin stocks. The tin quotas in the present quarter are 55 per cent, and were 70 per cent in the first quarter.

Copper Futures Higher.

Gains of 0.21 to 0.29 cent a pound were made by copper futures. Last week the international copper cartel cut production quotas from 105 to 95 per cent to meet falling prices and rising stocks in this metal. The export price of copper rose yesterday to 8.825 cents a pound from a week-end quotation of 8.70 cents, and the domestic scrap copper price was lifted ⅛ cent a pound for No. 1 heavy copper wire.

Lead contracts moved up 0.07 to 0.10 cent a pound, and zinc futures closed 0.08 to 0.09 cent higher. Increased interest in the spot market was reported for lead at 3.85 cents a pound [St. Louis] and zinc at 4 cents a pound.

Heavy buying interest in rubber futures carried prices at the finish 0.33 to 0.44 cent higher, with final quotations near the highs for the day. The July contract ended at 12.65 cents a pound, and the price of smoked ribbed spot was up 0.40 at 12.65 cents.

Hides contracts in both Chicago and New York moved sharply higher. On the Chicago Mercantile exchange, prices climbed 0.37 to 0.46 cent a pound, closing on the highs for the day, on a turnover of 600,000 pounds. New York hides futures advanced 0.28 to 0.41 cent.

Coffee Contracts Rise.

Coffee contracts gained, with Santos closing 0.07 to 0.19 cent a pound higher and Rio advancing 0.01 to 0.14 cent.

Cocoa advanced 0.13 to 0.16 cent a pound. Gains of 0.07 to 0.12 cent a pound were made by bleachable cottonseed oil contracts.

Butter and egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange also edged higher. November butter gained ¼ cent a pound to close at 26½ cents, a new top for the month. The Dairy Products Marketing association, government financed agency, bought 22,680 pounds of medium grade butter in Chicago, and took 31,500 pounds of top grades [extras] and 6,300 of undergrades in New York.

Egg futures moved up ⅛ cent a dozen. Cash prices for eggs were unchanged to ¼ cent a dozen higher.

Bond Market Joins General Price Upturns

New York, June 20.—[Special.]—Bonds joined the broad upturn today in the nation's financial markets. Even rail loans which have been declining since early in May were pushed up 3 to 5 points by seemingly confident buyers.

The recovery swing was attributed by traders to a good rise in stocks and indications of revival of demand in some commodity markets. Transactions totaling $5,900,400, face value, were the largest since May 13.

Some of Larger Gainers.

Among the larger gainers in the rail division were New York Central and Hudson River 4½s of 2013 which closed at 44¾, up 4½; Northern Pacific 6s at 57, up 3⅜; Southern Pacific refunding 4s of 1955 at 55, up 3; Southern Pacific collateral 4s of 1949 at 39½, up 3⅝; Southern railway 6½s of 1956 at 38½, up 3; Wabash first 5s of 1939 at 35, up 2, and Baltimore and Ohio first 5s of 1948 at 40¾, up 2½.

Among other bonds higher by fractions to about 2 points were American and Foreign Power 5s, Armour of Delaware 4s of 1955, International Hydro Electric 6s, International Paper 5s, Studebaker 6s, Western Union 5s of 1960, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube 4s.

Federal Group Narrow.

Government bonds remained in a narrow range with dealings moderate throughout the day. At the close treasuries showed a number of gains up to 4-32ds. A few issues finished slightly lower.

In the foreign list Italian obligations were strong leaders, making advances ranging from 1 to more than 2 points.

Dollar Moves Up as Fears of Devaluation Subside

Dollar devaluation fears subsided in foreign exchange markets yesterday and the dollar made moderate gains in terms of leading European currencies. The British pound closed ½ cent lower at $4.96 9/16, the Netherland guilder 0.07 cent higher at 55.41 cents, and the Swiss franc 0.01 cent lower at 22.95 cents. An exception was the French franc, which moved up 0.00 3/16 cent to 2.79 1/16 cents.

WHEAT CLIMBS TO MATCH RISE IN SECURITIES

Weather Is Favorable for Harvesting.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

Closing prices on the July delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$0.78⅛	$0.77	$1.12
Corn	.57¾	.57¾	1.15¼
Oats	.27⅛	.26¾	.40¼
Rye	.53½	.53¾	.86½
Soy beans	.86	.86¼	1.21

Strength in securities dominated the action of the North American wheat markets yesterday. Prices closed 1 cent or more a bushel higher after declining moderately early in sympathy with weakness in Liverpool and Rotterdam. Winnipeg led the advance gaining as much as 2⅜ cents.

Generally favorable weather conditions prevailed in parts of the southwest for harvesting winter wheat and receipts of new grain at leading terminal markets in that section were reported to be about 2,500,000 bushels. Hedging pressure against the movement of the new crop was absorbed by commission houses and professional operators.

Chicagoans Lead Buying.

Chicago interests were understood to have led the buying of wheat futures in the Winnipeg market. There was no evidence of an aggressive European demand for either American or Canadian cash wheat.

Although part of the spring wheat belt received highly beneficial rains over the week-end, other sections complained of dry weather.

Corn futures fluctuated erratically, with the July contract closing ⅝ cent higher and the deferred deliveries ⅛ to ½ cent a bushel lower.

Buy July Corn for Export.

Brokers who frequently act for export interests were reported to have been good buyers of July corn, although exporters said the foreign demand for that grain was slow. Favorable weather conditions prevailed over the corn belt and rapid progress was reported in cultivating fields in Illinois and Iowa. The country sold 85,000 bushels for deferred shipment.

Price changes in oats, rye, and soy bean futures were confined to small fractions of a cent a bushel.

Wilson-Jones Income Drops Sharply.

Booth Fisheries corporation, Chicago, yesterday reported for the fiscal year ended April 30 the highest profit since the company's present organization was effected in 1933. The Wilson-Jones company, maker of loose leaf books and other office supplies, showed a sharp drop in earnings for the nine months to May 31.

Although sales for the year slipped slightly to $9,504,732 from $9,529,262 in the preceding fiscal year, Booth Fisheries' net profit increased to $152,643 from $37,106 in the year ended April 30, 1937. The profit was equal after one year's dividend requirements on preferred stock outstanding, to 69 cents per class A common share. In the preceding fiscal year earnings amounted to $1.83 a share on the $6 second preferred stock outstanding. As of April 30, dividend arrears on the $6 preferred were $28.76 a share.

Fish Department Earns More.

"The earnings of the fish department increased substantially during the year," R. P. Fletcher Jr., president, said in a letter to stockholders, "and are largely responsible for the improved showing. There was a slight improvement in the earnings of the trawlers, but the cold storage and sardine departments were adversely affected.

"Increases in cost of doing business were experienced by all departments. Labor costs and social security taxes were higher. Taxes paid and assessed by various taxing authorities amounted to $131,173 and involved the preparation and filing of approximately 7,800 reports."

Wilson-Jones' net profit for the nine months ended May 31 dropped to $74,666 from $512,915 in the corresponding nine months of the preceding year. Net sales declined to $3,451,467 against $4,126,852. George H. Dawson, president, in a message to stockholders, said:

Bush Terminal Loss $27,901.

The Bush Terminal Buildings company, New York, decreased its net loss for 1937 to $27,901 from $144,636 in the preceding year. The management, which took office May 1, 1937, divided the income statement into two periods: for the four months to April 30, when the company was operated under control of the federal court, at a net loss of $25,424, and for the following eight months, when loss was $2,477.

Standard Oil of Indiana Cuts Third Grade Gasoline

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana yesterday announced a reduction of 2 cents a gallon in the Chicago area in the tank wagon price to dealers of third grade gasoline. This lowers the dealer price to 10.4 cents a gallon and leaves other grades unchanged. The company's announcement said the cut was made to meet competition. Retailers are expected to mark down third grade prices in accordance with the cut.

U. S. TREASURY PAYS 4 CENTS TO BORROW $1,000 FOR 3 MONTHS

Washington, D. C., June 20.—(AP)—The federal government borrowed $100,000,000 today for three months at a cost of 4 cents per thousand dollars. This was the cheapest borrowing in the treasury's history.

Secretary Morgenthau announced he sold $100,000,000 of 91 day discount bills for an average of $99.996 per $100 face value, equivalent to an interest rate of 016 per cent. The fact the banks are bulging with lendable funds apparently account for this low interest.

Some of the buyers, Morgenthau said, lent their money without charge, paying $100 for each bill of $100 face value. Discount bills bear no interest, the purchasers netting only the difference between the price they pay and the maturity face value.

Freight Trafic Increase Shown by Several Roads

A slight increase in freight trafic last week was indicated in first car loading reports made public yesterday, although the gains over the preceding weeks. These were:

Caterpillar's Prices Cut to Expand Sales

The Caterpillar Tractor company, the nation's largest producer of track-type tractors and a leading manufacturer of diesel engines, yesterday slashed its prices on tractors and Diesel engines in an attempt to stimulate business.

Tractor prices were cut $150 to $650 per unit, or 7.51 to 14.19 per cent, and reductions on diesel motors ranged from $175 to $750, or 8.5 to 23.33 per cent. Every tractor and diesel engine produced by the company was affected by the markdown.

Company officials in announcing the reduction, expressed hope that the new prices would stimulate business sufficiently to obtain continued or additional employment for its 8,000 workers. Caterpillar recently announced that its sales in May had fallen to $4,382,264 from $6,739,845 in May, 1937, a decline of 35 per cent.

Business Failures Drop, but Run Above Year Ago

New York, June 20.—(AP)—Business failures in the United States in the week ended June 16 dropped to 247 from 273 in the preceding week, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. A year ago the weekly total was 166.

PREDICT STEEL OUTPUT WILL CONTINUE SLOW INCREASE THIS WEEK

Another slight gain will occur in steel production this week, according to the American Iron and Steel institute, which yesterday estimated the current operating rate at 28 per cent of capacity. This compares with 27.1 per cent a week ago and 26.2 per cent two weeks ago after the Memorial day low point was reached. A month ago the industry was operating at 29 per cent of capacity. Operations a year ago were estimated at 75.9 per cent.

This week's small gain is attributed in part by steel men to a desire of producers to replenish inventories, although there is a fair demand in some quarters, with buyers indicating their stocks are low by asking prompt delivery.

Payment Scheduled on Loop Buildings' Mortgage Bonds

A payment of ½ per cent on the $7,400,000 outstanding first mortgage income 5 per cent bonds against the buildings at the southeast corner of State and Washington streets will be made Sept. 1, Gilbert H. Scribner of Winston & Co., treasurer of the Columbus Venetian Stevens Building, Inc., said yesterday. The corporation operates the Columbus Memorial, the Venetian, and the Stevens buildings.

ECCLES CALLED TO A SHOWDOWN BY MORGENTHAU

Ultimatum Issued in Bank Policy Feud.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—(AP)—A fundamental quarrel over the proper way to examine banks led the treasury tonight to serve a sort of ultimatum on the federal reserve board.

Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury, announced that if the board did not indorse within 48 hours a program of examination approved by him and other government agencies, the program would be sent to the White House for approval anyway.

This emphasized a conflict of opinion between Morgenthau and Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board. Eccles wants a far-reaching "liberalization" of bank examination methods so banks will be freer to lend money. He contends this will help stimulate an economic upturn.

Others Stress Safety.

Opposing this, the Morgenthau group has drawn a proposal which aims to standardize bank examination methods but does not place nearly so much emphasis on liberalization. Morgenthau said the men who drew up this program were guided solely by the "interests of bank depositors."

The Morgenthau program has been approved by the treasury's controler of the currency, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation and the National Association of State Bank Supervisors.

After Morgenthau served his ultimatum today, Eccles did not comment. A reserve board spokesman said he did not know what the board would do.

Morgenthau Shows Feeling.

Morgenthau's announcement was provoked, it was believed, by Eccles' letter last week to Senator Vandenberg [R., Mich.] in which he said "one reason why bank credit is not flowing adequately into productive business channels is because the banks are under too severe restrictions."

Eccles and Morgenthau have differed on many subjects. Their disagreements usually have been undercover, but Morgenthau scarcely cloaked his feeling today when, in Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stock prices made sharp gains yesterday on a volume of 146,000 shares, compared with 62,000 Friday. Trading interest, which last week was confined largely to Commonwealth Edison rights, broadened somewhat. The rights closed at 24 cents. Volume aside from the rights was 28,800 shares against 7,200 Friday.

THE TRIBUNE average of 20 stocks advanced 0.57, closing at 8.67, highest average since May 13, when it stood at 8.69.

Fifty-two of the 74 issues traded yesterday showed advances. Two declined and 21 remained unchanged.

Borg-Warner, the trading favorite aside from the Edison rights, gained 1½ to close at 20½ on sales of 2,700 shares. Marshall Field advanced ¾ to 8¾ with 1,700 shares sold, and Middle West finished at 5⅞, up ⅜.

Beginning today all odd lot transactions on the Chicago exchange in issues also listed on the New York Stock exchange which are traded on the optional odd lot system of the Chicago exchange, will be printed on the ticker tape. Heretofore only round lots in these issues have been printed.

Bank Stocks.

Sharing in the general advance in securities, several leading Chicago bank stocks made gains of $1 to $5 a share yesterday. The largest gain was recorded by First National, quoted at $168 bid, $171 asked, and by Northern Trust at $495 bid, $510 asked. Continental Illinois National moved up $3 a share to $58 bid, $59 asked. Chicago Title and Trust company shares rose $1 at $124 bid, $127 asked.

U. S. SPENDS $1 EVERY TIME IT GETS 80 CENTS

Treasury Ratio Improves, but Reversal Is Ahead.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—(AP)—The treasury approached the end of the fiscal year today with 80 cents collected for every dollar spent, the largest proportion of receipts to expenditures since the lean years began.

The result was a deficit apparently destined, when the final entries are made June 30, to be the lowest since 1931, when the current series of unbalanced budgets began.

With a fortnight still to go, the deficit stood at $1,469,000,000. This compared with $2,707,000,000 last year; $4,361,000,000 in 1936; $3,002,000,000 in 1935; $3,630,000,000 in 1934; $3,063,000,000 in 1933; $3,148,000,000 in 1932, and $903,000,000 in 1931.

Different Story Next Year.

The coming year, however, is expected to see a reversal of the downward deficit trend of the last three fiscal periods. Congress appropriated some $12,000,000,000 for next year, nearly half of which was for the administration's pump priming campaign against the new business recession.

As compared with this year's 80 cents of receipts for every dollar of expenditures, last year's proportion was 65 cents. The figure was 49 cents in 1936, 56 cents in 1935, 46 cents in 1934, 40 cents in 1933, 39 cents in 1932, and 79 cents in 1931.

The public debt, as of June 17, stood at $36,490,000,000. This compared with the record peak of $37,814,000,000 last March 12. The $36,490,000,000 figure represented an increase of $769,000,000 for the fiscal year thus far. Last year's increase was $2,711,000,000.

Income Tax Yield Grows.

Receipts from income tax collections so far this year [the June 15 collections still have to show on the treasury's books] were $2,450,000,000 as against $1,935,000,000 for the equivalent period a year ago, and toltal receipts are $5,969,000,000, compared with $4,966,000,000.

What the treasury lists as general expenditures [outlays for running the regular branches of the government] totaled $4,425,000,000 against $4,144,000,000 a year ago, and expenditures for "recovery and relief" aggregated $2,073,000,000 as compared with $2,975,000,000. The total of all expenditures was $7,438,000,000 this year and $7,847,000,000 in the same period last year.

The full effect of the new depression and the pump priming program will not be felt until next year.

Officials Lean to Selling Side of Own Companies' Shares

An excess of selling over buying by officers, directors and principal stockholders in securities of their own companies during April was shown yesterday in the Securities and Exchange commission's second and final report for the month. The first summary issued a fortnight ago also showed more sales than purchases.

Paul G. Hoffman.

Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation, reported to the commission that he decreased his holdings of common stock by 2,299 shares, leaving 8,078 shares to his account. Dwight Deere Wiman, director of Deere & Co., sold 2,500 common shares, reducing his holdings to 22,559 shares.

Odlum Cuts Atlas Holdings.

The report also disclosed that Floyd B. Odlum, president of the Atlas corporation, reduced his holdings of 6 per cent preferred stock to 2,015 shares by the sale of 3,000 shares. Ernest Stauffer Jr., a director of the Nash-Kelvinator corporation, sold 1,000 common shares held in his own account and an additional 1,000 shares indirectly held through a holding company. The transactions left him with 382 shares directly held and 7,470 retained in the holding company.

The General Motors corporation gave a bonus for 1937 to Lawrence P. Fisher, vice president, of 2,842 shares of common stock, the summary showed. This increased Fisher's direct common stock holdings to 63,242 shares.

Among the purchases reported was the acquisition by the Middle West corporation of 1,210 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock of the American Public Service company, increasing Middle West's holdings to 26,826 shares. The Bankers Securities corporation, Philadelphia, reported the purchase of 1,100 shares of common stock in the City Stores company, making its equity 720,756 shares.

R. M. Osterman, Chicago, vice president of the Superheater company, acquired 1,800 shares of capital stock indirectly through a trust. He previously held no stock directly or indirectly.

BARBER COMPANY—Robert S. Bright, director, Philadelphia, sold 1,000 common shares, leaving equity of 1,000 shares.

BLAW-KNOX—A. W. French, director, Chicago, reported that in March he received by gift 4,000 common shares.

BRIDGEPORT BRASS—H. W. Steinkraus, vice president, Bridgeport, Conn., sold 400 common shares, leaving 7,052 shares.

CONSOLIDATED CHEMICAL INDUSTRIES—Solomon Peiser, president, San Francisco, acquired 5,042 class A participating preference shares through the exercise of rights. This increased his holdings to 25,382 shares.

COPPER BESSEMER—James H. Anderson, vice president, Grove City, Pa., bought 200 shares, increasing holdings to 1,100 shares.

DAYTON RUBBER MANUFACTURING—John A. MacMillan, director, gave away 2,000 shares, reducing holdings to 9,718 shares.

ILLINOIS NORTHERN UTILITIES—Commonwealth Subsidiary corporation acquired 710 shares of 6 per cent preferred, increasing holdings to 5,430 shares.

Director Sells Radio Shares.

INTERNATIONAL RADIO—W. Keene Jackson, director, Ann Arbor, Mich., sold 200 shares, leaving 700 shares.

F. L. JACOBS COMPANY—Clare S. Jacobs, vice president, Detroit, reported a net increase of 1,835 common shares to 13,704 shares.

KELSEY HAYES WHEEL—Lester R. Downie, treasurer, Detroit, received 750 class B common shares as compensation.

S. H. KRESS & CO.—Ora A Taylor, treasurer, New York, bought 200 common shares, increasing holdings to 2,100 shares.

MOSCOW SILVER MINES—Cullen Investment company, Salt Lake City, sold 100,000 shares of common, leaving 305,000 shares.

NATIONAL AUTOMOTIVE FIBRES—C. E. Carpenter, vice president, Detroit, bought 500 common shares. He previously held no equity.

PACIFIC DISTILLERS—T. Kirk Hill, Los Angeles, director, sold 300 common shares, leaving 1,842 shares.

PARKE DAVIS & CO.—Charles U. Bay, director, New York, sold 600 common shares, reducing his equity to 8,916 shares directly held and 6,876 shares held indirectly through a holding company.

PATHE FILM—O. Henry Briggs, president, New York, reported a net increase of 1,200 common shares to 1,700 shares.

Sells Perfect Circle Stock.

PERFECT CIRCLE—John H. Tretor, director, Hagerstown, Ind., sold 765 common shares, leaving 1,200 shares.

PHOENIX OIL—R. E. Henry, director, Pittsburgh, sold 2,000 common shares, leaving 10,754 shares.

QUARTERLY INCOME SHARES—Ross Beason, president, sold 4,300 common shares, reducing holdings to 1,000 shares.

RYAN AERONAUTICAL—T. Claude Ryan, president, San Diego, in March sold 3,600 class A common shares, leaving 49,029 shares.

UNION PREMIER FOOD STORES—Hasam Realty corporation sold 6,794 common shares, leaving holdings of 67,940 shares.

UNITED CIGAR-WHELAN STORES—Robert J. Marony, director, New York, sold 6,800 common shares leaving him common holdings of 2,000 shares. He also sold his entire $5 preferred stock holdings of 185 shares.

HIRAM WALKER GOODERHAM & WORTS—H. C. Hatch, chairman, Toronto, sold 1,000 common shares indirectly held, leaving indirect holdings of 28,780 shares and direct holdings of 25,043 shares.

WILLYS-OVERLAND MOTORS — Empire Securities, Inc., Toledo, O., in March disposed of 125,000 common shares, leaving 1,275,184 shares.

ECCLES CALLED TO A SHOWDOWN BY MORGENTHAU

Ultimatum Is Issued in Bank Policy Feud.

response to a question about another reserve board idea, he said:

"Nothing would surprise me."

The most important difference between the two men occurred last winter when Eccles advocated a huge spending program to combat the recession and Morgenthau opposed it as futile almost up to the eve of President Roosevelt's announcement that he would sponsor a spending campaign. Since then, the secretary has said he was in accord with the President, however.

Eccles said last week "bank examination and investment policy must be closely coördinated with monetary policy."

Would Reclassify Slow Loans.

The other agencies say they, too, would like to see an extension of business credit, but argue that restrictions cannot be relaxed because the safety of deposits must be considered first. The program they are understand to have adopted would liberalize credit to the extent of permitting banks to buy certain local bond issues which they do not purchase now, and would remove some of the stigma from so-called "slow loans"—loans which are not delinquent but need special attention to prevent possible eventual delinquency.

Other changes would permit banks to disregard temporary market depreciation of their highest grade securities but also would impound profits from securities sales in special funds to make up for securities losses.

Devaluation Denied Again.

Meantime Morgenthau sought to nail rumors of impending dollar devaluation.

Flatly denying devaluation reports, Morgenthau indicated they originated with speculators who have bought gold in hope of profit.

"I don't know how long people with horse sense will listen to these speculators," the treasury head said.

Most of the rumors, which originated in Europe, said that the relationship between the dollar and gold would be changed so that the price of gold would be increased automatically from the present level of $35 an ounce to $41.34 an ounce.

Private ownership of gold, except for artistic or industrial purposes, is not permitted in this country, but any one acquiring gold abroad for $35 an ounce would profit by dollar devaluation.

CITY OF DENVER STREAMLINER IN SERVICE 2 YEARS

The streamliner City of Denver of the Chicago & North Western railway yesterday observed the second anniversary of its entry into service between Chicago and Denver. During this period the train has traveled 1,530,000 miles. From the start of its operation to the end of April—the latest time for which records are available—the train carried 190,000 passengers.

The City of Denver runs the 1,048 miles between Chicago and Denver in sixteen hours, or at an average speed of 65⅛ miles an hour.

FIGHT MILWAUKEE SUBSIDIARY BOND PAYMENT PLAN

Wreck Cited in Demand Cash Be Used for Upkeep

Opposition to the proposal of the trustees of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad to retire $250,000 of bonds of the Chicago, Terre Haute and Southeastern, a subsidiary, was expressed yesterday before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson by Attorney Robert T. Swaine of New York City, counsel for the Milwaukee.

Swaine represents the road's directors, who are in disagreement with the trustees over the proposal.

Referring to the wreck of the Milwaukee Olympian early Sunday morning, Swaine said he was not criticizing the management of the trustees of the road, which is seeking reorganization under section 77 of the bankruptcy act, but he believes funds should be used for maintenance instead of retiring the Terre Haute bonds.

Cites Maintenance Fund Cut.

"It is a fact," Swaine said, "that maintenance appropriations have been cut down and the $250,000 could much better be used for maintenance purposes than to retire part of the $22,000,000 bonds of the Terre Haute railroad under a wasteful purchase."

Attorney Kenneth F. Burgess, counsel for the holders of $100,000,000 of various mortgage bonds of the parent company, joined Attorney Swaine in opposing the petition of the trustees of the road, Henry A. Scandrett, Walter J. Cummings, and George I. Haight, asking permission to purchase and retire $250,000 of the Terre Haute bonds.

Attorney O. W. Dynes, representing the trustees, urged the retirement of the $250,000 in principal on the ground that otherwise there would be a default in the entire Terre Haute issue of $22,000,000, which does not mature for about twenty years.

Directors Oppose Trustees.

Swaine said the directors of the road at a recent meeting decided to oppose the trustees' position on the ground that payment of the Terre Haute bonds would constitute a preference over other mortgages and would interfere with the ultimate reorganization of the system.

Swaine said that no reorganization can be effected under the present existence of $6,500,000 of fixed annual charges. It is becoming apparent, he declared, that the fixed charges will have to be reduced greatly and possibly be eliminated entirely in favor of income bonds.

The hearing is to be resumed this morning.

INVESTING FIRM'S FOUNDER IS HEARD IN LOOTING PROBE

New York, June 20.—[Special.]—Public hearing was resumed by the Securities and Exchange commission today in the investment trust portfolio looting scandal after a week of inactivity. Clarence K. Reynolds, one of the founders of Reynolds Investing company, told his story of the purchase of control of this trust by a group of men recently indicted on charges of stripping the firm and six other trusts of millions of dollars of securities.

More than a million shares of Reynolds Investing company stock, constituting control, were sold by Reynolds and associates, he said, at $2 a share at a time when the asset value was 4 cents a share.

The first offer, Reynolds said, under questioning by David Schencker, SEC counsel, was made by Sartell Prentice of the brokerage firm of Prentice & Brady, and was for $1.25 a share. Later, he said, this was raised to $2, and a down payment of $1,500,000 was made Dec. 31, 1937, the rest being paid in January.

Schencker said $882,000 of the amount to be paid was taken from the trust's own portfolio and asked if Reynolds was aware of that.

USE OF CHECKS SHOWS DECLINE IN MIDDLE WEST

Use of checks in the Chicago federal reserve district, as reflected by debits to individual deposit accounts, showed a small decline in the week ended June 15 from the preceding week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday in its weekly statement.

The total for the week ended June 15 was $1,100,230, a decrease of 2.1 per cent from the $1,124,153,000 reported for the preceding week. For the week ended June 8 there was a sharp increase over the preceding week, which was attributed to large financing operations, including federal operations.

Debits last week showed a decline of 20 per cent from the $1,376,130,000 for the corresponding 1937 week. Chicago's debits for the week ended June 15 totaled $684,497,000, compared with $806,880,000 for the week ended June 16, 1937.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL INCOME FOR MAY ABOVE YEAR AGO

Net railway operating income of the Illinois Central for May was $851,305, a gain of $113,407 over May, 1937. Railway operating revenues for the month totaled $8,121,516, a decrease of $1,453,405 from May, 1937.

For the first five months of this year net operating income was $4,774,064, a gain of $26,306 over 1937. Railway operating revenues for the first five months totaled $41,646,674, a decline of $6,058,691 from the total for the first five months last year.

Net operating income is income before payment of bond interest and other fixed charges. Railway operating revenues are revenues received from sale of the railroad's services before deduction of operating and other costs.

Business Bits

Directors of Johns-Manville corporation yesterday established a policy of broadening membership on the board to include direct representation of the general public as well as stockholders. They elected Dr. Walter A. Jessup a director in furtherance of this policy, which Lewis H. Brown, Johns-Man ville president, said is in recognition of the social responsibility of American industry. Brown said business is confronted not only with new social responsibilities but with new concepts which alter the relationship of business to its stockholders, employés, the government, and the public. Determination of policies as well as national economic questions now includes elements other than the strictly economic factors upon which business men are accustomed to rely, he said. Dr. Jessup is president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, a position he took four years ago after being president of the State University of Iowa from 1916 to 1934.

Walter A. Jessup.

Irwin T. Gilruth, co-trustee of the Public Utilities Securities corporation, at a meeting of the board of directors of the Utilities Power and Light corporation Friday was elected president of the latter organization, it was disclosed yesterday. Utilities Power and Light, formerly headed by Harley L. Clarke, is undergoing reorganization under Section 77 B of the amended bankruptcy acat. Gilruth said his election was merely a formality to maintain the corporate entity of the firm, as Charles True Adams, trustee of Utilities Power, is vested by the federal court with full control over the company.

Election of Charles F. Ferry as assistant vice president of the Federal Reserve bank of St. Louis was announced. Ferry, with the bank since 1918, will retire Oct. 1 as bank relations representative after 16 years in the position. Howard H. Weigel, assistant vice president, will succeed him.

DELAY HEARING ON COMPLAINT BY INSULL AND SON

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday continued to July 7 the hearing on the motion of Samuel Insull, his son, Samuel Jr., and Harry L. Stuart to expunge from a recent report by Garfield Charles, special master in chancery, certain remarks about the Insulls and Stuart which they charge were defamatory.

Charles had been directed by the court to report on the amount of work done by lawyers and fees asked by them in connection with the receivership of the Corporation Securities company of Chicago, defunct Insull investment firm. His report made charges against the plaintifs criticizing their conduct of the company.

"As I understand it," Judge Wilkerson said, "it is not so much the report as the testimony on which it is based that is being objected to."

The hearing was continued to give Charles, who is now out of town, an opportunity to be heard.

Yes, we know what it means to sell on commission, but really our boys are making money with us because of our 100% coöperation. Long ago we learned that salesmen are as good as you treat them. They are the most important cogs in any organization. Life is too short to pay the penalty for some one else's shortcomings. If you are seeking a new employer who worries more about your future and where your efforts will be appreciated, let me hear from you.

Train Wreck Toll Set at About 40 Dead and 65 Injured—Search Debris for Bodies of More Victims

General view of wrecked Olympian of Milwaukee road between Saugus and Miles City, Mont., after bridge across creek gave way. The toll has been fixed at about 40 dead and 65 injured, a great many of the dead being in the three tourist sleepers shown. Two trainmen were killed on locomotive, two in mail-express car, and one in baggage car. (Story on page 1.)
